DOLE COLLAPSES IN NEW ZEALAND; CASH RUNS OUT

Taxpayers Object; Turn to Charity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 4.—A year of operation of state unemployment relief in New Zealand reveals the futility of national taxation to aid the idle, for in spite of a government collected tax of 5 cents to the dollar from all workers, local committees have been forced to beg voluntary funds to meet the needs of sufferers.

The unemployment insurance act, which was jammed through the legislature twelve months ago, was to have removed all fear of the future for the 70,000 idle men and women. Instead of that it has proved a source of public danger, has irritated the workers still holding jobs, has set up one more bureaucracy, and has threatened to disrupt the government itself.

Dries Wells of Public Charity.

The act, the country was told, was to be scientifically administered and all the unemployed would be sympathetically considered. But the first result of the new legislation was to accomplish something on which the government had not reckoned. It dried up the wells of private charity. Benevolent citizens, previously anxious to help the less fortunate, now figured out their unemployment tax and found that they were paying from $60 to $120 a year to aid the idle. In addition these citizens paid a flat tax of $5 a year. The $60 payment was called an "emergency tax," but it was not easier to pay because of that.

With the weekly pay envelope lighter now because of the vanished bills, the workers decided that since the government was taxing them so heavily for the benefit of the unemployed it was the government's task to keep them.

Unrest Among the Idle.

The next factor was the creation of unrest among the idle themselves. The government had admitted its responsibility to care for the idle army, one which is four or five times as great as this country put into the field in the world war. The idle, highly organized because this is a country of joiners, determined that the government should keep its pledge. They resented the manner in which they were sent to camps in the country districts, places where it was impossible for them to make a bid for the few jobs that were offered. They also resented the fact that they were refused food and shelter if they did not enlist in the camps drafts.

More bitterly still they resented the method of the government in granting aid. Tens of thousands of dollars, they knew, were being collected in taxation and were being held in a fund. At once they began efforts through their organizations, to have the benefits extended.

Refusal Causes Riots.

It was the government's peremptory refusal to grant greater benefits which caused the riots in Auckland and Wellington. The administration was stalling in the fear of still greater unemployment in the winter just past and followed the natural path of holding on to funds to meet the needs of additions to the ranks of the unemployed. This could not be explained to the idle whose discontent was carefully played upon by a clever band of communists, and if it had been explained they probably would not have appreciated it. They felt only the pressure of their immediate needs and demanded the right to live in a manner approximating that to which they had been accustomed.

Discontent among the idle was accompanied by irritation in the ranks of the workers. Taxed as much as they could bear, with incomes cut 10 per cent by order of the state industrial commission, and tariff rates and depreciated currency boosting living costs, the workers met the protests of the less fortunate with annoyance.

Sympathy for Idle Vanishes.

Reminded every week of what they were contributing towards the support of the idle they believed that this should be ample to aid the submerged tenth of the population. Sympathy for the unemployed vanished. Willingness to organize against threats to property and intolerance of the protests of the idle became marked. Disraeli's two nations, the rich and the poor, became replaced with two different races—the idle and the employed.

Within the house of parliament the effect of this nationwide tension was felt. Ministers accused the Labor party of fomenting discontent and stirring up lawlessness. Legislation was passed to crush any attempt to

TELLS OF SLAIN BANDMASTER'S ROW WITH WIFE

Two new developments were announced by police last night in their search for clews in the murder of Capt. Edwin O. Schildhauer, bandmaster at the Austin High school, who was kidnaped from in front of his home at 3435 Fulton street on the night of Dec. 10 and shot to death.

The first development was the story of a young woman, a friend of the Schildhauers, that she and the bandmaster early in November had found his wife, Frances, and another man in the Schildhauer apartment. The man was Carl Bradberry, 6139 South Park avenue, a former deputy sheriff. He was clad in pajamas at the time, police were told.

Southern Trip Revealed.

The second development was the admission of Bradberry to Supervising Captain John Stege at the Marquette station that he and Mrs. Schildhauer had taken a trip together to Memphis, Tenn., late in October and returned to Chicago a week later. Bradberry was questioned until an early hour this morning. The examination ended when the ex-deputy asked for a chance to rest, promising to "tell a bookful about the Schildhauers."

The story of the scene in the Schildhauer home was told by Miss Charlotte Holland, 24 years old, of 3116 North Lowell avenue, employed in the office of a candy company. Bradberry when questioned Tuesday night supplied the police with the name of this young woman as a possible witness when he mentioned her as his companion at a dance attended by the Schildhauers.

The former deputy sheriff parried with his questioners for several hours before revealing his friendship with Mrs. Schildhauer. He was informed that investigators knew of his trip with her to Memphis. At first he denied it.

Calls for His Lawyer.

"Remember, I didn't kill Schildhauer," he asserted. "He was not in my way. But if you call my lawyer I may tell you something of interest."

The lawyer, Richard Isaacs, was summoned. He is the son of the late Judge Martin Isaacs, whom Bradberry once served as personal bailiff. After conferring with Bradberry Attorney Isaacs said his client was willing to discuss the Memphis trip provided no federal action were taken against him for violating the Mann act. Capt. Stege rejected this bargain offer. Bradberry told the story anyway.

He said that he and Mrs. Schildhauer went by train to Memphis, arriving there Oct. 21. They registered at a hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, he related. They returned to Chicago on Oct. 28.

Story of Miss Holland.

"I went to a dance with Edwin and Frances Schildhauer and Mr. Bradberry about a week after Halloween. I danced all evening with Edwin. Frances danced all the time with Bradberry. During the evening Frances and Bradberry disappeared.

"An hour and a half later a waiter brought Edwin a message from Mrs. Schildhauer saying: 'Carl (Bradberry) is sick and I have taken him home.' An hour or so later I went home with Mr. Schildhauer. It had previously been arranged that I was to sleep with Frances.

Tells of Scene in Flat.

"When we entered the flat I called Frances. She answered that I was to sleep on the davenport. She was lying on the floor of the second parlor, a coat over her pajamas. Edwin went into the bedroom and Bradberry was in the bed in pajamas. Edwin told him to get up and get dressed and get out. Frances said Bradberry didn't have to leave and she slapped Edwin's face.

"Edwin said he would divorce her. She took some money from a jar, $19 I think it was, and dressed and went out. Before going she smashed a frame containing Edwin's picture on the floor, and as she left she said, 'You know where I will end up.' Bradberry stayed for a time talking

THE NEW APPEAL TO INDOLENCE

Doctor Seized with 'Count' in Money Plot

Dr. Valentine Gregory Burtan, a young New York physician, was arrested in that city last night by federal agents on charges that he was involved with an international counterfeiting ring operating in Chicago Canada, New York, and elsewhere. Dr. Burtan is known as a heart specialist of high standing in New York. He is on the staff of the Midtown hospital and is an assistant physician of the Polyclinic.

His arrest followed by 24 hours that of Henry Dechow, alias Count Enrique von Buelow, former husband of Mrs. Lottie Brenner, wealthy widow of the Chicago alderman, Nathan Brenner. Dechow was seized at Newark Tuesday night, and yesterday he was charged with intent to pass counterfeit notes in an indictment returned here before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Bond was set at $50,000, and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued by Judge Woodward. The bench warrant and a certified copy of the indictment were immediately sent to New York by air mail.

Refuse to Discuss Arrest.

Eastern agents were silent on the reasons for the seizure of Dr. Burtan, but it was understood here that the physician is believed to have come to Chicago a few days before Christmas with Dechow. Dechow, it is said, carried $97,000 in fake $100 bills with him, and $40,000 of them were given to eight Chicago racketeers to circulate.

The hoodlums apparently were duped by Dechow, for later all of them appeared at the federal building, surrendered $40,000 of the fraudulent issue, and convinced officials that they had believed the money was good. Federal agents commented that Dechow is fortunate to be under arrest. They expressed the belief that the arrest may have forestalled a gang ride with the "count" as the victim.

It was indicated yesterday that the racketeers duped by Dechow would not be prosecuted. They accepted the money, agents said, on the representation of Dechow that it was the property of New York bootleggers, who were afraid to pass it in fear of income tax investigation. Dechow was to pay 30 per cent for the exchange of the old style $100 bills for new notes.

Comes from Germany.

The money was part of a fraudulent issue of $500,000 printed in Germany in 1929. Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the secret service theorized that Dechow, in Germany at the time, obtained $200,000 worth of the counterfeit money and went to Mexico, where he buried part of it. He passed some of it in New York, agents said, and then suspended his operations until lately, when the Chicago deal was made.

A total of $25,500 worth of the bogus bills was passed in Chicago banks, when the arrest of Frank A. W. Johnson, 40 years old, 1319 North Francisco avenue, brought the information the agents needed.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

STUTTGART, Germany, Jan. 4.—Prof. Erich Regener again succeeded in sending up unmanned balloons to the stratosphere today. They reached an altitude of nearly 17 miles, carrying delicate devices to measure the intensity of cosmic rays and atmospheric pressure.

The balloons landed safely after a flight of about five hours over the mountains of southern Wuerttemburg.

In the last experiment in August, 1932, photographic plates attached to the balloons measured cosmic rays 14 times, but the balloons, which were bound together, were made to rise much slower this time. Cosmic rays were photographed, therefore, much more frequently. The professor said tonight he would now be able to describe exactly the effect of cosmic rays as well as changes of temperature and atmospheric pressure between the sea level and the upper stratosphere.

Nurse Assists Injured Man; Then Kills Him

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 4.—Christis Trojanoff, a member of the Protogeroffist faction of Macedonians who last week killed Simon Eftimoff, editor of the newspaper Macedonia, and a member of the rival Mihailoffist faction, in a battle outside the royal palace, was murdered tonight by the nurse of his ward in Alexander hospital.

Trojanoff, who was wounded in last week's encounter, was lying in a large room with 17 other patients. A detective and two policemen before the door were guarding him against Mihailoffist vengeance before his trial.

Arranges the Pillows.

As the ward matron, Sister Catherine Konstantinoff, was making her rounds, she stopped at the bedside of the suffering man, arranged his pillows comfortably, then drew a revolver and killed him with a bullet through his heart and two through his heart.

The nurse, who was immediately arrested, said an unidentified Macedonian had given her a revolver today with instructions to kill Trojanoff as punishment for his murder of the "patriotic" Eftimoff, and as a good Macedonian she could not hesitate to carry out the instructions.

Sister Catherine, who is 26 years old, has been at the hospital six years, and was noted for her tender devotion to all the patients. She had bestowed especially untiring care upon Trojanoff.

Killed by Special Order.

M. Eftimoff was killed a week ago yesterday by two youths of 20 who had received an order by courier from the chiefs of the Protogeroff faction of Macedonian revolutionists. His newspaper had been espousing the cause of the dominant Mihailoff faction, which had been held responsible for a series of assassinations in Sofia in the last three months.

In one of these cases prisoners in jail had received orders to kill other prisoners of the rival faction and had carried out the orders.

Report Rockefeller Center Theater Will Close Jan. 11

New York, Jan. 5 [Thursday].—(AP)—The New York Daily News says that the new RKO-Roxy theater, opened in Rockefeller center less than a week ago, will close Jan. 11. Notice was given the theater's 500 employes last night, the paper said. The Radio City music hall, also opened last week, will, according to the News, be transformed into a picture theater.

Prevent Farm Mortgage Sale; Seize Officers

Le Mars, Ia., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Eight hundred Plymouth county farmers, infuriated at unpayable tax and mortgage debts, today broke into open revolt and forcibly prevented the sale of a foreclosed farm by Sheriff R. E. Rippey.

The bidder, Attorney Herbert S. Martin, representing the mortgage holder, was threatened with lynching. The sheriff and Judge C. W. Pitts of the District court were overpowered by the mob and prevented from summoning help. Having won their immediate objective and being assured that debtors would be given more considerate treatment, the farmers dispersed after a few minor disorders.

Asks Legislative Help.

Judge Pitts tonight sent to Gov Elect C. L. Herring a message urging that the legislature enact laws to remove foreclosure suits from Iowa court jurisdiction until measures for relief can be taken. This, he said would operate as a moratorium on farmers' mortgage debts.

Carrying a rope, the farmer mob surged up on the courthouse steps as the sheriff was accepting bids for the lands of John A. Johnson, on which the New York Life Insurance company held a mortgage of $83,000. The company, through Attorney Martin was the only bidder. The anger of the throng was first addressed to him.

Threaten a Hanging.

The insurance company bid was $30,000, less by $3,000 than the face of the mortgage. There were insistent calls that the offer be raised to cover the debt and free other possessions of Johnson from foreclosure. When the lawyer stated that he was authorized to go only so high the mob seized him.

Brandishing the rope before him, the leaders announced they would hang him to the highest tree in Le Mars.

"Tar and feather him! Ride him on a rail!" others in the crowd cried.

Martin's life was saved when he agreed to telegraph the insurance company asking permission to increase the bid to the full amount of Johnson's debt. His wire ended:

"Rush answer! My neck at risk!"

No Foreclosure for Month.

A short time later the insurance company notified Martin to raise the bid. It was announced by the officials the sale at the higher figure would be consummated and that there would be no further sales on foreclosure in the county for at least a month.

The sheriff and the attorney were released as soon as the wire was sent to New York. They had been cuffed and bruised, but were otherwise uninjured.

County Judge Also Seized.

Judge Pitts, whose office corresponds to that of Circuit court judge in other states, was seized by the mob near the courthouse when he announced he was going to telephone for help to get the sheriff released. He was treated respectfully, but was not allowed to go until the demands of the throng had been met.

Having stopped the Johnson foreclosure sale, the farmers stormed the mayor's office, demanding the key to the Pew warehouse, in which a foreclosed tractor belonging to Joe Sokolosky, one of their number, had been stored.

The key could not be found and the mob marched through the streets to the warehouse with the intention of storming it and taking the tractor. It was met there, however, by the released sheriff, who made a speech and persuaded the farmers to avoid the "crime of robbery."

HUNT SNIPERS IN THE HOMES; GUARD ROADS

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Taylorville, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Five companies of the Illinois National Guard, with fixed bayonets, were enforcing peace in the Christian county coal fields tonight following battles between striking and working miners at the Kincaid mine of the Peabody Coal company last night and this morning, which left two dead, fourteen wounded, and eighteen jailed on murder charges.

Three hundred working members of the United Mine Workers were sniped at this morning near Kincaid, but were unmolested as they left the mine tonight. The Christian county sheriff, Charles H. Weineke of Taylorville, had proclaimed that "appropriate measures would be taken to prevent formation of any more mobs of picketers."

Will Search for Arms.

Lieut. Col. R. W. Davis, Carbondale publisher and commander of the military force here, was backing up the sheriff's proclamation by assigning companies to stand guard at the Kincaid, Langley, and Tovey shafts of the Peabody company, all lying within a ten mile radius of Taylorville, and to search the homes of all striking miners for machine gunners and snipers. Col. Davis has established staff headquarters in the Colonial hotel here.

Striking miners have lounged around the courthouse here all day, talking of attempting a jail delivery for the eighteen prisoners, all of whom are charged with murder for the deaths of Mrs. Emma Cumeriato, 49, wife of a Kincaid striker, and Vincent Rodems, 20, a Springfield working miner. Both were slain in last night's battle. Four women are among the prisoners.

Wounded by Sniper.

One of today's wounded, Thomas Hickman, 34, dock boss of the Kincaid mine, is near death at St. Vincent's hospital here. He and Fulton Smith, working miner living on a farm near Sharpsburg, were patrolling the Kincaid streets just before the morning whistle blew when their car was raked by bullets from a second floor office. Hickman was hit in the eye and Smith in the shoulder.

The first troops to arrive in Taylorville were a battalion detail from the regimental headquarters company of the 130th infantry from Sullivan and company I from Salem. They went straight on to Kincaid, seven miles west of here, to disperse the pickets at that Peabody shaft and search the village for suspected snipers.

Would Halt Marchers.

Other companies of the same regiment, arriving later from Danville, Champaign, and Springfield, were split up into highway patrols and county line detachments to turn back any mass picketing movement.

Sheriff Weineke's proclamation, published in the local Daily Courier, was addressed specifically to Claude Pearcy of Springfield, president of the Progressive Miners union. Pearcy has hitherto called the sheriff "a tool of the Peabody company" and declared Supt. Argust to be a "fat bellied kaiser."

"I am informed," the sheriff's proclamation declared, "that a resolution was adopted at a meeting of the Progressive Miners in Belleville on Dec. 31 calling for the organization of a march on Taylorville with the avowed purpose of closing down the mines.

"With such action as your organization may take in Springfield or in any county other than this county, I would have nothing to do. In so far as you propose a march on Taylorville and Christian county, I feel it my duty to inform you that any such action, in my opinion, would be inimical to law and order and to the peace and quietude of this county.

Warns Against "Invasion."

"If such action as was described in the resolution above mentioned should be attempted, it would be my duty to prevent it. Any attempt on the part of persons outside this county to assemble here for the unlawful purpose of intimidation and coercion of those who want to work in the coal mines of this field will be met by such resistance as the exigencies of the situation may require.

"I have reluctantly but fully and finally determined that it is necessary for the protection of the people of this community and of the property here located this action be taken."

The sheriff lacks united political support, the Taylorville mayor, Cud Wilkinson, being a supporter of the strikers, while his corporation counsel, D. W. Johnston, and the city attorney, Leal W. Reese, are counsel for the Progressive Miners' union.

Hearing Set for Friday.

The eighteen prisoners booked for last night's two killings will be arraigned next Friday morning, Prosecutor John W. Coale announced. In addition, Mr. Coale has issued twenty-two John Doe murder warrants, to be served as the occasion demands. Local attorneys predict that he and Sheriff Weineke will have trouble even to procure indictments against the prisoners, citing the fact that a coroner's jury at an inquest this afternoon decided that Mrs. Cumerlato "died accidentally of gunshot wounds fired by persons unknown."

The stories of her children and the physical evidence in the Cumerlato home seem to dispute the prosecutor's claim that the woman was stationed on the porch as a blind for her husband. The children say she heard a shot and stepped to the front door, calling in alarm for her husband, Albino, to leave the picket line in fear he might be shot. She was sent, dying en route, to a hospital.

Bombing Follows Editorial.

Christian county's present troubles date back to last Sept. 14. On that morning the Taylorville Daily Breeze suggested editorially that inasmuch as the southern Illinois miners were working peacefully on the $5 scale which the United Mine Workers accepted, the Progressive miners might well do the same. Next night the newspaper plant was bombed.

Anticipating the time when the troops would withdraw, as they did late last month, Col. Davis and Maj. Omer Davenport of Decatur set up a civilian army of 98 men, sworn in as special deputies and ostensibly on the Christian county pay roll. Drilled by the National Guard officers, the special deputies assumed control when the troops left on Dec. 21.

The sheriff's special deputies and Mayor Alderman's special police were sprinkled among the forces on each side when last night's battle began.

The deputies were acting as escorts for the working miners. It is generally believed that either the special deputies or special police opened fire, rather than striking or working miners. Which group opened hostilities remains to be determined.

Mayor Accuses Sheriff's Deputies.

Charges of sabotage and brutality were made against special sheriff's deputies tonight by Mayor Alderman and members of the striking miners' faction. The special deputies, it is charged, are on the pay roll of the Peabody Coal company.

The mayor declared he would produce witnesses to prove to the military authorities that the special deputies within an hour after last night's battle touched off a dynamite blast which drove from their home a family suspected of harboring sniping strikers, and this morning touched off a second blast which reduced the house to ruins.

The witnesses also would prove, he said, that special deputies bombed a filling station and threatened to kill small children of the striking miners. The mayor appeared as if suffering from an acute case of mumps when he received reporters. He said that he, his son, John Alderman Jr., and his cousin, Jim Alderman, walked into an ambush set by special deputies; that he was slugged with a rifle butt, and two of his cousin's teeth were kicked out. His cousin, he said, is at home in bed, afraid to venture out of his house.

2 GUNMEN ROB PROSECUTOR AND GUESTS IN HOME

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Two daring gunmen tonight forced their way into the home of District Attorney Buron Fitts, robbed him of $2 and his guests of $118.

Through the kitchen door into the living room came the maid, followed by two unmasked men flourishing revolvers. "Stick 'em up!" they ordered.

Fitts, believing he was faced with men seeking his life, spoke up: "Gentlemen, if you are looking for the D. A., that's me." One of the gunmen replied: "I don't care who you are; stick 'em up; we're not kidding."

The bandits appeared to be about 24 years old. They fled out the front door and escaped.

ILLINOIS SENATE MOVES SWIFTLY FOR DRY REPEAL

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Fast action in the senate on repeal of the Illinois prohibition laws overshadowed the political importance of the organization of the 58th general assembly today.

Politics and factional matters held the center of the stage last night and this morning, but they were moved back into the wings in midafternoon when two bills to repeal the search and seizure and the state dry laws were sent to second reading in the upper chamber with just the necessary two-thirds majority—34 votes. It is possible that an attempt will be made to put them to third reading—the passage stage—next Monday.

Roe Is Elected Speaker.

This step toward the liberalization of the Illinois statutes was accomplished while Arthur Roe of Vandalia, the candidate selected by Governor Elect Horner and Mayor Cermak of Chicago, was being elected speaker of the house of representatives and the way paved for a thorough reorganization, with Democratic office holders in both chambers.

The new party in power started a housecleaning in the legislature which seemed likely to extend through every branch of the state government. They even elected a new secretary and sergeant at arms in the senate, replacing James H. Paddock and T. B. Scouten, both of whom have served in the statehouse for more than sixty years.

Sinnett Floor Leader.

The Democratic leaders named were as follows: Roe, speaker; Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, floor leader; and R. V. Graham of Chicago, Mayor Cermak's son-in-law, president pro tempore of the senate; that is, majority leader.

Republican minorities named Richard J. Barr, retiring majority leader, as their spokesman in the senate, and David E. Shanahan, retiring speaker to succeed himself. Mr. Shanahan went down with colors flying and high words of praise from the floor for his long service. Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago will take on most of the duties of minority leader.

When minor officers of both chambers had been chosen and Speaker Roe sworn in by Justice Norman L. Jones of the Supreme court, both legislative bodies convened in the house chamber to hear the farewell message and quadrennial report of the retiring governor, Louis L. Emmerson, which reading consumed more than one hour. Adjournment was then taken until Monday, when Judge Horner and the other incoming Democratic officials will be inaugurated.

Act Quickly on Pledge.

Taking undisputed control of the legislature for the first time in 40 years, the Democrats moved swiftly to fulfill one of their major campaign pledges—repeal of the dry laws. On the first roll call in the senate, only one Democrat—Louis O. Williams of Clinton, a newcomer—voted dry and he stayed with the majority of the Republicans who were quick to oppose such legislative speed.

Three Republicans, one downstater and two Chicagoans, voted for repeal along with the majority members. Roy C. Woods of the Hyde Park district and Dan Serritella of the First—the near south side—district, and N. M. Mason of Oglesby, in the La Salle district, were the Republicans favoring repeal. On the first roll call Serritella followed the lead of Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield] and voted "present," but when it was made known that only 33 of the 34 votes necessary under the two-third majority rule had been cast he quickly changed to the "aye" column.

Ward Presents Bills.

Senator Harold G. Ward of the Lake View district in Chicago presented the bills which were decided upon by a committee appointed at the Democratic caucus. This group will busy itself on measures looking toward the regulation of whatever sort of liquor is finally legalized by congress. Ward is chairman of the senate group. The bills will probably be introduced in the house next week.

Ward acted for the committee and made only a brief speech in presenting the bills for consideration. He asked that they be sent to second reading without reference to a committee, which action required 34 votes. Then the roll call began.

Huebsch Explains Vote.

Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield], was the first member to explain his vote. "When this matter comes up in the regular order of business I expect to vote for it," he said. "But it seems to me that the importance of a glass of beer is overshadowed by the importance of feeding the hungry people of the state. Our first business is the care of the destitute."

Senator A. H. Roberts [Rep., Chicago] followed Huebsch. The senate is a deliberative body, he said, and should not act hastily in the matter of repeal. He voted for repeal last session, he said, being the "key" man to cast the vote which assured passage, and expected to do the same when the matter was formally considered. At the present time, Roberts preferred to vote "no," and did.

Senator Searcy voted "present."

How Senators Voted.

AGAINST ADVANCEMENT—Barbour, Barr, Benson, Carlson, Ewing, Gunning, Huebsch, Lantz, Roberts, Thompson, Williams, Wright.

Other bills introduced in the house included 79, presented by James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston] for the Illinois judicial advisory council, all of which provide for changes in the terms of court system. The lot was passed last session but killed on the house calendar in the rush of last minute legislation before adjournment.

Inauguration Monday.

There was considerable conjecture about the plans for the inauguration of Governor Elect Horner next Monday but the one definite bit of gossip was that the governor elect, in the informal ceremonies next Monday night, will lead the grand march with Mrs. Cora English Tanner, widow of a former governor, John R. Tanner.

The living former governors, Emmerson, Small, Lowden, Dunne, Deneen, Fifer and Yates will be guests of honor.

Governor Emmerson Sends Message to New Legislature

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Louis Emmerson's farewell message to the new 58th general assembly—containing a long list of the achievements of his administration and a shorter section of recommendations for future legislation—was read to a joint session of house and senate at noon today.

This was probably Mr. Emmerson's last appearance as an executive before the legislature. Monday he relinquishes control of the state government to Governor Elect Henry Horner and retires to private life after almost thirty years as an office holder. He bade his successor "good luck" in his message today, commended him "personally and for his ability" and assured him that the Republican minority would always be willing to "lay aside political considerations where the good of the state and the welfare of the people are concerned."

"Specific Recommendations."

The retiring governor left these recommendations for legislative consideration:

1. Amendment of the revenue article of the constitution to provide "equitable" taxation.

2. Rigid economy supplemented by consolidations of governmental taxing bodies. [Gov. Emmerson declared there were 19,000 of these bodies, purely local in character.]

3. Curbing the "profligate" practice of borrowing from the future through bond issues and anticipation notes.

4. Conduct the state business, in so far as possible, on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

5. Conduct a survey to determine measures to provide for unemployment distress in the future.

6. Unite now to prevent the emergency relief from drifting into a dole system.

7. Refrain from enactment of contingent appropriations by nation and state that are "merely" lures that mean increased expenditures of taxpayers' money.

8. Refrain from legislation permitting government to make further encroachments upon private business.

9. Grant to tax commission the power to assess capital stock of all corporations.

These recommendations were elaborated upon in the text of the message. In No. 7, the governor had reference to "the practice adopted by the federal government in recent years of making contingent appropriations of public funds on the basis that the state is to provide part of the money and fulfill certain requirements in order to share in the appropriation. It is, in the first place," he said, "an invasion of the legislative functions of the state. It often results in the appropriation of money by the state for purposes of doubtful benefit. Federal funds to which the people of the state contribute through their federal taxes are used as a lure to get from them more money contributed through their state taxes."

He is likewise opposed to appropriations by the state to influence contingent appropriations from counties, the governor said.

Lists Work He Has Done.

More than a score of "achievements" were claimed for his administration by Mr. Emmerson. The major of those, in brief, follow:

1. A savings of "more than $19,500,000 from money appropriated to departments under the governor, but not spent." This included, the governor said, one million dollars for salaries and wages.

2. Savings of $1,240,948 in cash discounts by the prompt payment of bills.

3. Installation of a perpetual daily inventory system resulting in economies in the operating costs of state institutions.

4. Relief from overcrowding in institutions, accomplished "without bond issues by use of current revenues."

5. Addition of five institutions to the charity system of the state.

6. Emergency relief for thousands of idle through creation of the Illinois emergency relief commission.

7. Employment of "thousands" through the state's road building and institutional construction program; supplying of work to 100,000 persons through the efforts of the free employment offices.

9. The addition of 4,800 miles to the primary and secondary road systems during the quadriennium, which, Gov. Emmerson said, constituted a record.

10. Reduction of paving costs for two lane roads from $28,949 per mile under the Small administration to $19,861 per mile under Emmerson.

11. Such progress on the waterway system as to insure its opening next spring.

12. Aid to farmers through increase of bovine tuberculosis eradication, extension of marketing information and assistance, and in eradication of insect pests.

13. Reduction of 30 per cent in mine fatalities.

Promises Aid of G. O. P.

Concluding his message, Gov. Emmerson said:

"In turning over the reins of government to my successor, I extend to him my heartiest good wishes for his success in administration. He is assuming office at a time when the burdens of executive administration are particularly heavy. I have known him for many years and I have the highest regard for him personally and for his ability and I want to assure him he will find the Republicans in the legislature always willing to lay aside political considerations where the good of the state and the welfare of the people are concerned."

LEHMAN URGES NEW YORK LAW TO PERMIT BEER

Wants to Be Prepared for Dry Law Change.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Legislation should be passed immediately to provide for the sale and distribution of beer as soon as congress takes legalizing action, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman told the legislature as he read his first message at the opening of the 156th annual session today.

He called for a commission to study the state legislation which will be necessary when congress legalizes "beverages now prohibited," and asked that the commission report not later than Feb. 15.

"This would be not only in the interest of hurrying desirable repeal or amendatory legislation along these lines, but would also provide immediate additional revenues for the state," the new governor said.

Emphasizes Beer Revenue.

"It would be advisable to have the proper state legislation prepared and passed at this session to provide for the necessary licensing machinery for the sale and distribution of beverages now prohibited."

He emphasized the need of additional revenues and said that the most difficult problems facing the state relate to budgetary requirements and taxation. He will send a special message on that subject to the legislature within the month.

Ranking in importance with the recommendation on beer legislation was the governor's comment on the reduction of state aid for education. He pointed out that last year the state was compelled to forego its annual increment of state aid and must do the same this year. Further reduction may be necessary next year, he said.

Foresees Further Cuts.

"The amount in the current budget for education is about $166,000,000," the governor pointed out. "The state next year may not be able to afford this amount. Some cut may have to be made. If I find it absolutely unavoidable to recommend such a cut, I shall do so. I shall do so, however, with very great reluctance.

State contributions to local communities have reached the "disproportionate percentage of 45 per cent," he said, adding that if existing statutes were carried out millions would be added and the state aid would rise above 50 per cent.

"We must definitely and unequivocally call a halt on any further mandatory increases in state aid."

BRITAIN DENIES PLAN FOR DEBT MISSION TO U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Newspaper reports today that Great Britain plans to send a war debt mission to the United States soon were denied in authoritative quarters.

The next developments in the debts situation, it was explained, may be expected after an exchange of views through diplomatic channels, which may take weeks.

The British view is that the debts negotiations eventually will become a part of the projected world economic conference or will be carried on parallel to that meeting.

Athens Orders 30% Payment.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The government today ordered payment of 30 per cent of the interest on the American refugee loan of 1929 through Speyer company and the National City bank of New York. Premier Tsaldares will leave on Jan. 15 for Rome, Paris, and London to negotiate with bondholders.

Borah Blames Hoover for French Default; Other Senators Criticize Failure to Pay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Responsibility for France's default on her war debt to the United States was laid at the door of President Hoover by Senator William E. Borah [radical, Idaho] today in a speech that struck the high note of a day of senate debate on the debt question.

From the point of view of France she was justified in refusing to make the payment due last Dec. 15 on the strength of a secret understanding between the President and former Premier Laval, Senator Borah declared.

In explanation of his statement the Idaho senator pulled back the curtains on the conference between Mr. Hoover and senate leaders just prior to the Laval visit, in October, 1931, and revealed for the first time that the President had tried to persuade members of congress to pledge themselves in advance to approve any agreement he might make with the French prime minister concerning revision of the war obligations.

Borah Wants Concessions.

Senator Borah took occasion to emphasize his willingness to reduce or cancel debts if Europe would abandon economic, military, financial and commercial policies which were in large part the outgrowth of the Versailles treaty and which, the senator said, stood in the way of a restored prosperity.

Unwilling to listen to cancellation or revision on any terms were other senators—notably Johnson, California radical; Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader; Reed, conservative Republican of Pennsylvania, and McKellar, Tennessee Democrat, who denounced France and the French default in pointed language seldom heard on the senate floor in reference to another nation.

"France defaulted," said Senator Johnson. "It is a sorry day in international integrity and international obligations. She does not honor her signature. Indeed, she practically dishonors it.

Treaty Scrapping Cited.

"International obligations, national good faith; how much have we heard of them in the past? How much did we hear of them during the war? O, the perfervid orations that were made when necessity scrapped a treaty in Belgium.

"We look back 17 years, and we see a nation violating its plighted troth. Today we look at that which has been pledged with us, signed by the governments of Europe, and we find that that signature which we thought of all signatures on the face of the earth was the one that could be most relied upon for ultimate consummation, we find that that signature is dishonored, and that France declines to honor the claim which justly is held by this country against her."

Nor could the California senator, orating in famous Johnsonian violence, forego the opportunity of a passing volley at Japan.

Reed Assails France.

Senator Reed, close Hoover adviser and intimate of former Secretary of the Treasury, now Ambassador Mellon, wanted a distinction drawn between debtor nations that kept faith with the United States and those that defaulted. He believed that any claims put forward by Great Britain should be given a sympathetic audience.

"But the idea that France should be met in the same way seems to me to be preposterous," he went on. "I think we must draw a sharp line between Great Britain, that has honored her promise, and France, that has dishonored her promise, admitting that she is able to keep it. Yet nevertheless she repudiated it to that nation to which above all others she owes the utmost gratitude and fidelity.

"Not only was France saved from annihilation in large part by the contribution of the American military forces; not only was France kept from bankruptcy by the generosity of our American loans; not only was her rehabilitation made possible by the loans we made to her after the armistice; not only did we support her in all her greedy demands for territory at the peace conference, but she has been the recipient of the utmost outpourings of charity from the citizens of America to villages, towns, and families in France that has ever been seen on the face of this earth passing from one nation to another."

Borah Explains Stand.

It was following Senator Johnson and Senator Reed that Senator Borah took the floor. So long as debts alone are to be considered, he said, he stood side by side with those opposed to cancellation or revision; it would not revive the world. But he thought something more valuable to the United States than the debts themselves could be secured. He reviewed the symptoms and statistics of the world depression.

"I do not desire to appear here today as a defender of the default upon the part of France," he continued, "but I do desire to say that I have no doubt that France understood, when she canceled reparations at Lausanne, that she would receive a readjustment of debts on the part of the United States."

"From whom did she receive that assurance?" was Senator McKellar's prompt interruption.

"The statement issued following the Hoover-Laval conference was indication enough that an understanding had been reached," Senator Borah replied.

"I invite the attention of senators to the fact that the President asked that we approve of any conversation which he had and any agreement which he reached with Laval, who was then on his way for readjustment of debts during this economic situation," the Idaho senator said.

Recalls Hoover's Denials.

Senator McKellar reminded Senator Borah of President Hoover's denial following the Lausanne conference last summer that any pledge of American willingness to revise the debts had been given. Senator Borah hinted that he was skeptical concerning the complete candor of Mr. Hoover's statement.

Senator Borah said he did not look on the French failure to pay as repudiation, but as a postponement pending a reconsideration which she had been led to expect. Senator McKellar would have none of that view of the matter. He recalled France's loan to Austria a few days after refusing to pay the United States.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, attempted to intercede, with the evident intention of covering up for Mr. Hoover, proving that no promises had been passed and that therefore France had no excuse. Senator Borah gathered steam and finally blew up with a bang.

"The senator is in error," he shot out. "What happened was this: The President called us in conference with a view of securing the coöperation of both houses of congress for a certain program at the coming session. That program consisted of five certain propositions.

"He went down the line and he got to the fourth proposition and that was the question of discussing with Laval the subject of the debt and as to whether the President should discuss the question with a view of adjusting the debts in view of the present economic conditions. I said 'Mr. President, I am sorry to say that I cannot go along with you on that proposition. I am not willing that any discussion should take place between you and M. Laval that shall be binding upon the congress of the United States.' That all took place there and the senator must remember it."

Senator Watson called on Senator Robinson, and that was a signal for the Democratic senator to make his feelings known concerning France.

Robinson Gives Views.

"No matter what Mr. Hoover told M. Laval," he said, "it is no justification for a great nation that fails to meet its obligations when that obligation matures and in my judgment France is just as much in default as any debtor can be who fails to pay when his obligation matures.

"I repeat what I said in the beginning of this discussion this afternoon, that I shall not be willing to ratify an arrangement made through negotiations with a debtor nation that is manifestly able to pay that has refused to pay. I think that the senate ought to put itself on record."

The Hoover-Laval understanding was what brought the Lausanne conference to reach a final adjustment of the reparations question, Senator Borah intimated.

But had the President ever mentioned debts without saying that he would not consent to mingle debts and reparations, inquired Senator Watson.

"I am not reviewing all the things the President has said," was Senator Borah's tart rejoinder.

Resolution Is Offered.

As a conclusion to the day, Senator McKellar put in a resolution that was finally referred to the foreign relations committee after Senator Reed had characterized it as a "cross between a sermon and a slap on the wrist."

The resolution stated that the United States could not view with indifference the repudiation of the war debts, and warned defaulting nations that they would sacrifice their credit standing by failure to keep their credit obligations.

APPROVE BILL TO CONSOLIDATE COUNTY VOTING

A bill which would consolidate elections of all the municipalities in Cook county in one general county-wide judicial election in June was approved yesterday by representatives of more than 200 villages, park systems, and townships in the county in a meeting with County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer. The bill will be presented immediately to the legislature.

Pope Pius Predicts an Economic Revival in 1933

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The certainty that the new year will be better spiritually and economically than the last as a result of the holy year was expressed today by Pope Pius in responding to greetings by the Roman patricians headed by Prince Colonna. "The holy year beginning in 1933 will bring a spiritual revival," the pontiff said. "This will restore the world's confidence and induce economic revival, too."

FEDERAL DEFICIT FOR HALF YEAR EXCEEDS BILLION

May Be Twice That by the End of June.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special] Ending the first six months of the 1933 fiscal year with a deficit of $1,159,286,502, compared with $1,385,449,487 a year ago, the treasury started toward a deficit of more than $2,000,000,000 by June 30, if new sources of economies or revenue are not found.

Receipts for the July 1-Dec. 31 period amounted to $1,022,885,840, a reduction of $126,000,000 from the corresponding months last year, while expenditures were $2,182,172,342, a drop of $352,000,000.

Debt Nearly 21 Billions.

The public debt at the end of the calendar year was $20,805,556,791, with practically no change during December, but representing increases of $1,318,000,000 since June 30 and of $2,980,000,000 in twelve months. The debt was $26,596,701,648 at the peak, reached Aug. 31, 1919, and the pre-war debt March 31, 1917, was $1,282,044,346.

The decrease in receipts was chiefly due to the drop in income taxes, partially offset by the gain in miscellaneous internal revenue and the net increase in debt payments from foreign powers.

Miscellaneous internal revenue, including the new excise and stamp taxes of the 1932 revenue act, supplanted income tax receipts as the chief source of government income.

These receipts totaled $887,360,027 for the six months, a gain of $116,800,000. In December the figure was $73,039,831 and for other months of the fiscal year as follows: July, $42,426,582; August, $56,557,746; September, $72,743,643; October, $78,007,192 and November, $66,585,026.

Far More Expected.

An average of about $100,000,000 a month from these sources of revenue had been anticipated from the treasury when estimates were prepared about the time of passage of the revenue law.

The income tax yield for the six months was $343,227,856, a loss of $272,000,000 from the corresponding period last year.

DEMAND BILLION CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States today called on congress to reduce federal appropriations by more than a billion dollars for the next fiscal year starting July 1, 1933.

In a letter to Chairman Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.] of the house appropriations committee the chamber asked that total appropriations be trimmed one billion 100 million dollars below the total of the present fiscal year that ends June 30, 1933.

That would bring the new budget down to approximately three billion 500 million dollars.

Would Save on Veterans.

The chamber's recommendations, as outlined by its president, H. J. Harriman, included a 400 million dollar cut in veterans' costs, about 400 millions in construction and public works items, and a 150 million dollar saving through abandonment by the government of activities "improperly competitive with private industry."

The chamber report suggested that the United States return to the 1925 basis of appropriations, withdraw from competitive business operations and give full benefit in its financial program to large unexpended balances of earlier appropriations. The appropriations for 1925 were slightly in excess of 3 billion 500 millions.

President Elect Roosevelt, it became known today, has urged at least some of the chairmen of committees in the house to do their utmost to hold appropriations down. Chairman Ross A. Collins [Dem., Miss.] of the house military affairs committee has said Mr. Roosevelt wanted military appropriations cut to the bone.

Proposes 10% Cut.

Meanwhile, today, plans were afoot in the house to effect an immediate slash of 85 million dollars in the annual cost of veterans' payments. Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [Dem., Va.], chairman of the subcommittee on veterans' appropriations, announced he will propose a blanket 10 per cent cut for the next fiscal year.

A joint committee of house and senate is now conducting hearings on veterans' legislation with a view to making permanent slashes in payments.

Representative Woodrum said he will ask that the 10 per cent slash be made in world war compensation allowances, army and navy pensions, emergency officers' retired pay, and other similar items.

GIRL, GUEST IN BROTHER'S HOME, LEAPS TO DEATH

Miss Christina Vance, 17 years old, of Detroit, killed herself last night by leaping from a third floor porch at the home of her brother, Paul Vance, 1431 Wicker Park avenue. The brother said that the girl came to visit him and her two sisters, Mary and Anna, for the holidays. On Monday she reluctantly boarded a bus to go back to her mother in Detroit. None of her relatives heard from her until last night.

In the evening Morris Breitovich, 1739 Humboldt boulevard, a youth Christina had met during her visit, called Paul and told him she had asked him to meet her in front of the Harding theater, 2756 Milwaukee avenue. The brother and two sisters went there and persuaded Christina to go to their home.

When questioned about her failure to return home the girl became angry and struck Anna with an iron poker. When the weapon was wrested from her she cried that she was going to commit suicide and then leaped from the rear porch before the others could stop her.

Greece to Cut Army Service Period to Reduce Costs

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 4.—(AP)—As one of its measures of economy, the government announced today that it will introduce a bill to reduce the period of compulsory military service from 14 months to one year.

GRAVE TASKS CONFRONT U. S. AS 1933 OPENS

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Contemplating the unabated governmental extravagance, the 8 billions of dollars borrowed up to date to meet a deficit that still is mounting, the drying up of tax revenue sources, and the failure to balance the budget, many hard headed business men regard the federal government today as virtually a bankrupt concern.

With such view Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and other treasury officials take sharp issue, citing in refutation thereof the government's "gilt-edge" credit in the money market. A government that can borrow apparently unlimited amounts of money at three-quarters of 1 per cent interest, say the treasury men, is far from insolvent.

But they admit that Uncle Sam is headed in the direction of insolvency and will arrive there sooner or later unless the federal budget be balanced. Washington, it is freely conceded, can not go on borrowing indefinitely to meet a constantly augmenting deficit without eventual inflation of the currency. And once started on the inflation road the government would be unlikely to halt its downward course short of such a national crash as ended Germany's inflation adventure.

The balancing of the budget is becoming more and more remote. The attempt represented by the revenue act of the last session has failed to the tune of more than a billion dollars up to date because of the failure to reduce expenditures and of the unproductiveness of taxes, the expectations of yield from which had been based on an anticipated revival of business that failed to revive.

Renewed plans to balance the budget are now being buffeted around on the political sea of the lame duck interregnum between the outgoing Republican and the incoming Democratic régime. The Republicans in control of the administrative branch and the Democrats with the decisive voice in the legislative branch are unable to agree on budget balancing measures.

Government-minded President Hoover would maintain the federal bureaucracy virtually intact and impose a sales tax to eke out the revenue. The Democrats, taking their cue from Gov. Roosevelt, would avoid a sales tax by reducing the cost of the central government the 25 per cent proposed by their platform. The Democrats favor a beer tax, but there is no assurance the President would approve it.

At a standstill likewise is the repeal of prohibition, the 34 billion dollar cost of which in 12 years [according to the Crusaders' statistics] is not a small factor in the cause of the depression and the abrogation of which, eliminating the cost of enforcement and allowing the federal government to collect upward of 1 billion dollars a year in liquor tax revenue, would go far toward balancing the budget at once.

Repeal, specifically espoused by the Democratic party, was defeated in the house by the votes of Democratic lame ducks. It will be submitted in any event by the next congress, but ratification will be rendered uncertain by the attitude of [politically] dry, chiefly southern Democratic, states. Ratification under the most favorable circumstances is not expected short of two or three years.

Each party is maneuvering for political advantage, each trying to put the other in a hole with respect to fiscal legislation. For failure to balance the budget each party will blame the other. Many Democrats want Roosevelt to reap the credit for reorganizing and reducing the cost of the government and balancing the budget. Altogether the trend is toward postponement of action till after March 4, when the Democrats will be in complete and overwhelming control of both the administrative and legislative branches, unreservedly responsible and capable of functioning, if numbers in both houses of congress be any guarantee.

Joan Blondell of Films is Bride in Phoenix, Ariz.

FATHER FIGHTS FOR CUSTODY OF CHILD HEIRESS

Wife a Descendant of Peter Fahrney.

Myrtle Fahrney Saemann, the 4 year old heiress to patent medicine millions, became the object of another court fight yesterday when her father, Franklin I. Saemann Jr., appeared before Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan with a petition to take the child from the custody of her mother. He obtained a divorce from the mother, Mrs. Mildred Fahrney Saemann, in December, 1931, on a charge of desertion.

Saemann's petition, filed by Attorney Frank Cantwell, charges that his former wife "is wholly unfit and incapable of caring for the child," and that the child has been neglected by the mother. Pointing out that custody of the girl was given to her mother on testimony that Mr. Saemann was a fit person and would give Myrtle proper care, Attorney Cantwell indicated to Judge Finnegan that his client would present evidence to dispute that testimony.

Mrs. Saemann is a granddaughter of the late Peter Fahrney, founder of the Dr. Peter Fahrney & Sons company, patent medicine manufacturers. Her grandfather left her a large fortune in trust, part of which will eventually go to her daughter, and she received another large inheritance upon the death of her bachelor uncle, Ezra Fahrney.

Mrs. Saemann and the child are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fahrney, 400 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park. Saemann is the son of Franklin I. Saemann, 429 Forest avenue, Oak Park, head of a surgical supply house, and is in charge of his father's New York office.

Mrs. Saemann was not present in court yesterday, but was represented by her attorney, John C. Campbell.

"If the father actually wants custody of the child," Attorney Campbell told Judge Finnegan, "this is going to be a tough fight. We're going to require at least two days to present witnesses in court to prove that Mrs. Saemann has given the child every care."

Spain Orders Ex-King to Come to Madrid in 10 Days

MADRID, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The official Gazette today published an order by the responsibilities commission summoning former King Alfonso and several other monarchical officials to appear before the commission within ten days under penalty of being declared fugitives from justice. It was learned that the commission issued the summons to clarify circumstances in connection with a railway concession.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR $31,421,000 AS DEFICIENCY MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Another appropriation bill was sent to the senate late today by the house.

It carried $31,421,000 to meet deficiencies in appropriations made last session for the current fiscal year.

Despite numerous attempts on the floor to amend the measure, it passed without a changle change.

An attempt by Representative Dickstein [Dem., N. Y.], to add $606,000 for the immigration service at first found unexpected support and caught Democratic leaders off their guard. It was adopted, 80 to 73.

Just before the bill passed, however, Democrats succeeded in forcing another vote, and on a roll call the Dickstein amendment was voted down, 168 to 113.

Dickstein and members from border states, including Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, supported Dickstein's amendment on the ground that unless it were approved inspectors in the immigration service would be compelled to take a two month payless furlough.

Snell held it was easier to keep aliens out than deport them, but Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee insisted that since neither President Hoover nor Secretary Doak had asked for the money it should not be appropriated.

The bill as sent to the senate, where those for the treasury-postoffice, interior and agriculture departments already await action, carried $28,000,000 for tax refunds, $200,000 for the labor department's employment service, $625,000 for relief in the District of Columbia, $1,000,000 for fighting forest fires, $177,983 for the hospital for defective delinquents at Springfield, Mo., and various lesser items.

WOMAN KILLED, 4 OTHERS HURT AS AUTOS CRASH

Mrs. Libbie Powell, 31 years old, 3064 Cortland street, was fatally injured, and another woman and three children were hurt last evening in an automobile collision at Sawyer and Belden avenues. Mrs. Powell died an hour later at the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

The other victims, Mrs. Gertrude Halperin, 32 years old, 2011 North Mozart street; Velma Waldman, 11, of 1953 Humboldt boulevard; her brother, David, 5, and Joyce Powell, 6, daughter of Mrs. Powell, also were treated at the hospital.

Roy Mandelblatt, 22 years old, 4907 North St. Louis avenue, driver of the other car, was held by Shakespeare police. The death of Mrs. Powell increased the Cook county traffic toll for 1933 to 13.

D. J. Porto of Chicago, narrowly escaped death yesterday when his sedan caught fire after overturning in a ditch near Coldwater, Mich. Another motorist pulled Porto, who was stunned, from the wreckage.

HEAR R. J. COLLINS WILL RESIGN POST ON CIVIL SERVICE

Richard J. Collins, president of the city civil service commission, has written his resignation and is prepared to submit it to Mayor Cermak this week, according to a report yesterday in the city hall. When questioned Mr. Collins said he had no statement to make and declined to confirm or deny the report.

When appointed a member of the commission in 1931, Mr. Collins was reported to have volunteered to serve only for six months. He is also understood to have told associates recently that he has given freely of his time to the city and now is anxious to devote his attention to private affairs. He has served the city without compensation, not accepting the $7,500 annual salary which the position pays.

HELD FOR SHOTGUN THEFT.

W. P. Kuhlman, 55 years old, was arrested at his home in Barrington last night on a charge of having stolen four shotguns from the store of Arnold-Klein, 508 South Halsted street.

SECOND FRENCH LUXURY LINER RAZED BY FIRE

CHERBOURG, France, Jan. 4.—The strange sea Nemesis which has dogged the French merchant marine around the globe in recent years struck again today when fire ended the brief career of the palatial South Atlantic liner Atlantique, 75 miles off Cherbourg. At least 17 of the crew of 230 lost their lives. No passengers were on board, as the ship was proceeding from Bordeaux to Havre for minor repairs.

Like the Georges Philippar, which burned in the Gulf of Aden last May, the 42,000 ton Atlantique was the last word in French luxury and elegance. Launched in April, 1930, and used only in the South American service, it was the bearer of French prestige on the high seas.

Discover Fire at 2 A. M.

The same mystery surrounds today's tragedy that enveloped the destruction of the Philippar. At 2 o'clock this morning, when the ship was a few miles off the Casquets isles in the English channel, fire was discovered in one of the first class cabins.

Although equipped with every conceivable fire fighting device, the flames could not be checked. The radio cabins were put out of commission before the danger was realized and only one feeble S O S was sent out. Luckily it brought four ships to the rescue—the German freighter Ruhr, the Dutch Achilles, the English Ford Castle, and the German Sierra Vendada.

The Ruhr caught the faint cry of the Atlantique and relayed the S O S in English, bringing the other ships to the rescue. The German ship played a leading rôle in saving a majority of the crew.

Lifeboat Overturns.

It was 6 o'clock this morning when Capt. Schoofs of the Atlantique gave up the struggle and ordered the lifeboats lowered. One boat was overturned in launching and a number of sailors were drowned. Others were trapped at their posts in the blazing hull and perished.

Capt. Schoofs, with a handful of sailors, jumped overboard after the last boat was lowered and he was picked up swimming. Seventy men were rescued by the Ruhr, 70 or 80 by the Sierra Vendada, six by the English boat and the captain and the remaining survivors were taken on board the Achilles.

A fleet of fire fighting tugs immediately put out from Cherbourg and Brest and five airplanes sped out over the channel to reconnoiter. At nightfall the Atlantique was an immense torch, ravaged by fire from stem to stern and listing badly. The heat was so intense that tugs standing by could not approach. There was no hope of saving the liner.

Start Investigation.

A preliminary investigation was opened here while Leon Meyer, minister of merchant marine, rushed here from Paris by train to conduct the inquiry personally. He has promised a rigorous investigation.

The cause of the tragedy, however, remains as mysterious as in the case of the Philippar. A short circuit seems the most likely explanation from the accounts of the captain and other survivors, but authorities indicate that arson is suspected.

The material loss in today's fire was heavy, although nearly all covered by insurance. It was around $15,000,000.

Bride of a Day, Husband Found Dead; Both Shot

Canton, O., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Anthony Ricardo Miano, 22, and his bride of a day, the former Beatrice Rita Masterson, 20, both of Cleveland, were found shot to death in their hotel room here today. Police said both were victims of the groom's revolver. They were married yesterday at Wheeling, W. Va., by the Rev. D. P. Murphy of St. Paul's Catholic church.

Martin McCafferty, a friend, who accompanied them there, said Miano handed him a sealed, addressed envelope last night with the request he gave it to his brother, Sam Miano, "the next time you see him."

ASSESSOR BEGINS HIS REAPPRAISAL ON GOLD COAST

Find Residents Welcome Inspection of Homes.

Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday took the first step toward a reappraisal of the 100 Gold Coast residents to whom the board of tax appeals granted reductions totaling more than $900,000 in their 1931 personal property assessments last week.

The assessor directed H. Gordon Bollman, head of the personal property division of his office, to send out deputies to make personal appraisals in each case. Before this was done Deputy Bollman made half a dozen telephone calls to Gold Coast residents to obtain permission for his assistants to examine their residences.

Instead of expected rebuffs the deputy assessors found themselves welcomed. In one case at least they were told they not only would be given opportunity to inspect the home, but that lists of bonds and stocks, and even bank books, would be turned over to them for examination. One man—Clifford D. Caldwell, 199 Lake Shore drive—appeared at the assessor's office and asked that a new appraisal of his home be made.

Asks a New Valuation.

"I filed a schedule in which I valued all my property," Mr. Caldwell told Bollman, "but apparently my appraisals were lower than yours. I want a new appraisal of all my property and I will furnish the assessor with a complete list of my stock and bond holdings as of April 1, 1931, and with my bank books.

"Let the deputy who makes the appraisal fill out my schedule and I will sign it. I don't care if it is an increase over the $4,100 assessed value to which your office raised my lower original schedule."

A deputy was sent to Mr. Caldwell's apartment. Making an examination of the furnishings, the appraiser placed a value of $4,126 on them, as compared with the $1,500 value given them by Mr. Caldwell. Further computations must be made to determine the value of the securities he gave the assessor.

The first telephone call was made to the homes of William J. Chalmers, 1100 Lake Shore drive. Assessor Jacobs' valuation of $27,750 was reduced by the appeals board members to $1,346. Mrs. Chalmers said she was willing for the deputies to visit her home, but before coming, she added, they should consult her husband. Mr. Chalmers was not reached yesterday.

Agrees to New Appraisal.

At the home of Mrs. B. A. Eckhart, 1530 Lake Shore drive, whose assessed valuation was also $27,750 and whose reduced valuation was $4,374, a maid informed the assessor that her mistress was just then being taken to the Passavant hospital for observation. Mrs. Eckhart's son then said that an appraisal could be made "at any other time."

Only a maid could be reached at the home of Harold C. Strotz, 1244 Stone street, whose valuation of $13,855 was cut to $777 by the appeals board. The maid said Mrs. Strotz was visiting friends and when she returned would call the assessor's office.

John Stuart Coonley at his home, 1130 Lake Shore drive, asked that the appraisal be postponed for a few days because he was confined to his bed.

Then the deputies telephoned to George W. Dixon whose home is at 1250 Lake Shore drive. Mr. Dixon's personalty assessment of $5,504 had been reduced to $1,110.

"Certainly you can make a new appraisal of my home," Mr. Dixon told the assessors.

House Is Thrown Open.

Deputy H. J. Rausch was dispatched to the three story home. He was met at the door by Mr. Dixon's secretary and the house was thrown open to him. Working swiftly through the lower floor Rausch noted every piece of furniture, rugs, paintings, and tapestries in the reception rooms, the dining room, the library, kitchen, and living room. On the second floor is a series of bedrooms and on the third floor the master bedroom, a large reception room and sun room.

At the end of three hours the deputy totaled his figures and placed a worth of $8,485 upon the furnishings of the home. This figure, it was pointed out, r presents the full value of the furnishings. The assessed value would be 37 per cent of the $8,485.

Mr. Dixon's stocks and bonds will be submitted to the assessor today for valuation as of April, 1931.

Last evening Assessor Jacobs directed Bollman to prepare a letter which will be sent to the other gold coast taxpayers, asking permission for appraisals including a list of securities.

Shoots Bandit in Attempted Holdup

Edward Jones, who shot and seriously wounded Jerry Burke in attempted holdup of laundry at 760 North State street, with Mrs. Marvel Campion, sister of the man he shot.

Condition Serious

A man who identified himself as Jerry Burke, 30 years old, was shot in the abdomen and probably fatally wounded last night in an alleged effort to rob the Rush hand laundry at 670 North State street.

He entered the place and, according to the Chicago avenue police, ordered Paulina Jones, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, the owner, to hand over the money in the office. The girl screamed and her brother, Edward, who was in a rear room, opened fire on Burke.

Burke fell, pleading for his life and crying that he was not armed. Mrs. Jones searched him while her son covered him with a gun. After finding that Burke was not armed the Joneses notified the police. Burke was taken to the Bridewell hospital. He said he lived at the Wellington Arms hotel.

At the hotel police found Burke's sister, Mrs. Marvel Campion, a divorcée. She said that her brother had come to Chicago from New York a few days ago. He had managed small hotels in the east, she said.

MAP CAMPAIGN TO SELL PUBLIC TAX WARRANTS

City, School Pay Days Hinge on Result.

The citizens' committee on public expenditures and city officials yesterday completed, with the exception of a few details, their plan for a campaign to sell tax anticipation warrants to the public. In the success of the drive lies the hopes of city and board of education employés for pay days until the collections from 1931 taxes accumulate.

After yesterday's session Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the citizens' committee, announced that the sales campaign will be started shortly. He said there are a few more details to be worked out, including the organization of a committee of business men to engage actively in selling warrants to large tax payers. Selection of the committee may start today.

Limit Sales to 50 Per Cent.

It was decided that the committee would sell only 1932 warrants of the city corporate and school board educational funds. The sales will be limited to 50 per cent of the tax levies for those funds for last year. The city council is expected today to approve this restriction, and a prediction was made that the school board would concur at its next meeting.

"I am for the 50 per cent limitation," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee. "If the program is successful, as I think it will be, the city will be able to function. The city has no outstanding 1930 warrants so that any delinquent 1930 tax money that the city receives will go directly into the city treasury."

The city corporate levy for 1932 was $44,101,000, but because $1,500,000 worth of 1932 warrants are already in the hands of the public the warrants the city will have for sale under the 50 per cent limitation is $20,505,000. The school board will have approximately $22,000,000 worth of 1932 warrants for sale.

Drop Warrant Trust Plan.

From the comments of those who attended the conference in Sargent's office it was apparent that the plan to set up a trust, in which large taxpayers would purchase participation certificates, has been abandoned. The plan now is to sell warrants direct to the taxpayers who have set up reserves for the payment of taxes. Lists of taxpayers whose bills are more than $10,000, are available.

The purpose of the campaign is to provide at least one pay roll a month until April. Pay rolls of the library and the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium probably will be financed out of the sales of city corporate warrants. The county already has warrants in the hands of the public amounting to 40 per cent of its 1932 tax levy.

City Selects Depository.

At an earlier session in the office of City Controller Szymczak an announcement was made by City Treasurer Kearns that the First Union Trust and Savings bank has been selected as the depository for payments on delinquent 1928, 1929, and 1930 tax levies for bonds and interest, which money has been pledged to the redemption of the city's 1933 refunding bonds.

In his annual report to the mayor Mr. Szymczak reported that the city is only four months in arrears in payment of salaries, a better record than that of any other major local government.

ORDERS PARING OF $79,819,170 SCHOOL BUDGET

Board Sends It Back to Department Heads.

The board of education received the tentative 1933 school budget of $79,819,170 from the department heads yesterday and promptly sent it back to them with orders for substantial reductions. The total of the reductions sought and the method of accomplishing them were not specified.

The budget is $4,638,907 more than the final appropriations set up in the 1932 budget. It is balanced on tax levies which exceed by $24,605,736 the amount recommended by the Sargent committee on public expenditures.

The amount that the trustees will have to trim has not been decided because of a paper surplus of $9,842,957 in the various school funds. This represents uncollected taxes for prior years over the expenditures for those years and the school board is undetermined whether to use the surplus as an asset against which it can appropriate for pay rolls and other purposes or to wipe it out entirely.

If the board decides that the paper surplus cannot be used as an asset, the school budget will have to be trimmed $18,233,481 and the salary cuts for teachers and other employés will be more severe.

Budget Is Sent Back.

Toward the close of the board meeting President Lewis E. Myers announced that the special budget committee of school trustees would meet tomorrow morning. Then several of the trustees held a conference in Mr. Myers' office. The result was that the committee session was called off and the budget was sent back to the school officials.

Some of the trustees have expressed opinions that the so called surplus is a frozen asset. To become a real surplus the taxes would have to be collected up to within 90 per cent of the levies for prior years. It was pointed out that only 56 per cent of the 1930 taxes have been collected.

Mr. Myers said that he was not in favor of appropriating against the entire surplus. Trustees Orville J. Taylor and Joseph P. Savage declared that they would follow out future recommendations by the Sargent committee on the question.

Meets Teachers' Representatives.

Earlier in the day President Myers received representatives of teachers' organizations in his office to discuss a plan of paying teachers in coupons, which could be used to buy merchandise. Under the plan the merchant would take school board tax warrants as security for the coupons.

At the suggestion of Mr. Myers a committee of three was appointed to confer with Fred Sargent, chairman of the citizens' committee. The committee consists of Aaron Kline, president of the principals' club; Charles Stillman, president of the joint conference of principals and teachers, and Joseph J. Spain, president of the school engineers' union.

Pegler Finds Certain Facts Regarding Federal Conditions

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The long awaited preliminary report of the federal commission to investigate conditions, appointed in 1930 with an appropriation of $6,000,000, was delivered to the commission on commissions today.

It is a sensational document, revealing that some conditions are more pronounced than others, although it is made clear that this is merely a preliminary impression which may be modified when the supplementary report is ready for submission in 1935. It also contains a revolutionary demand that active steps be taken in the near future looking to the formulation of a concrete plan for the development of a comprehensive scheme whereby conditions may be more or less equalized in due time.

Results in Conflict of Views.

Administration men were disinclined to comment on this radical phase of the document, but were obviously pleased with a ringing paragraph on page 903 of volume IX. which flatly said: "Your commission feels constrained to state that, although certain conditions are different, it is also apparent that other conditions are, on the whole, not strikingly dissimilar in their important aspects."

This was interpreted by some as an emphatic indorsement of the government's policy with regard to conditions, although opposition leaders professed to take an opposite view.

The document is one of the most thorough ever prepared under government auspices, consisting of twenty-eight volumes, bound in red leather and lettered in platinum. The books are twelve by eighteen inches and four inches thick, and when the free copies are ready for distribution to the constituents they doubtless will be found invaluable as door stops and for children to sit on at the table.

Supplement May Be Improvement.

The supplementary report is expected to consist of fifty volumes and the new annex to the printery, erected at a cost of $12,000,000 for the publication of this work, is now well under way again after one regrettable false start. Work was begun two years ago and was almost completed when it was discovered that, owing to a confusion of plans, the builders were putting up the new annex on the site allotted for the new mineral water storage plant, and vice versa.

Both structures were then torn down and the work was begun all over, but necessity became a virtue when the elections began to show a swing against prohibition and the decision was made to add a long bar to the mineral water building. This will be a true economy, for the bar will be made of armor plate, guaranteed to resist the corrosive properties of southern corn and mule, silage, jake and straight alky.

Adjacent to the bar under the revised plan there will be a recreation room with upholstered walls and materials for cutting paper dolls and, as a unique domestic feature of the bar, there will be a rubber bar rail, which will be very easy on the dogs of the statesmen who wish to spend long periods of time in this retreat. Brass bar rails were thoroughly investigated by a joint committee, which spent eight months in the bars of Havana, Paris, and the French Riviera and were condemned as a prolific source of bar fly's foot.

Some Important Points.

It is impossible to give a clear summary of the preliminary report on conditions at this time, because the document is accompanied by a key, or index, consisting of ten volumes, and the key to the key is yet to come. In a general way, however, the report is believed to imply that conditions sometimes vary more than they do at other times.

In the main, of course, a given condition must be considered in relation to other conditions of a similar nature, except in unusual cases, because the influences bearing on the situation are subject to fluctuations, which cannot be ignored in any comprehensive study of the problem.

Therefore, in approaching definite conclusions, it is considered prudent to reserve judgment and weigh the matter in the light of the forthcoming report of the federal commission to investigate the situation. This commission was to have reported six months ago, but there has been an unfortunate delay, due to a departmental error. Congress built a $9,000,000 building for the use of the committee to investigate the situation, but the department of wrecking and demolishing came along one day and knocked it down. They mistook it for the department of commerce building, which was condemned when there was no longer any commerce to justify its existence.

CHICAGO COUPLE TO MAKE AIR TRIP OF 14,000 MILES

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Manning of 179 Lake Shore drive will leave Chicago today to start an air trip which is expected to cover 14,000 miles over Central and South America. Mr. Manning is executive vice president of the Cord corporation.

From Chicago the Mannings will go to New York and thence by boat to the West Indies and Cristobal, Canal Zone. The long plane flight will start from Cristobal.

The plane journey will be over the Pan American Airways. Stops will be made at various cities, including Lima, Peru; Santiago, Chile; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Barranquilla, Colombia. Mr. Manning will study the progress of aviation in the countries on his itinerary. The Mannings expected to be home by Feb. 5 with a total mileage coverage of more than 17,000 miles.

IOWA MOB HALTS MORTGAGE SALE; SEIZE OFFICERS

ment, a plan to prevent the movement of agricultural products to market until price levels are restored. Roads in Plymouth and other counties in northwest Iowa were picketed at that time and nonstrikers were halted on their way to Sioux City. The Farmers' Holiday association has since offered to help in settling mortgage difficulties, but has specified that only peaceful methods be used.

A large number of farms all over the state have, legally, been forfeited for failure of the owners to pay taxes. County treasurers have been unable to sell them as delinquent, as there is a general refusal of citizens to bid on such lands. Under Iowa law the state does not take them over in lieu of taxes. They remain the property of the counties and may be redeemed within three years by payment of taxes, interest, and penalties.

Defeat Sheriff's Sale.

Boylestown, Pa., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A sheriff's sale of farm property in which horses brought 3 cents, a bull 5 cents, and three pigs the same amount left Bucks county authorities puzzled today over what to do about a farmers' organization, newly formed to prevent members from being sold out.

Sheriff Horace C. Gwinner put property from the farm of John Hensel under the auction hammer to satisfy a judgment for $1,880, but he realized only $1.80 from the sale.

Representatives of the recently organized Farmers' Protective association said they attended the sale to offer low bids.

The total sales included a flock of chickens for 3 cents, a pair of calves for 4 cents, and Hensel's household goods for 6 cents. None of the property was removed and after the sale a collection was taken up to buy food for the farmer's three motherless children.

Sheriff Gwinner said he was preparing to ask Gov. Pinchot for state police intervention at future sales if the same situation arises.

FLU EPIDEMICS CALL FOR PRECAUTIONS!

A Few Simple Rules that Will Put a Person on the Side of Safety!

While it does not pay to become alarmed over Flu, it does not pay either to be careless. Many a case of Flu could have been avoided with a few simple precautions.

Here are a few rules which may be wisely followed:

Stay out of crowded, stuffy and smoky places.

Stay in the sunshine as much as you can.

Watch out for colds. The so-called "common cold" often paves the way for flu.

At the first sign of a cold, do something about it! One of the best things you can do is to take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately. These tablets are effective because they do four important things. They open the bowels, combat the infection in the system, relieve the fever and headache and tone the entire system.

Better still, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as a preventative of colds! A cold is easier avoided than cured. A cold anticipated is a cold thwarted. As a precautionary measure do what thousands are doing—watch your living habits and take one or two Bromo Quinine tablets every morning and night. That will keep your bowels open and combat germ attacks.

All drug stores sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Now two sizes—30c and 50c. No reliable druggist will try to sell you a substitute on any pretext. As a measure of safety, get a package today and keep it handy all winter.

Details of a pyrotechnical display with which the new year was greeted by the Secret Six, the private detective organization directed by Robert Isham Randolph, lecturer on crime in Chicago, became known yesterday.

The fireworks went off when an extortionist who has been sending threatening letters to Solomon Smith, president of the Northern Trust company, sprung a mousetrap which the Secret Six had set to catch him. The extortionist, believed to be the same man who on Nov. 9 mailed a small bomb to the Smith home at 1242 Lake Shore drive, which inflicted minor injuries on Mrs. Smith when she opened it, escaped. When last seen by operatives of the Secret Six he was speeding away in one of those powerful black sedans so popular with detective fiction writers.

Notifies Secret Six.

Mr. Smith notified the Secret Six as soon as the bomb was sent to his home. His attorney said later that the banker presumed that that organization would notify the legally constituted police and federal authorities, but the postoffice inspectors in Chicago did not learn of the bomb until two weeks later, and the police were kept in ignorance of it for a month.

Meanwhile, the extortionist who signed himself "J. F.," continued to send his threatening letters to Mr. Smith. In the course of time he scaled his demands for money from $25,000 to $8,000. As a result of the letters, Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the Secret Six, and Mrs. Shirley Kub, the ex-stool pigeon for the police who is now his adviser, laid three traps for the man.

The third trap was the one sprung New Year's eve, and, like the others, it was sprung with a clatter of empty jaws to the fleeing footsteps of the extortionist. It was laid in the forest preserve, near Riverside, between Forbes road and the Des Plaines river, and not far from the Riverside-Brookfield High school.

Find a Very Wary Foe.

"J. F." sent a note to Mr. Smith, giving intricate and minute directions for an emissary, who was instructed to place a package containing $8,000 in a hollow stump at this spot last Friday afternoon. The Secret Six executives, because of the wariness shown by the letter writer in avoiding their earlier traps, decided that superdetective methods would be necessary, and accordingly consulted the officials of the crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university.

The supertrap was laid according to a plan concocted by the Secret Six in conjunction with the laboratory. A decoy package was stuffed into the stump. Attached to the package was a string. Attached to the other end of the string was the "trigger" of the mousetrap. Under the spring of the trap was an explosive cap.

When the package was lifted the string sprung the mousetrap. Its spring set off the cap. The cap exploded a large can of flashlight powder. The explosion of the flashlight powder lighted a short fuse attached to a couple of sticks of dynamite. Instead of taking shelter behind convenient trees the Secret Six operatives who were to ambush the crook were to hide themselves in a little shanty several hundred yards away. This was to divert suspicion that the package was being watched.

Reader, Here's the Reason!

The theory behind these intricate preparations was this: Jamie was assured by the crime detection specialists that the brilliant explosion of the flashlight powder would dilate the suspect's eyes, blinding him for 30 seconds or more. The dynamite, it was explained, would serve the double purpose of giving him a mild case of shell shock and convincing him that he was surrounded by the Japanese army. The minions of the Secret Six would then sweep out of their ambush, presumably to find their quarry with hands upraised screaming "Kamerad."

The intricate scheme went off like clockwork. Secret Six operatives, accompanied by Police Chief Clarence C. Neuschafer of Riverside, settled down in their little house in the woods and waited for the extortionist to come to their mousetrap. They had about abandoned hope, after a 24 hour vigil, when, just as the new year arrived, the flashlight powder exploded with magnificent effect. There followed the sullen boom of the dynamite.

Now for the Big Moment.

Roaring "Halt, in the name of the law," the detectives pounded sturdily out of their hiding place and approached the stump with weapons drawn. There had been but one slip in their careful plan. The suspect, divining from the flash and roar of explosives that there was probably some unfriendly scheme afoot, had gone away in a great hurry, climbed into an automobile, and been driven off to safety.

Jamie said yesterday that his operatives had not anticipated that the extortionist would have an automobile waiting.

Details of the first two traps laid for the extortionist were also learned yesterday. In the first case, the Secret Six was instructed to have one of its operatives walk around and around the same block, in an undesignated portion of the city, dropping a package of money. If it was not gone when he made his next trip past the spot he was to pick it up, carry it along, and drop it again.

"Ouch, My Poor 'Dogs.'"

The drop the handerchief ritual was followed all one night, with watchers posted about the block. The only result was that the operative who dropped and picked up the decoy package had to consult a chiropodist the next day. He estimated that he had traveled 22 miles.

The crime detection laboratory assisted in laying the second trap. An extortion note to Mr. Smith had directed that the money be placed at another spot near Riverside. Instead of watching the spot, Jamie and his assistants, it is said, placed about the place some specially prepared earth concocted in the crime detection laboratory, with the objective of getting an accurate footprint of their quarry.

The place was left unwatched. The next morning the absence of the package showed that the extortionist had been there. But so, apparently, had a troop of Boy Scouts. The Secret Six found enough footprint evidence for a dozen extortion cases.

Workmen Driven from Jobs on Wheaton Postoffice

Labor Foreman Beaten and Kicked.

A mob of 200 men, armed with stones and shovels, yesterday drove four stone masons and six laborers from their work on the new postoffice building at Wheaton. E. H. Jeschke, a labor foreman, was beaten and kicked when he failed to move quickly in obeying the order to leave.

The mob is said to have been made up of idle men disgruntled over the employment of outsiders on the postoffice job. Employes of the general contractors, Schmidt Brothers Construction company, 22 East Huron street, admitted they had been warned to discharge the six nonresidents at work on the building.

Workmen Ordered Off Job.

Valentine Asquini of Chicago, who obtained the subcontract for the stone work, was busy with nine other workmen when the mob appeared. Its members had ridden to the postoffice site in automobiles.

"Get off the job," the leader told the workmen. All of the workers dropped their tools and departed with the exception of Jeschke, who paused to fasten a rope to a derrick with which he had been working.

Knocked Down and Kicked.

When the mob leaders tried to tear the rope from his hands Jeschke resisted. He was knocked down and kicked several times and then allowed to leave. The mob dispersed as four Wheaton policemen appeared on the scene.

Both Asquini and officials of the Schmidt company refused yesterday to say whether work would be resumed today. Wheaton officials described the disorder as a demonstration for Wheaton labor and said that the trouble was among employes of the building trades." It was indicated that no action was planned against the members of the mob.

Shrine Will Remit 1933 Dues as Aid to Members

The Chicago Shrine has voted to remit all 1933 dues and those unpaid for 1932 as a relief measure for its members, it was announced yesterday. The action will benefit 21,000 members of the organization. "We have more than $1,000,000 in our treasury," U. J. Herrmann, potentate of the Shrine, said yesterday, "and our decision really amounts to the declaration of a dividend from our surplus." He said that the dues allowed to go unpaid would total $300,000.

TWO MORE STATES RATIFY NORRIS' "LAME DUCK" AMENDMENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Indications that the present "lame duck" congress will be the last were strengthened today with the ratification by two more states of the amendment to the constitution to have the newly elected congress meet two months after election instead of thirteen.

Action by North Carolina and California brought to 19 the number of states favoring the amendment. Similar agreement by legislatures of the necessary 17 more states during their sessions beginning this month has been forecast.

GETS 1 TO 5 YEARS IN PRISON FOR DYNAMITE PLOT

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Hodak, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Michael Feinberg.

William McDaniels, conspiracy, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge John Prystalski.

William McDaniels, 55 years old, 5923 South May street, was sentenced to serve one to five years in the penitentiary yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to have dynamite in his possession. The maximum punishment was fixed by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court after he had heard the case without a jury.

The charge grew out of the investigation into the bombing of the home of Judge John P. McGoorty, 929 East 45th street, on the night of Sept. 20. Lee Wilbur Koeppen, 17 years old, was permanently blinded by the explosion.

Police were told that McDaniels owned a large quantity of dynamite. The explosive was found in the home of Norman and Oscar Ball, 1042 West 59th street, who said they were keeping it for McDaniels. The Ball brothers, co-defendants with McDaniels, were sentenced to one month each in the Bridewell.

Admits Owning Dynamite.

McDaniels admitted ownership of the 13½ sticks of dynamite found, saying he had purchased 20 sticks in Diamond, W. Va. He refused to tell what had become of the missing sticks or his purpose in having the dynamite in his possession. Police were unable to connect him with the bomb case.

McDaniels continued in his refusal to explain the dynamite yesterday and failed to take the stand. After fixing the punishment Judge Prystalski overruled all motions except the defense plea to vacate the sentence, for which he set a hearing for Jan. 11.

Judge Wants Explanation.

"I have not heard a word in explanation as to why you brought the dynamite from West Virginia," the judge said addressing McDaniels, "or to what use you expected to put it. If you wish to take the stand on Jan. 11 and tell me these things I might change your sentence."

McDaniels burst into tears as sentence was passed. With the completion of the trial police recalled the interest shown in the defendant by Shirley Kub, investigator for the Secret Six. Mrs. Kub visited McDaniels in his cell, police recalled, and gave him money and food. She did not reveal the reason for her interest in the prisoner, police said.

Mr. Butwanski Becomes a Foe of Hitch Hikers

Joseph Butwanski of 4249 Dearborn street, Hammond, a salesman, notified Brighton Park police last night that he would no longer pick up hitch hikers. Just a few minutes earlier, he said, a blonde, about 17 years old, and her boy companion, about 19, asked him for a ride at Cicero and Archer avenues. Butwanski said he accommodated them and they showed their gratitude by robbing him of $13 and his watch.

RECEIVER TO SHUT THE BLACKSTONE FOR RENOVATION

Closes Saturday; Plan Spring Reopening.

The Blackstone hotel, it was announced yesterday by Receiver Edwin L. Brashears, will be closed on Saturday for "a thorough renovation and rehabilitation." The receiver said the famous hotel would be completely modernized and reopened under a new management early in the spring, in time for the World's Fair.

That the Blackstone would be closed had been rumored for several weeks. It is said to be losing $16,000 a month. It went into receivership last July 7, with a first mortgage of $1,616,000 held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and a second mortgage of $275,000 held by the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, which also holds a chattel mortgage on the furniture and fixtures. In addition, the hotel owes taxes of approximately $150,000.

Receiver Brashears said the plan to close the hotel for rehabilitation had the approval of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, before whom foreclosure proceedings are pending, but he did not name the new management. It is considered likely, however, that the insurance company will bid in the property at the foreclosure sale, since it holds the first mortgage. Real estate men said it would be difficult to find a buyer willing to pay $1,616,000 for a bankrupt hotel.

"The Blackstone hotel, long considered the finest hotel in the west, will close on Saturday, Jan. 7, for a thorough renovation and rehabilitation," Mr. Brashears' statement said. "It is planned to reopen the hotel in the early spring—a completely modernized hotel under new management. Steps looking toward the renovation and reopening and the continuation of operation in ample time for the Century of Progress Exposition already have been taken."

The Blackstone was built in 1910 by John B. and Tracy Drake, sons of the elder John B. Drake who made the old Grand Pacific hotel famous.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In Tuesday's TRIBUNE it was stated that John Winer, 35 years old, a salesman, died of injuries received in an automobile accident. The man who died was Samuel Winer, 29 years old, of 4515 North Troy street, owner of the Randolph Printing company, 109 North Dearborn street.

It was incorrectly stated in yesterday's TRIBUNE that George Lytton presided at a dinner of the Bohemians in the Great Northern hotel. Rudolph Ganz presided.

Woman Gets Probation in Fire Insurance Plot

Mrs. Mary Joukas, 50 years old, 663 West 117th place, was placed on six months' probation yesterday by Judge George V. McIntyre on a charge of disorderly conduct. She had confessed to police that she attempted to burn a house she and her husband owned at 12246 South Union avenue, which is insured for $3,000. Probation was granted on the recommendation of Deputy State Fire Attorney C. E. Hoffmann. Vincent Mitchell, who lives in the house discovered the fire and extinguished it.

TENEMENT FIRE KILLS 2 PERSONS, 35 ARE SAVED

New York, Jan. 5 [Thursday].—[Special.]—Two persons were burned to death, five were carried to safety across a narrow ledge by a patrolman, and thirty others were carried down ladders early this morning when flames swept up the stairway of a five story tenement at Columbus avenue, near 90th street.

Many tenants screamed for help from their front windows, finding they were trapped. After giving the alarm Patrolman Vito Ferrare climbed to the second floor of an adjoining house and got Mrs. Margaret McMahon, 70; her husband, Robert, 75; Nicholas Sapenas, 34; his wife, Catherine, and their daughter, Mary, 9, across on a connecting ledge.

Firemen brought the blaze under control. They reported the discovery of two bodies on the top floor, one that of an elderly man and the other that of a woman about 38 years old.

Nebraska House Passes First Economy Measure

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Nebraska's house of representatives enacted its first economy measure by voting to draw no allowance for postage from the state.

Stock Taking Time

At the beginning of the year men should take stock of their wardrobes just as business houses always make an inventory of merchandise to determine their present worth. Those who have adhered to the better qualities will find that they have made a sound investment in distinctiveness, in durability and also in maintenance of personal appearance. Although during times of reduced incomes it may be necessary for one to limit variety, quality merchandise unquestionably is economy.

Men who can afford the best will find us well prepared to fulfil their most exacting requirements in Shirts to Measure and Haberdashery of superior character. These better qualities, like the best securities, are always found to be an asset when taking stock. One cannot consider lowering the character of his apparel any more than he can afford reducing his credit rating for they are correlative elements in business today.

COUNTY BOARD DEBATES CHARGE OF RELIEF WASTE

La Buy Would Call on Idle for Help.

Charges of waste and inefficiency in the administration of relief to the idle under the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, were made in a meeting of the county board yesterday by Commissioner Walter J. La Buy who submitted a resolution asking that educated and intelligent persons on the relief rolls be called upon to assist the heavily burdened case workers.

His criticisms were answered by Commissioners Amelia Sears and Marie Plumb. They declared that his resolution would injure the county's relief service by instituting political favoritism in giving relief. Commissioner Miller also warned against allowing politics to influence the administration of relief.

Probe Employés Politics.

The charges were made following an inquiry begun on Tuesday by the public welfare committee of the board into the political affiliations of employés of the county bureau of public welfare, which administers a major portion of the family relief to the idle. The county board took over final authority in the conduct of relief in the county from the state commission last Friday, following the granting of a federal loan directly to the county.

Commissioner La Buy's resolution declared that the administration of relief in the county has become wasteful because of its rapid growth under the case work system, under which applicants for relief are investigated. That system is no longer competent to handle the great need, he said. He suggested that persons receiving relief might assist case workers in more frequent investigations of the families on the relief rolls.

Defends Rations Errors.

As an instance of waste he declared that 6,000 rations orders written by the county bureau remained uncalled for during the last three months. Commissioner Sears declared that only 1,000 orders were not delivered and that that number was not an unusually large percentage of error when more than 150,000 families are involved. The resolution was referred to the public welfare committee.

Commissioner Sears also called for a new vote on the charity coal contract specifications adopted on Tuesday by the board. She asked that the restriction to Illinois coal be removed in order to allow competition in the bidding and to prevent possible collusion on the part of southern Illinois coal mine operators in fixing the prices to be bid. The specifications limit the bidding to coal from those fields. Her proposal was rejected by a vote of 12 to 2 after a heated argument.

Reply to Bishop Stewart.

The reply of the state relief commission to Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago was made public by that body yesterday. It answered Bishop Stewart's charge that discrimination was being made in increased allocations to the Catholic charities.

The letter, written by Omar H. Wright, secretary of the commission, stated that the commission had not exceeded its authority in adopting the policy of allowing the Catholic charities to administer relief to all Catholic families who desired that to be done. He said the commission felt the cost of administering such relief could be reduced in that manner.

BORRELLI OPENS WAR ON 42 GANG AUTO STRIPPERS

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 63; recovered, 125; stripped, 22 (from police records for the twenty-four hour period ending at midnight Tuesday, with the exception of recovered car figure, which is for the forty-eight period ending Tuesday).

Automobile case defendants: Arthur Mutcher and Julius Mapp, held to the grand jury for auto larceny, and William Ross, fined $25 and costs for the theft of an auto part. Cases before Judge H. P. O'Connell.

A new campaign to curb the automobile stripping activities of the "42" gang was begun yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in the Des Plaines street court. He asked the coöperation of Acting Captain Christopher J. Hughes of the Maxwell street station in rounding up members of the gang. Judge Borrelli's car was stolen for the second time a few weeks ago.

Lieut. George Teeling of the automobile detail yesterday discovered that an automobile parts shop at 3209 Archer avenue, recently closed by police as a suspected distribution center for stolen parts, had been reopened for business. He requested Capt. William Kennedy of the Brighton Park station to close the place again. The owner of the shop and several other persons are awaiting trial on the charge of selling stolen parts.

Charity Worker Asks More Federal Aid for Chicagoans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.] — Local relief agencies in Chicago and Illinois have reached the limit of their resources, Samuel A. Goldsmith, director of the Jewish Charities of Chicago, testified today before the senate manufactures committee.

Pending before the committee is the latest federal relief bill sponsored by Senators Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin radical, and manufactures committee chairman and Edward P. Costigan, radical Democrat of Colorado. The bill would authorize a half a billion dollar bond issue, the proceeds to be donated outright to the states for relief of the idle.

There are 800,000 idle workers in Chicago, or half the city's employable population, Mr. Goldsmith told the committee. The number of idle in Illinois is 1,400,000, he said, or two-fifths of the potential working population. The dollar spent for industrial wages in 1929, he declared, has shrunk to 28 cents in Chicago and to 37 cents in the state at large. In Cook county, Mr. Goldsmith testified, 230,000 families are receiving relief as compared with 97,000 families in 1931.

Prevent Suffering Only.

The social worker described how charity organizations instructions to their agents now specified that "the issue of clothing must be based solely on actual physical suffering, and not on the ground of pride or self respect."

He described also how the city of Chicago is four months behind on the wages owed its employés, owing 16 million dollars. He explained that the board of education was five months in arrears in teachers' salaries and seven months behind in the salaries of other employés, owing 22 million; and that Cook county was 5½ months behind in wages, owing five million dollars.

"We are in for a long stretch of this sort of thing," Mr. Goldsmith said. "Relief should be planned on a long range basis. I realize that relief won't end the depression, but it happens that the relief measures which have been taken are the only constructive steps which have been achieved."

He estimated that between 800 million and a billion dollars would be needed for relief in 1933.

"The situation in downstate coal counties, such as Franklin and Williamson, is terrific," he declared. "The state relief commission has done its best, but decent standards of living have simply vanished."

New York Asks Help.

William Hodson, director of the welfare council of New York City, told the committee that private agencies in New York had spent 18 millions on charity in 1932, as against 5 millions in 1930, and that public agencies had spent 57 millions in 1932, compared with 97 millions in 1930. Relief funds, he testified, were being used almost entirely to provide food and shelter.

Harry L. Hopkins, director of the emergency relief administration of New York, said 250,000 families in the state were receiving public charity and that 100,000 additional families would require help before the winter was over. Federal aid, he asserted, was imperative.

Canadian Railmen Petition Governor to Spread Work

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A petition has been forward to the Earl of Bessborough, governor general, on behalf of 7,000 railway engineers and firemen and 14,000 conductors, brakemen and others, pleading for readjustment of hours of employment so there will be more equitable distribution of work on the railways. The document asserts that approximately half the railway workers of Canada are jobless.

Average Age of Freshmen at N. U. Shows Decrease

The average age of freshman male students at Northwestern university is slightly more than 18 years, Dr. R. L. Clark, director of admissions, said yesterday. There has been a steady decrease in the median age of freshmen since 1919, he said. The average age of girls in the first year class has also decreased since 1919, he said, but not in equal proportion to that of the boys.

WELFARE GROUPS TO HOLD CLASSES FOR VOLUNTEERS

Enroll Men for Instruction in Aiding Needy.

The Chicago Council of Social Agencies yesterday announced a series of classes for instruction of the men who volunteer their services to the welfare groups which are distributing relief to the needy. The classes will be held on Monday and Friday nights for two weeks, beginning Jan. 23, at 203 North Wabash avenue.

"These classes will not constitute a training course such as would prepare one for paid employment in social work," explained Mrs. Edward O. Brown, director of the volunteer service.

Classes for Volunteers Only.

"It is designed only for those who are interested in hearing how the social agencies are meeting the situation and in learning how they themselves can help as volunteers."

The speakers will be executives of social agencies. They will tell how families needing relief are taken care of, what is being done for the homeless men and how delinquency among young people may be lessened. There will be a lecture on unemployment insurance and a description of recreational work done by settlements and in the park systems."

SPEED WELFARE DRIVE

Joseph T. Ryerson, chairman of the trades and industries division of Emergency Welfare fund campaign, yesterday issued an appeal to 2,500 business houses and industries to send in their reports of contribution pledges made by their employés.

Mr. Ryerson said that only 1,500 of the 4,000 firms which agreed to permit their employés to contribute as units have forwarded their pledges. Prompt receipt of these pledges, he added, would clear the way for final efforts to bring the total pledges to the needed $7,500,000.

In addition to the $12,500 previously donated by THE TRIBUNE company, employés yesterday sent pledges totaling $2,252. The staff of the Central Waxed Paper company subscribed $1,000 and an additional gift of $4,256 was made by the workers of Pullman, Inc., Pullman company, and Pullman Car and Manufacturing corporation.

GOV. BRYAN ILL; MAY GIVE UP CONTROL TO AID

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Lieutenant Governor Elect W. H. Jurgensen tonight said if he takes over the reins of state government after his inauguration tomorrow it will be upon the advice and invitation of Gov. Charles W. Bryan.

The new lieutenant governor made this clear when asked about rumors which bobbed up at the capitol today. A physician said the governor was much improved today. Mr. Bryan has been confined to the executive mansion since election day—Nov. 8—critically ill with pneumonia and heart disease.

"I positively would not do it without the governor's invitation," Jurgensen said. He said he had not conferred with the governor or any other legislators on the subject.

Government members, in reaction, condemned their own ministry and threatened to vote against it because of its lack of sympathy with the unemployed. A leader in this movement was R. A. Wright, Conservative front bencher and ranking member of important committees, and a former minister of education. The existence of the government was threatened within and without.

One More Bureaucracy.

By implication the government had promised to tackle the unemployment problem and find a way of starting new industries to absorb the idle army. Committees were appointed for this purpose, but nothing came from them. It began to look as if the position were permanent.

And on top of this there was the irritant effect of the creation of one more bureaucracy—and one trading on the misery of men. Clerks discharged from other government departments were taken in here and given jobs on a vast system of records and indexes, made examining officers and inspectors to scrutinize claims of the idle. A great organization was created and, sensitive about the cost of operating the scheme, the government would not publish administration costs. But the country knew what was happening and resented it, the taxpayer because this was not what he believed he should be taxed for, the idle man because he saw the offices run at the cost of himself and his family.

Before long, too, the unemployment funds were raided to build a hotel. It was an important hotel, and on a key site in Napier, the district wrecked by the disastrous earthquake almost two years ago, but it was still a hotel.

Money Runs Out.

That was not what the funds had been created for and more bitterness was aroused. Then the money began to run out. Principal cities could raise no more cash to aid their own unemployed and the state could give them no further advances. The only way was to turn back to the citizens again. So the system swung around the full circle, and state relief, having proved incompetent, city and town must appeal to the humanity of the people, to the age old warmth of fellowship and pity for those in distress.

"It is bad that man in our midst should be unemployed, but it is infinitely worse and is intolerable that women and children should go hungry," said Mayor Hislop of Wellington in a recent appeal for funds.

And so, dances, contests, processions and street days, the old methods of raising charity funds, return and the state scheme, which was to have taken over the responsibility, stands condemned as inefficient.

Honduras Reopens Port Closed During Rebellion

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The government today issued a decree reopening the west coast port of Amapala, which has been closed on account of the rebel uprising. An official report today said the rebels were in complete retreat and were nearing the Nicaraguan border.

"MOIST THROAT" FOUND SECRET OF COUGH RELIEF
Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny bottles continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."
Then these "bottles" get plugged up, phlegm accumulates, affording dangerous germs a breeding place. Your throat feels hot and dry. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.
Your cough will be cured only when the flow of the natural fluid is increased, loosening the phlegm so that it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely deaden the nerves . . . but don't get at the root of the trouble.
PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, which doctors have prescribed for many years, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of the throat's natural moisture and brings quick relief. It helps nature heal that cough from the inside out.
When you feel that warning dryness take a few spoons of PERTUSSIN. It's absolutely safe. Sold at all drug stores, 60¢.

The Tobacco Crop may be Short this Year—but that can't affect Chesterfield—why?

U. S. crop (average, 5 yrs., 1927-31) .	1,091,265,750 lbs.

The manufacturer of good cigarettes does not depend on any one year's crop. He knows that to keep up the quality of his brand, he has to carry on hand at all times a large stock of the right kinds of tobacco from several years' crops.

The domestic tobaccos are kept in large hogsheads, each containing about 1000 pounds, and are allowed to age for two full years—in other words, nature's method of curing the tobaccos. Something like ageing wine.

Liggett & Myers has about four and a half miles of warehouses used for storing leaf tobacco, to make sure that its products are uniform and are as good as can be made.

To do this requires a great deal of money—for example, there is invested in the domestic and Turkish tobaccos for Chesterfield Cigarettes over $75,000,000.

Smokers can be assured, regardless of the crop conditions, that Chesterfield will be absolutely uniform—the same yesterday, today, at all times. The cigarette that's milder—the cigarette that tastes better!

CHINESE SPURN JAPAN'S DEMAND FOR AN APOLOGY

Marshal Chang Refuses to Negotiate.

TOKIO, Jan. 4.—The ambassadors of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France, and Italy, who called on Foreign Minister Baron Yasuya Uchida, were told today that Japan is bending every effort to reach an amicable settlement of the Shanhaikwan incident.

Baron Uchida, explaining the clash which resulted in the Japanese seizure of the walled Chinese city after it had been laid in ruins by a terrific bombardment, placed the blame entirely on the provocative actions of Chinese regular troops. He accused Nanking of maliciously plotting the trouble after having passed an anti-Japanese resolution at the third session of the central executive committee a fortnight ago.

The government today also instructed Ambassador Debuchi at Washington to "explain" the Shanhaikwan incident to Secretary of State Stimson. Similar instructions were sent to the ambassadors to other world powers.

Serve Ultimatum on Chang.

Japan today served an ultimatum on Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, whom Japan ousted from the governorship of Manchuria and whose troops were involved in the Shanhaikwan fighting. The ultimatum contained three demands, as follows:

1. Chang must apologize to Japan.
2. The railway from Mukden must be extended to Shanhaikwan and control of the Shanhaikwan station must be turned over to Japan.
3. Shanhaikwan must be demilitarized into a neutral zone as far as Chinese and Manchukuo troops are concerned.

As long as these terms are not accepted, the Japanese will not withdraw from the area.

Confronted with these terms, which were conveyed by Lieut. Col. Awaihara, commander of the Japanese infantry corps at Peiping, Marshal Chang refused to treat with the Japanese. He declared bluntly that Japan should take up the matter with the Chinese government at Nanking. Chang said he saw no reason for accepting any terms of settlement, since the incident was caused by Japan in the first place.

Charge Chang Prepares for War.

Japanese reports declare that Marshal Chang is rushing military preparations and is sending additional troops, tanks, and ammunition to Shanhaikwan.

With Marshal Chang's stiff attitude and anti-Japanese agitation in Tientsin being aggravated, officials here are considerably alarmed. It is feared there may be disturbances at Tientsin and other Chinese ports. Fresh instructions were dispatched to consular officials in China today to do all in their power to restrict anti-Japanese agitations.

Dispatches from Shanhaikwan reported all quiet on the front today. The number of casualties in the fighting Monday and yesterday was still uncertain, estimates running from 500 to 2,000. Casualties among civilians, who were caught unprepared by the sudden Japanese bombardment, were very heavy. Japanese casualties were placed at 19 dead and 107 wounded.

U. S. Experts Fear New Conquests.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—American military authorities, watching the progress of the new Japanese offensive at Shanhaikwan, expressed the opinion today that Japan intends to take over Jehol, inner and outer Mongolia and a section of northern China.

Ultimately, the experts believe, Japan intends to penetrate Russian territory to the north on a comprehensive scale. The view advanced is that over a period of years Japan will have control of a new province that will extend far into Russian territory and will include Peiping and Tientsin, inner and outer Mongolia and Manchuria as well.

State department officials have been informed of the views of the military experts. Some department officials are ready to believe that Japan will shortly magnify her operations in the new theater of occupational war.

Envoy to Explain Today.

Officials declined to comment today, however, in the absence of complete details regarding the origin of the latest dispute. Katsuki Debuchi, Japanese ambassador to Washington, has arranged to call at the state department tomorrow to present the Japanese side of the Shanhaikwan fighting. He is also expected to inform Secretary of State Stimson that his government intends to localize the situation.

Up to closing time tonight, state department officials asserted no steps had been taken looking toward the dispatch of a new note of protest to Tokio. Officials said that even if a new note was to be sent, certainly nothing would be done pending the arrival of more details. Thus far Secretary Stimson has confined his comment to an informal statement that he stands on the position he took several months ago when he enunciated the Hoover doctrine of nonrecognition of territory obtained through aggression in violation of existing treaties.

Officials Study Situation.

Administration officials continued to study the new situation closely. Secretary Stimson spent much of the day reading reports and talking to advisers. President Hoover spent two hours this afternoon with Brig. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, a member of the Lytton commission which investigated the Manchurian situation for the league of nations. The army officer declined to discuss his visit with the President. He is still subject to call should the league ask for further action by the commission.

Prepare for Drive on Jehol.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Completion of the Japanese military drive through eastern Manchuria was expected in informed quarters today to divert a considerable number of troops southward to assist in an anticipated spring campaign in the province of Jehol.

The "pacification" of eastern Manchuria was reported completed with the occupation of Pogranichnaya, the railway center on the eastern Manchuria-Soviet Russia border, 100 miles from Vladivostok, by the Japanese Hirose division. It was understood that the soviet consul general there previously had agreed to the occupation by the Japanese.

This marked the first time that the entire Chinese Eastern railway, through the length of Manchuria, was placed under Japanese military control. Several weeks ago a similar drive was completed to Manchuli, at the northwest extremity of Manchuria. This wiped out the uprising of the Chinese general, Sup Ping-wen, who fled with his army into soviet Russia.

Bomb Mukden Railway Station.

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

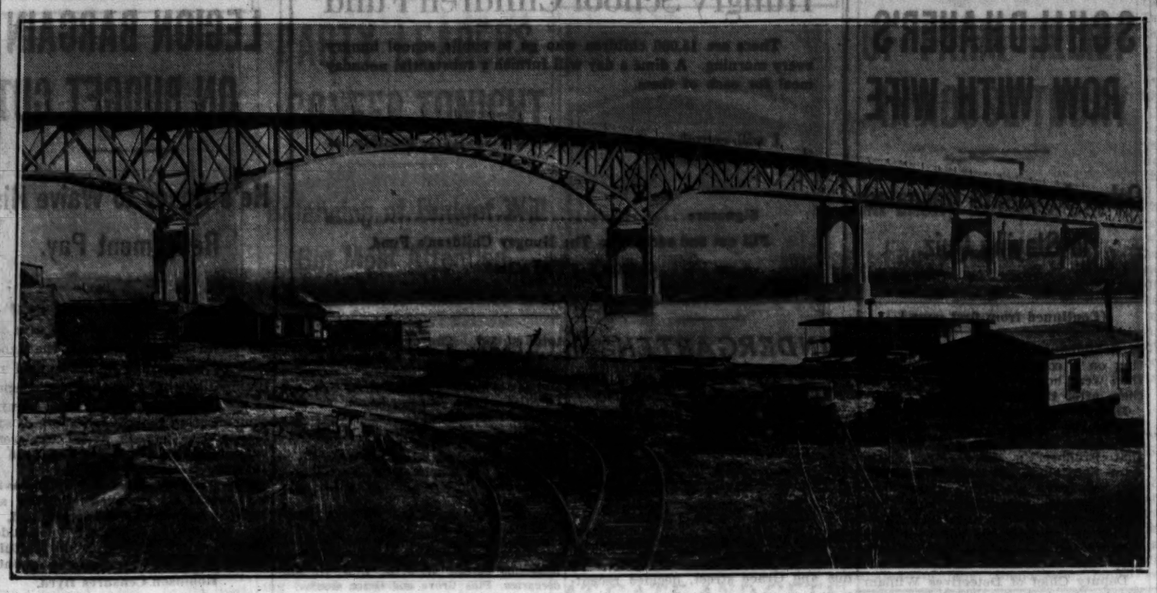
New Million Dollar Bridge at Peoria to Be Dedicated Today



The new million dollar span over the Illinois river between Peoria and East Peoria, which will be opened today in presence of many state officials. The center of the bridge is 100 feet above the water, providing clearance for all types of river traffic. The bridge is considered a model for other structures to be built over the Illinois waterway.

Invasion of Jehol May Give Japan Control of All China

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 4.—The name Jehol [pronounced "ra-ho"] stands for a Chinese province now much in the news due to Chinese-Japanese rivalries and military complications over the Manchurian question. It is believed the Shanhaikwan incident presages a Japanese conquest of the province. The word Jehol means "hot river," from which the province gets its name.

For at least 2,000 years Jehol province provided a buffer state between China proper and Manchuria. The late Manchu emperor, Kang Hsi, selected Jehol City, the provincial seat of government, as his summer capital and for many years was accustomed to spending the warm season in the Jehol mountains.

Dominates North China.

When the nationalists came into power in 1927 they changed the political status of the Jehol "special administrative district" into a regular province and gave it to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang of Manchuria to rule along with the three northeastern provinces of Fengtien, Kirin, and Heilungkiang. Marshal Chang turned it over to Gen. Tang Yu-ling, one of his subordinates, to rule.

Now again Jehol serves as a buffer state between China proper and Manchuria. The Japanese controllers of Manchukuo feel they must control Jehol in order to consolidate their power, while the Chinese rightly feel that Japanese control of Jehol would mean Japanese domination of Peiping and Tientsin as well as all territory north of the Yellow river.

Governor Remains Loyal.

When the Japanese armies occupied Mukden and other Manchurian cities in September last year, Gen. Honjo, Japanese commander, included the name of Gen. Tang Yu-ling, governor of Jehol, as one of the Chinese officials friendly to the Japanese.

And Gen. Tang apparently did pretend to be friendly, for he thought the rest of Manchuria had gone over to the Japanese without a struggle. Later on, however, Gen. Tang became indefinite in his attitude toward the Japanese.

Late in 1931 Gen. Tang's position became precarious when Gen. Honjo made his drive on Chinchow, just east of the Jehol border in Fengtien province. Japanese occupation of the northern section of the Peiping-Mukden railway from Shanhaikwan to the Manchurian capital, plus Japanese occupation of the Chinese-built railway running northward from Tahushan to Tungliao, gave the Japanese armies access to the mountain passes along the southern and eastern borders of Jehol. But, aside from the air bombing of border towns, Gen. Honjo did not venture into the province. He attempted a bolder plan—intrigue among the Mongolian princes of northern Jehol.

Honjo's Envoy Slain.

Col. Siesuke Matsui, Japanese staff officer, was supplied with ample funds and sent into the border district between Jehol and Inner Mongolia with instructions to swing the Mongolian princes to the Japanese banner and against Gen. Tang. By the middle of last February Col. Matsui had succeeded in gaining the support of several of the princes, but as he marched into the town of Kenuayingtse at the head of a Mongolian force of some 400 the Mongols rebelled and murdered their Japanese leader.

Due to his fight with the loyalist Chinese commander, Gen. Ma Chan-shan, in Heilungkiang province, Gen. Honjo was forced to give up the idea of conquering Jehol for the time being.

Jehol thus continued as a source of complications for the Japanese military controllers of Manchuria, due to the fact that the mountain passes of the district provided a route for Chinese volunteers and so-called "bandits" to enter Manchuria and harass the Japanese rear. It is to put a stop to this, it is believed, that the present Japanese activities at Shanhaikwan were launched.

REVEAL EFFORT TO OUST HEADS OF PURE MILK ASS'N

Movement Is Begun in McHenry County.

BY PAUL POTTER.

An effort to wrest the control of the Pure Milk association from its officers and to center its control in the hands of cow dealers and farmers opposing the tuberculin test was brought to light yesterday. The Pure Milk association is the bargaining agency for 16,587 dairy farmers in 30 counties supplying Chicago and its suburbs with milk.

The movement already has been under way in McHenry county, and will be the central theme today at the annual Kane county district meeting of dairymen at the St. Charles High school at 2 p. m.

Will C. McQueen, a farmer near Elgin, who for four years has been president of the Pure Milk association, is being opposed for reëlection as district director from Kane county by a cow dealer, Arthur Hartman of Hampshire. The election has aroused sentiment among dairymen in three states who see the move as an effort to gain control of the marketing organization which favored tuberculin free milk for Chicago.

Last week in a local election among dairymen at Harvard, Albert Peal, McHenry county farmer, was removed from office as president of the Harvard unit of the Pure Milk association, and his place taken by Louis Peterson. Peterson and George Whipple, elected secretary of the Harvard unit, both have opposed existing policies of the association. Whipple took an active part in the fight to prevent Chicago from obtaining milk from cattle free from tuberculin.

BLAZE WRECKS LUMBER YARD.

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the yards of the Illmo Lumber company here last night, causing damage estimated by Fred Blumenkamp, president of the company, of between $125,000 and $150,000.

AUTHOR ADMITS ANTI-HOOVER BOOK MISLEADS

Only Hostile Data Used, He Tells Court.

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—John Hammil, author of the book "Strange Career of Mr. Hoover — Under Two Flags," repudiated the book on the witness stand before Supreme Court Justice Schmuck today. He testified in a suit brought by James J. O'Brien, ex-policeman, who financed the book, against Hammil and the publisher, William Faro, Inc., for accounting of the profits.

Used During Campaign.

The Hammil book contained material used against President Hoover in the recent campaign and reference to an affidavit of repudiation had been made by the President in one of his speeches. An affidavit of 129 pages was signed by Hammil on June 4, last, but was not made known until today when Hammil was called to testify on his own behalf. The affidavit stated that while the material gathered by Hammil for use in the book contained statements that were true in themselves, they were used in such a way as to lead to false conclusions concerning the President.

Hammil Explains Further.

In the affidavit Hammil said it was prepared over a considerable period of time with the aid of Charles P. Kramer, a lawyer who appeared for him at the trial. His statements were taken down in shorthand by a "corps of stenographers" and then transcribed into the form of an affidavit, every page of which Hammil signed. In concluding it, he said the repudiation was an act of his own free will and not due to the receipt of any offer of gain.

Hammil said O'Brien claimed friendship with Chairman John J. Raskob and other leaders of the Smith campaign and with Alfred E. Smith himself.

Says Record Clears Hoover.

The affidavit told of O'Brien promising to get financial backing for a book that would "tear down" Mr. Hoover's political career. Hammil said he told O'Brien that he was going to England in a few months to visit his family and agreed to examine court records in London and also to visit Belgium in attempting to get material against the President.

Hammil said that in his inspection of court records in London concerning corporations in which Mr. Hoover had been interested, he uncovered facts which were derogatory when used alone, but which were not damaging when read with the complete record.

EVANSTON PUTS ITS 'EIRMA MONEY' INTO CIRCULATION

No One Loses, Yet City Gains by Plan.

"Eirma money" to the amount of $1,087 went into circulation in Evanston yesterday, and members of the Evanston Independent Retail Merchants' association, backers of the certificates, began the purchase of special two cent stamps with which to send the money into retirement as soon as possible.

The scheme is proceeding somewhat haltingly and members of an Aurora Business Men's association, who came to Evanston to study its working, were told to come back in a week or ten days in order to get a fair verdict.

Some Hard to Con ince.

Ald. Samuel Parsons of the 1st ward took the first $100 worth of the scrip and the rest was parceled out at the four fire stations to firemen who planned to pay their bills with it. City departments will accept the money, as the retirement stamps will be used to buy tax anticipation warrants, and the city is the only gainer by the whole transaction. This, however, is not understood in many quarters, and the merchants' organization has a job ahead of it in persuading their own members to go into the plan wholeheartedly.

"You can't make two dollars out of one," said one stubborn restaurant keeper to an Eirma salesman.

"Real" Dollars in Bank.

"This is not doing so," was the reply. "This Eirma certificate is merely a statement that a real dollar is in the bank to make it good when the fiftieth two cent stamp is affixed."

"Well, it costs me two cents each time a man makes a purchase here and uses one of these dollars, doesn't it?"

"Yes, but you get your money back."

"How do I get my money back?"

"The money you spend in stamp purchases is used to buy tax warrants and these warrants will be distributed to you and other stamp buyers in direct proportion to purchase of the trade stamps."

"Well, I don't understand it yet," was the final word of the restaurant man.

No One Loses, but City Gains.

And so the city fathers are running around town trying to make people understand that nobody loses anything, and that the city gains a lot, getting ready money to keep its credit sound and pay its way.

The smaller merchants who are backing this plan are acting in the hope that it will drive trade their way in increasing volume, and the sponsors of the plan at association headquarters feel assured that the backward merchants will have to come in eventually or lose trade. At least it is now in the working stage and the theory of this sort of new money will soon have a volume of facts to support or reject it.

JUVENILE COURT UNDER FIRE IN BOY RAPE CASE

Circuit Judge Stirred by Unfavorable Publicity.

The judges of the Circuit court at their next meeting will take official cognizance of the manner in which so-called juvenile delinquents of the type of James [Iggy] Varecha and Sigmond Bukovitz, both 17 years old and both robber-rapists, are handled in the Juvenile court by Judge Mary Bartelme. Chief Justice Philip J Finnegan of the court made this announcement yesterday.

Judge Bartelme, who has been on a vacation in California, is scheduled to return next Monday. The meeting of the judges will be held on Jan. 27, and unless some amicable arrangement is made between the Juvenile court and Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court before that time the judges, so Judge Finnegan said, will formally discuss the situation and decide what to do.

Judges Protest Publicity.

The Circuit judges have exclusive jurisdiction over the Juvenile court, with authority to assign or transfer the judge presiding over that court.

Several of the judges already have made protests to the chief justice, it was admitted, regarding the unfavorable publicity brought on the Circuit court as a result of the exposure of the series of violent crimes committed by the "graduates" of the Juvenile court system. One judge, it was announced, had said that in his opinion "there is too much mollycoddling of the so-called juvenile delinquents."

Chief Justice Prystalski opened the fight against the present system of the Juvenile court of sending youthful criminals to Dixon, where, as the Juvenile court authorities know, escape is easy. He was backed in the fight yesterday by Attorney Frank J. Loesch, veteran president of the Chicago Crime commission, and First Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer.

Urge Prisons for Criminals.

"The commission had that subject up a short while ago," said Mr. Loesch. "Dixon seems to be an improper place to send the criminally inclined, so-called delinquent defectives. Dixon is a hospital for feeble minded and has no provisions for incarcerating the recalcitrant youths from the Juvenile court."

"It appears to me that more attention should be paid to the crimes committed in deciding what to do with the criminal, whether he be young or old," said Prosecutor Niemeyer. "Too much attention is paid to the probable mental status of defendants.

"If a person is a chronic offender against the law he should be punished as such. Certainly it does not seem right that youthful offenders, who have demonstrated time and again that they will not obey and are not amenable to correction, should be sent to the least protected of institutions. If these so-called juvenile delinquents will not stay in places like St. Charles school they will not voluntarily stay in an unprotected hospital for the feeble minded."

Records Kept Secret.

The prosecutor pointed out, as did Judge Prystalski, that in both the Varecha and Bukovitz cases, the Juvenile court authorities knew at the time they sent the youths to Dixon that they were chronic "runaways" from other institutions. Mr. Niemeyer said he will order a check-up of all so-called delinquents sent to Dixon.

Mr. Niemeyer said the records of the Juveline court, which are kept secret under Judge Barthelme's administration, should be made available to the criminal courts so that the prosecutors can have the benefit of the background of such defendants in deciding what is best to do in each case.

An example of how the Juvenile court, and the social workers connected either directly or indirectly with it, insist on keeping jurisdiction over its wards, no matter how many crimes they may have committed, is shown by the records in the Varecha case. Four times before he ended his career with an orgy of twenty-five robberies, two rapes and a murder, "Iggy the Bad One," as the police call him, was up in the Boys' court for shooting at men on the street.

Miss Binford Aids Iggy.

Miss Jessie Binford of the Juvenile Protective association called Judge Brooks in the Boys' court and told him that Iggy should be sent to the Juvenile court instead of the criminal court for trial. Miss Binford admitted that she had not even investigated Iggy's case before she called the judge. The youth was sent to the Juvenile court and from there to the hospital for feeble minded at Dixon. He walked away from Dixon as he had done several times before, and then started on the series of crimes which caused Judge Prystalski to sentence him to the electric chair.

Attorney Clarence Darrow is to appear before Judge Prystalski today and attempt to persuade him to change the death sentence.

Ontario Promises Workers Unemployment Insurance

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Ontario government views proposals for general unemployment insurance with sympathy and will seek to have the scheme in operation at the earliest possible moment, Premier George S. Henry told a delegation of the Ontario executive of the trades and labor congress today.

"Doctor" Seized in Death of Girl

ARREST "DOCTOR" AFTER DEATH OF A CABARET GIRL

Uncover Evidence of Illegal Operation.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

"Dr." Sherman Lewis, alias James W. Littlefield, of 909 Wilson avenue, was held by police yesterday pending continuance of an inquest into the death of Miss Dorothy Waters, 20 years old. Miss Waters, a dancer and entertainer, formerly lived at 6234 Giddings street, and used the stage name of "Babe Lee." She was found dead in Lewis' apartment early yesterday.

A written report of Dr. Jacob Goodman, coroner's physician, following an autopsy, concluded: "In my opinion death was due to peritonitis following an abortion."

An inquest was begun in the morning at the Coombs McCready undertaking establishment at 4506 Sheridan road, but was continued for further investigation until Jan. 11. This was before the physician's report was introduced as testimony.

Refuses to Talk.

Following the hearing Lewis was taken by police of the Town Hall station to the state's attorney's office, where Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty attempted to question him. Lewis, however, refused to talk.

Because of letters found in Lewis' Wilson avenue apartment, Assistant State's Attorney Dougherty called authorities in Milwaukee and asked for assistance in tracing the writer, who apparently was a Milwaukee resident.

"The letters found by the police in the Lewis apartment indicate that the writer sent Dorothy Waters to Dr. Lewis and that he has sent 30 or 40 others to him from Wisconsin," said Dougherty later. "The letters indicated Dr. Lewis did a rushing business here, making about $1,700 a week."

Tells of Another Business.

Lewis lived in the Wilson avenue apartment under the name of James W. Littlefield. He was questioned briefly by Deputy Coroner Emil Selten at the inquest, as to the use of the two names. He said he used the name of Littlefield in another business, that of "re-inking multigraph ribbons."

As Sherman T. Lewis he was graduated from the Chicago Medical college in 1892. On April 17, 1928, his Wisconsin license to practice medicine was revoked after a conviction of manslaughter. Previously he had been acquitted of a charge of manslaughter growing out of an alleged illegal operation. In October, 1931, he was again charged with manslaughter in Milwaukee in connection with the death of Mrs. Arlene Reeves, 30 years old, of 1518 South 57th street, West Allis, Wis.

Is Wanted in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee authorities said yesterday that Lewis is wanted there on a warrant issued in 1931 charging manslaughter.

During the inquest Lewis said that he is 60 years old. He said he practiced in Denver, but since coming to Chicago had not practiced. He is not licensed in Illinois.

The dead girl's father, John Waters, 6234 Giddings street, a foreman in a die casting corporation, told the coroner's jury he last saw his daughter four months ago in Milwaukee, where she was working as a cabaret entertainer. She attended the Carl Schurz High school.

W. H. Barnard Appointed Flossmoor Police Chief

Willis H. Barnard, who recently retired on a pension from the Chicago police force with the rank of lieutenant, has been appointed chief of police of Flossmoor. He succeeds Edward Dugdale, whose resignation was accepted by the village board. Chief Barnard was a member of the Chicago force for 26 years.

REPORT DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FINISHED $800,000 IN THE RED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Democratic campaign that put Franklin D. Roosevelt in the White House sent the party's finances into the red to the tune of nearly eight hundred thousand dollars, according to a final campaign expenditures report filed today with the clerk of the house.

The report showed total receipts amounting to $1,708,507; listed expenditures of $1,638,177, and claimed a cash balance on hand of $70,330.

But it likewise showed that the committee has obligations as yet unpaid amounting to $839,385. Deducting the cash balance from this total of unpaid obligations indicates a deficit of $769,055.

The largest unpaid items were bills due for broadcasting, telegraph service, hotel expenses, and railroad fares. A large portion of the indebtedness was made up, however, of amounts borrowed from prominent individuals in the Democratic party.

Among the unpaid obligations were debts of $90,250 to John J. Raskob; $50,000 to Joseph P. Kennedy of New York; $10,000 to Henry Morgenthau of New York; $25,000 to R. W. Morrison, San Antonio, Tex.; $10,000 to Breckinridge Long, Washington; $15,000 to Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, and $80,000 to the County Trust company of New York.

The committee owed bills of $107,571 to the National Broadcasting company; $47,650 to the Columbia Broadcasting company; $22,318 to the Biltmore hotel, New York; $12,647 to the Western Union Telegraph company; $15,296 to the New York Telephone company, and $17,698 to the New York Central railroad for the Roosevelt special which carried the Democratic candidate on his speaking tours through the country.

Fish Rot on Ships in Dutch Harbors as Workers Strike

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 4.—Fifteen hundred Dutch fishing boats are idle in Dutch harbors and a fish famine is threatened as a result of a strike by crews who refused to accept pay cuts. Thousands of dock workers today joined the strikers and valuable catches of numerous German and English fishing boats cannot be unloaded and are rotting.

GIRL DISCLOSES SCHILDHAUER'S ROW WITH WIFE

Other Incidents Revealed in Slaying Quiz.

to Schildhauer. I went to sleep sitting on a sofa for a short time and then went home. I never saw any of them after that night."

Miss Holland said she recalled mention of the alleged Memphis trip. She said Mrs. Schildhauer had told her that Bradberry's sister, Mrs. Katherine Showalter, 130 East 63th street, had an extra excursion ticket and that she was going with Mrs. Showalter. On Tuesday night Mrs. Showalter denied that she had ever seen Mrs. Schildhauer or ever talked with her.

Deputy Chief of Detectives William Blaul, who had obtained information from lodgers in the building where the Schildhauers resided, was closeted with Bradberry while Miss Holland was making her statement.

"Whose pajamas were you wearing that night you were dragged out of bed?" Blaul was heard to ask Bradberry, and then was heard to declare that he knew Bradberry was lying. Soon Blaul was questioning Bradberry about "Frances."

Find Second Bradberry Gun.

Another phase of the investigation of Bradberry was the discovery in his home of a revolver. On Tuesday night Bradberry had told the police that he had given his revolver to Louis Collins, a deputy sheriff, about Dec. 1 and had borrowed it from Collins a week later. Collins denied that Bradberry had borrowed the gun and this was one of the contradictions that led to the police decision to hold Bradberry.

Collins turned the gun he got from Bradberry over to the police and yesterday the second revolver was found in Bradberry's home. Both guns had been cleaned recently, according to the police.

Bradberry's automobile was seized during the day by Sergts. Charles Reynolds and Francis Donohue of the coroner's office. Coroner's Chemist Clarence Muehlberger said certain stains on the car might be blood.

Later, when Bradberry was before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court on the habeas corpus petition, Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty mentioned a substance found in the car which he said might be brain tissue. He said it would take 48 hours to make tests. Judge Prystalski said he would allow the police to retain custody of Bradberry until tomorrow.

Bradberry's Wife Quizzed.

Bradberry's wife, Mrs. Eula Bradberry, told the investigators that she left her husband last October and went to Texas. Upon her return, she said, she learned he had been in Memphis between Oct. 21 and 26.

Interviewed at her home last night, Mrs. Bradberry defended her husband, but admitted she knew that "he ran around with other women." The Bradberrys have two children.

"He's been mixed up with other women and it's got him into a lot of trouble," said Mrs. Bradberry, "but I know he didn't have anything to do with the killing of Schildhauer.

"Now they're talking about blood stains in the car. Why, many times I have carried chickens in the car and blood stains have gotten on the floor as a result. Besides, we have two small children and the way they act in the car they might easily have cut themselves. That would account for these so-called stains."

No information was received by the police during the day concerning the whereabouts of Paul Walton, a disbarred lawyer whom witnesses described as a friend of Mrs. Schildhauer.

KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN HELP HUNGRY PUPILS

Save Pennies for Those Less Fortunate.

A group of children of the Anahe Emet kindergarten, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, decided recently that too many children were going to other schools hungry.

They consulted with their teacher and were told they might bring their spare pennies to school to form a special fund.

Hope to "End Hunger."

Yesterday the members of the class, whose ages range from 3 to 6 years, sent $1 to the Hungry School Children's fund, along with a hope, expressed in the words of one 4 year old, that "there won't be any more hungry children."

In the same mail was a check for $10.12 from another industrious juvenile group. The four departments of the Oak Park Christian church Sunday school took up that amount as their Thanksgiving offering and decided to contribute it to the Hungry School Children's fund. A monthly donation of $5 was pledged by Mrs. Merlin A. Muth, who sent her first installment.

$30.00—A Friend to Children.
$10.12—Four departments of the Oak Park Christian church Sunday school, as their Thanksgiving offering.
$10.00—W. P. T., Anonymous, Philip Morris, "In Memory of M. G. H. C."

Judge Kickham Scanlan of the second division of the Appellate court yesterday appointed John A. Sbarbaro, former Municipal judge, as his master in chancery. Attorney Sbarbaro succeeds Attorney Archie Cohen in the post. Attorney Sbarbaro announced after his appointment that he had been supported by 46 of the 50 Republican ward committeemen in the city and by all the country town committeemen in the county.

BYRD OFFERS LEGION BARGAIN ON BUDGET CUT

He's Ready to Waive His Retirement Pay.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Byrd's offer to give up his naval status "and all that goes with it"—including $4,200 annual retirement pay—if the American Legion would change its tactics on veterans' compensation tonight fell short of satisfying the famous aerial explorer's outspoken critic, Senator Robinson of Indiana.

The "strings attached" by the aviator should be removed and the annuity surrendered, Robinson said, if the aviator has "finally concluded that he is not entitled to the gratuity bestowed on him by the government."

Robinson Censures Byrd.

Because of Byrd's activities as chairman of the National Economy league, which has advocated before the joint congressional committee reductions of $450,000,000 annually in veterans' expenditures, Robinson said in the senate yesterday "to be sincere" the explorer should return his retirement pay.

Byrd in his statement today explained he was an officer subject to emergency duty. If the American Legion, he asserted, "which the senator represents, will favor before congress the repeal of that dangerous, costly law which grants pensions to veterans of all our wars who received no injury or disability from war service, I am ready to forfeit my position and pay."

After reading this statement, Robinson observed, "If I understand Admiral Byrd's statement, he now offers to surrender his pension of $4,200, provided the government will do a grave injustice to thousands of disabled veterans by depriving them of their allowances and vested rights."

Resents Pension Charge.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd tonight characterized as a "blow below the belt" a statement by Senator Robinson of Indiana that he was receiving a pension.

Admiral Byrd said in reply: "First: The senator's repeated statements that I am getting a pension is a blow below the belt, for I am not on the pension list nor am I a pensioner. It is inconceivable that any sane man, who is himself a pensioner, would attempt to reduce the pensions of others, as the senator, in effect, has accused me of doing.

"Secondly: The National Economy league stands firm for adequate care and liberal compensation of really war disabled veterans but opposes waste of people's money in veterans' unwarranted costs. I am doing what I think is right and I won't be stopped."

Be Sensible about the FLU

With every epidemic of influenza comes an epidemic of advice. But if you have the flu—or you even suspect its presence—there's just one thing to do. Call a doctor immediately.

There are, however, some simple and sensible precautions everyone should take at this time. Try to keep in good physical condition. Guard against colds or sore throat by avoiding contact with all coughers and sneezers. The germs of disease will often fasten upon the man or woman whose vitality has been lowered by a severe cold.

If you should catch a cold, Bayer Aspirin will help fight it. Keep a supply of these tablets in the house and take them according to directions at the first sign of any cold. Crush three Bayer Aspirin tablets in half a glass of water and gargle as directed, if there is any soreness of the throat.

Above all, don't delay calling your doctor if you have reason to suspect that you may have caught the flu.

ASSERT BRITON PLOTS AGAINST U. S. SHIPPING

Charge of Sir Alan Anderson Answered.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The recent charge of Sir Alan Anderson, British shipping magnate, that the United States was disrupting world shipping and hurting itself financially through the payment of huge subsidies to its ocean fleet precipitated a storm at today's session of the sixth national conference of the merchant marine.

Several speakers assailed the Anderson charges as inaccurate and misleading. On all sides the move on the part of Sir Alan was attacked as a part of a foreign move to scuttle the American merchant marine in the interests of the shipping of other powers. While admitting that the United States pays out approximately $22,000,000 annually in subsidies, spokesmen for the shipping board and private interests asserted these were necessary to keep American ships on the high seas in competition with more cheaply operated foreign vessels.

Asserts Millions Wasted.

The storm over Anderson's charges was provoked by the latter's assertion that the United States had dumped cheap shipping services into the world shipping field to the detriment of all shipping interests. Sir Alan had stated at an annual meeting of the Orient line, of which he is chairman of the board, that American taxpayers had given 3 billion dollars to various shipping lines in the last twelve years which could have been saved had they patronized foreign shipping instead. He criticized the American people for refusing to be paid their war debts in shipping services.

Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the United States shipping board opened the session with the charge that foreign efforts are being made to scuttle the American merchant marine.

"The would-be scuttlers fall into two groups," he said, "those who know what they are doing and those who are the innocent dupes of master minds. The scuttlers are opposed to American shipping. They prefer to have foreign trade carried in foreign bottoms so that the hundreds of millions in rich revenue from world shipping would go to our foreign competitors. Rather than have the government aid the merchant marine by a modest outlay each year they would prefer, in time of national peril, to see this country spend billions of dollars in an overnight effort to meet a vital emergency.

Attack Mail Contracts.

"An attempt is made to justify these attacks on the ground of economy. The persons making the attacks claim that the country could save twenty-five million dollars a year by abolishing the ocean mail contracts. In urging this claim they disregard the other side of the ledger. If they looked at the other side they would see that hundreds of millions of dollars stand to the credit of the nation every year from the possession of a strong merchant marine.

"This sum is spread out through our 48 states and benefits both labor and industry. To abolish the ocean mail contracts is to abolish the merchant marine."

Attacking the Anderson statement, Senator Royal Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] asserted it was hypocritical. He said that every informed person knew that Great Britain had spent large sums as subsidies for her merchant marine. The New York senator also warned that an attempt was being made by the British chamber of shipping to "stack the deck against American shipping" at the international economic conference to be held at London. He said the chamber had submitted recommendations urging that the British government work at the parley for removal of subsidies on shipping.

"Much of the present fight to withdraw government assistance from our merchant fleet," Mr. Copeland said, "is due to the machinations of foreign competitors."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The 250 million dollar warship construction program worked out by the navy general board for the 1934 fiscal year has failed to secure the indorsement of the Hoover administration, it became known today. Unless some unforeseen development in foreign relations comes up President Hoover will neither approve the board report nor ask congress to authorize any of the ships which it includes.

This year the board chose to ignore economic conditions, taking the position that its task was to recommend the program needed to start the navy on the way toward fleet parity with Great Britain and treaty ratio with Japan. The decision as to whether the program should be recommended to congress was left to Secretary of the Navy Adams and President Hoover.

IN BANKRUPTCY

NITA NALDI.

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Nita Naldi, former motion picture actress, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, it was disclosed today. In the petition, filed under the name of Nita Barclay on Dec. 30, she described herself as an unemployed actress with no assets except wearing apparel and personal jewelry. She retired from pictures several years ago when she became the wife of J. Searle Barclay. She returned to New York several months ago from Paris and appeared in the "Fire Bird," a play which closed last Wednesday.

DETECTIVE TEAM IS SEPARATED AFTER 17 YEARS

Allman Shifts Four Police Captains.

Sergts. Peter M. Bernacchi and James W. Coleman, who for 17 years have worked as a detective team on the near south side, especially in the 22d street district, were transferred by Police Commissioner Allman last night to outlying stations 27 miles apart. The two men formed the oldest team combination on the force, and were known to their associates as "the twins."

The transfer order issued by the commissioner affected several other members of the department. Supervising Captain John P. Horan was removed as chief of the traffic bureau and assigned to command of the 5th division with headquarters at the Shakespeare avenue station. In his new post he takes the place of Capt. Daniel Gilbert, who is now chief investigator for the state's attorney. At the traffic bureau Capt. Horan will be succeeded in command by Lieut. David Flynn as acting supervising captain, two grades above his regular rank. Three other captains, nine other lieutenants, two sergeants, five patrolmen and two police phone operators were transferred in the order, which is effective today.

Partners Moved Far Apart.

From the day Coleman and Bernacchi were paired as a detective team 17 years ago they had not been separated. They engaged in countless battles with hoodlums, broke up many minor gangs, and made themselves a two man force along 22d street and in Chinatown. They both studied the Chinese language in order to gather evidence. As a result they gained the first conviction in Chicago of Chinese gamblers.

Three Other Captains Shifted.

The captains besides Horan who are reassigned are William H. Killeen, Daniel A. Lynch, and Joseph M. Johnson. Killeen is withdrawn as head of the bureau of criminal information and statistics and sent to the detective bureau. Capt. Lynch of Pekin Inn succeeds him, and Capt. Johnson of the detective bureau succeeds Lynch.

The nine lieutenants transferred in addition to Flynn are: John L. Sullivan, Maurice J. Byrne, Joseph Ronan, Ernest Mueller, Edward Kelliher, Maurice J. Wall, Michael Lahart, Louis Klatzko, and Mathew J. Hoff. Lieut. Sullivan served for several months as police chief of Cicero.

"DUPE" WRITTEN AFTER NAME ON MESSAGE; SUES

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 4.—(AP)—To Herbert J. Ernst "suspected dupe" are fighting words, particularly when they are written after his name on a telegram.

Such a telegram was delivered to Ernst at a hotel and he promptly sued for $3,000 to atone for humiliation and injured feelings.

Explained a telegram company official: "The phrase 'suspected dupe' has no bearing on Mr. Ernst's character. In office parlance it merely indicated to us the telegram may be a duplication."

ROOSEVELT AND PARTY LEADERS CONFER TONIGHT

Balancing of Budget Will Get Most Attention.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, entering tomorrow night into a conference with the outstanding Democratic leaders of congress, does not expect any detailed program of legislation to result from the meeting.

It was learned today that Mr. Roosevelt's attitude is one of simply "talking things over" with his party leaders in congress, and that he is not expecting to give them any orders on what he would propose for the solution of the vital matters now pending before congress.

Seek President Elect's Views.

Reports from Washington indicated that Speaker Garner, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic senate leader, and the others coming here for the conference, are hopeful of obtaining from the President elect a rather definite idea of what their policy should be on such important questions as the balancing of the budget, the passage of beer and farm relief legislation, and governmental economy.

But the President elect has made it plain to his intimates here that he views the conference more in the light of an exchange of ideas.

Woodin is Caller.

Mr. Roosevelt is known to regard the balancing of the budget as the most vital thing before congress at this time, and he expects that most of the discussion will revolve around that problem.

The Roosevelt house on East 65th street was besieged with a host of callers today, and every minute of the President elect's time was occupied. Among the principal visitors was William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry company, and regarded as one of the Roosevelt advisors from the conservative wing of the party.

Mr. Woodin discussed the problems of the American railroads with the President elect.

WIFE ACCUSES HUSBAND AND OTHER WOMAN

Mrs. Florence Butler Kilbourne, 414 Linden avenue, Oak Park, yesterday filed an amended bill for divorce in the Circuit court, alleging misconduct by her husband, Don B. Kilbourne, and Mrs. Neva Edwards, 1508 East Oak street, Evanston. The bill was filed by Mrs. Kilbourne's counsel, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., with Judge Philip J. Finnegan. The judge granted Kilbourne 10 days in which to answer his wife's allegations.

Mrs. Kilbourne, who is the daughter of J. Fred Butler, head of the caper manufacturing company bearing his name, filed a bill for separate maintenance last fall. This suit charged cruelty. The new bill alleges misconduct by Kilbourne and Mrs. Edwards on Nov. 19 and several other occasions. Kilbourne, an official of the produce brokerage concern of C. H Weaver & Co., lives at the Drake hotel.

CLIFFORD BARNES GOES WEST TO REGAIN HEALTH

Mr. Barnes' mother, now 91 years old, and other relatives live at Pasadena, and Mr. Barnes will remain there for a while. His mother is a granddaughter of Daniel Webster.

During the absence of Mr. Barnes, Harry A. Wheeler, vice president, and other board members will direct the activities of the Sunday Evening club.

CONVICT KNOCKS AT GATE AND GETS BACK IN PRISON

Kidnaped by Woman, Two Men, He Says.

Amel Nass, 36 years old, appeared yesterday at the Stateville penitentiary and rattled the iron gate for admission. He had been absent for seven months. The prison records characterized him as an escaped convict.

"I was kidnaped by dope peddlers," Nass told officials, "because I was honest. But I have returned."

Nass entered Joliet prison in 1916 for stealing an automobile. He served three years, was released and returned for the same crime in 1924. Twice paroled, he was taken back twice for violation of the parole, once in 1928, and again early in 1932. His good behavior in prison won him the job of trusty watchman at the stone quarry. On May 29 he disappeared.

Explains His Disappearance.

Yesterday, after he was fed, Nass explained his disappearance.

"Early in May," he said, "I was approached by a pretty brunette. She offered me money to take dope into the prison. She returned several times and each time I refused her offer.

"Then on the morning of May 29 she returned with two men. They hit me on the head and the next thing I knew I was riding through South Bend in an automobile with two men and two women. They took me to a cabin in northern Michigan and kept me prisoner for 30 days. They were very rough and cursed me."

Held Prisoner, He Says.

After a month's imprisonment, Nass said, his captors drove him to Detroit and threw him out on the pavement.

"And stay away from that penitentiary," Nass said the kidnapers warned him. The convict said that he sought a job in Detroit until the thought struck him that prison officials would think he had fled.

"I wish," Nass implored prison officials, "that you would give me a job inside the prison walls where I will be safe among my comrades."

Cuba to Play Santa Claus to Thousands of Children

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The sanitation department will play "Reyes Magos," Cuba's equivalent of Santa Claus, to several thousand poor children. Seven thousand toys, 10,000 packages of cakes, 10,000 boxes of sweets, and 5,000 chocolate cigars have been purchased. The "Reyes Magos," the three wise men of the Bible, leave gifts for children on the eve of Jan. 6.

Bodyguard of Presidents Victim of Heart Disease

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Frank H. Tyree, 60, who was a bodyguard for the late President Theodore Roosevelt, died today of heart disease. He also acted as bodyguard for Charles Evans Hughes on his presidential campaign tour in 1916 and for Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood at the Chicago convention when Wood was a candidate.

ALLOTMENT PLAN OF FARM RELIEF IN HOUSE TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Democratic domestic allotment plan for relief of the farmer will come into the house tomorrow as a privileged order of business, considered virtually certain of passage, but assured of stormy progress at that.

It will be brought in under a special rule giving it privileged legislative status and limiting debate to eight hours. Representing the farm relief program sponsored by President Elect Roosevelt, it has the unqualified backing of the Democratic house leadership, which predicts its approval before the week is out.

But it will meet a storm of opposition on both sides, headed by the two Democratic and six Republican members of the agricultural committee who yesterday refused to concur in the favorable report on the measure and who today signed and filed a minority report ursing its defeat.

"It is our opinion," said the minority report, "that the passage of this bill will only serve to retard enactment of constructive legislation in the aid of agriculture."

"We believe the bill is unworkable," the report continued. "Its administration by the secretary of agriculture will necessarily create an enormous addition to the governmental personnel in order to properly police producers, processors, and retailers in the collection of the tax, and in supervising farmers so that acreage and tonnage may be reduced to meet the requirements of the bill, thereby adding to the burdens of an already overtaxed people."

Two Illinoisans Oppose It.

The signers of the minority report, who included Representative Harry P. Beam [Dem., Ill.], and Representative Charles Adkins [Rep., Ill.], declared that the consumer will not consent to stand the burden of the so-called "adjustment tax" which the bill would levy on processors of hogs, wheat, cotton, and tobacco. Instead, they declared, the consumer will revert to substitutes for these commodities, the processors will pay less to the producer, and the farmer ultimately will bear the entire burden of a program designed to give him relief.

Shortly after filing the minority report, Republicans who signed it met with Republican members of the rules committee and Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], minority floor leader, to discuss the policy which will govern their attack on the measure when it is thrown open for amendment under the five minute rule.

Volley of Amendments Likely.

When the bill goes under the five minute rule, probably on Friday, it is expected to become a target for a volley of amendments seeking to include commodities other than the four now contained. The agriculture committee has announced that it will offer a committee amendment to include rice in the measure, while an attempt to insert dairy products is almost certain to be made.

Meanwhile, on the eve of introduction of the domestic allotment relief measure, Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.] and Representative E. E. Cox [Dem., Ga.] introduced a companion bill in each house designed to lift the burden of farm mortgage indebtedness through a refinancing operation by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

CHARGES STOCK DEAL DEFRAUDED HIM OF $27,500

W. Rufus Edwards of Miami Beach, Fla., testified yesterday before Superior Judge Paul A. Williams and a jury in his $50,000 damage suit against Samuel S. Hutchinson, who is in California; Horace L. Hayward of Punta Gorda, Fla., and Edward C. Carrington, 3020 Sheridan road. Edwards charged that the three men conspired to defraud him of $27,500 by selling him worthless stock in the now defunct Hutchinson Film company.

Edwards, questioned by his attorney, Ernest Schein, said that the men approached him in June, 1926, and sold him a block of stock in the concern. At that time, he alleged, they represented that the company was holding contracts which would net them profits of $400,000 and was about to take over assets of $390,466 in the American Film company of Santa Barbara. Later, he said, they persuaded him to purchase another block of stock in their company. At the time of the sales, he alleged, all three men knew that the American Film company was worthless and that the Hutchinson company was about to go into receivership.

Carrington, called as a witness late in the day, denied any interest in the sale of the stock to Edwards.

"A real find, I'd call it. First of all, it's that plain dark gray I wear year after year, always looks good day or night, you know. I very seldom find my favorite type of coat in a sale, but over at Field's I would say half of their stock is coats like this, or dark blue. No queer patterns and colors, and it's certainly a relief not to be bothered with them.

"Look at that fabric. Great, isn't it? And the tailoring, see how it fits around the collar, shoulders and front. A fellow doesn't always find coats like this at thirty-seven and a half. They've got some dandies at twenty-seven fifty, too.

"Why don't you go over, Van? If you don't care for a dress coat, I saw a lot of ulsters I know you would like. Same prices."

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

WASTE, MILITANT AND UNASHAMED.

The rumpus raised by Senator Connally of Texas over the war department's proposal to close an army post in Texas, together with two in Arizona, illustrates the unscrupulous selfishness which blocks federal economy in congress. The posts are not needed nor wanted for defense. They cost the American taxpayers money without compensation. They block the proper military disposition and training of the army. But Senator Connally argued that the town of Marfa, 4,000 inhabitants, depends upon this Texas post for its existence and therefore it must not be abandoned. In other words, American taxpayers from coast to coast are to be mulcted to put money in the pockets of a Texas town which has no other reason for existence, according to this argument.

This is the story of the obsolete army posts and navy yards which public economy and military and naval efficiency have sought to get rid of for years. It is also the story of congressional resistance to the demand for tax relief. Arizona also objects to the closing of the two posts in that state. Arizona pays to the government into the internal revenue $2,265,705. She receives in various forms of federal aid $4,055,059. Now she objects to a small reduction of this handsome profit with the federal government headed toward bankruptcy. Texas has a better record. She pays in 32 millions and gets back 11. But Illinois pays in 190 millions and gets back 8, while New York pays in 671 millons and gets back 9.

The fight for economy is a fight to save the federal government from bankruptcy and bring relief from the taxation which is paralyzing business enterprise, obstructing reëmployment, and creating or intensifying conditions affecting every home and every citizen of the nation. The forces of parasite politics and selfish special interest are combating virtually every proposed retrenchment, small or great. They must be defeated. There will be no restoration of American prosperity until they are.

The last thing that arch-spoilsman, Tom Connally, intended in his ballyhoo was service to the public, but unwittingly he furnished it because he unmasked a political condition which less blatant senators and congressmen have concealed from the electors.

AN ARGUMENT FOR REPUDIATION.

One of the amiable suggestions which we have heard not only from Europeans but also from American cancellationists is that the American contribution to winning the war to save civilization was really not very important. The object of this line of argument was to justify repudiation on moral grounds, legal grounds being nonexistent. Americans who were in France when the first American troops arrived know what this theory is worth, which is nothing. But in Europe it doubtless has a value as quieting such qualms of conscience as may be troubling the more thin skinned.

On this phase of the controversy a recent publication in France throws light. The book is by M. Paul Allard, who was a press censor during the war, "Les Dessous de la Guerre: Les Comités Secrets," and its purpose seems to be to inform the French public of the part played by parliament in rebuking and correcting the errors of the military commanders and expose fallacy in the accepted theory that parliament was merely a nuisance interfering mischievously with the generals. The account of these momentous conferences is a most important contribution to history and perhaps to the science of war, but our present interest is in its revelation of conditions in France when the American troops began to arrive. It describes the ghastly fiasco of Nivelle's Aisne offensive of April, 1917. After this disaster, says a review of M. Allard's book by the Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, the French army was exhausted and discouraged. Between April and June, 1917, 115 regiments, including 75 infantry regiments, mutinied. "Acts of collective insubordination," Pétain wrote at that time in a confidential document [which was communicated to the chamber on June 29], "have been increasing in a most alarming manner for some days past." Painlevé declared that there was a moment when there was only one division between Paris and Soissons on which the government could count. The French army had lost heart and wanted peace. There was a widespread feeling that the Germans could not be defeated. There were some deputies who demanded the opening of peace negotiations. In the trenches the feeling against the generals was intense. Albert Ferry [who was later killed in the war] said: "Can we stand a fourth winter of this war? The poilu is not what the papers make him out to be. He is a poor, heroic thing who suffers, who suffers a great deal, and who has reached a state of physical and mental exhaustion which you can hardly imagine."

Drastic punishments were applied, including "indiscriminate executions." The situation was desperate. Obviously it threatened the collapse of French resistance if not a revolution as in Russia and Germany later.

But by July, 1917, the mutinies had virtually ended. Because of the "sanctions"—namely: the disciplinary measures? No, says the reviewer, "but simply because the entry of the United States into the war had given fresh hope to the French soldiers, and also because the French government had by that time removed the leaders whom the soldiers distrusted."

The great stream of fresh fighting power which the United States turned upon the battle front restored the French spirit at the moment of its collapse and at the same time weakened the German morale. Without it there could have been no allied victory. Perhaps that would have been better for Europe. No one can ever know. But certainly it does not lie in the mouth of France to disparage the service of the American army in her hour of greatest peril.

MAKING BAD WORSE.

The recommendation of the United States Chamber of Commerce that the government immediately withdraw from its barge line enterprise will have the whole hearted support of all citizens who have given consideration to the evils of government intervention in business. But its recommendation to extend rate regulation to include highway and water carriers will not. The chamber should know that the system of rate regulation of railroads has produced deplorable results, not merely to the railroads and their widespread investors but to the public they are expected to serve. That a system that has been proved unworkable on its present scale should be enormously expanded to include highway and water traffic is indefensible. The argument that competing transport should be equalized by regulation is unsound. It would be an equalization only of misfortune. It would not free the railroads, but only enchain their competitors. The only intelligent policy is to relieve the railroads from restrictions which have obstructed their development and now threaten their solvency, and foster both their progress and that of the new agencies of transport. The nation needs the best in all forms of transport and this can only be attained under a régime of freedom with only such checks as are clearly required for the restraint of practices demonstrated to be unfair and injurious to the public weal.

That an organization of business men like the United States Chamber of Commerce should turn its back upon the policy demanded by experience and the general good of the country is astonishing and deplorable.

MORE PROTOCOL PIFFLE.

That the ambassador of the oldest of the world's republics to the youngest should get into a squabble over his seat at a banquet will give a good many Americans a pain in the neck. But our ambassador to Spain has spent thirty years or more in our diplomatic corps, and these matters have taken on for him, apparently, the importance they have for every member of his profession from the sixth secretary of his excellency the minister of Dahomey to the most extraordinary star bespangled ambassador of the greatest power. The democrat is not immune from this magic, as a militant matron from Oklahoma has recently reminded us. Jefferson could ride to his inaugural unattended and tie his bridle to the hitching post without a blush. But our professional diplomatic representatives know more about protocols of court etiquette than they do about the constitution. They may and often do cherish an ill concealed contempt for unfashionable country men and women who interrupt their elegant intercourse with foreign society, but they know their protocols.

If our diplomacy were distinguished by an alert and energetic representation of American interests we could accept this ardor for ritual as the symbol of a jealous patriotism. But it is, in fact, only evidence of susceptibility to social influence which breeds contempt and not respect for our diplomacy. We have had shirt sleeve diplomats whose manners were inelegant, but whose perception of American rights and interests was not obscured by awe. They were worth a dozen official snobs who will save a place in a court parade while losing every point in the poker game of real international politics.

One of the reforms we need is the democratization of the state department and its diplomatic emissaries abroad. There are too many of our representatives who go in for diplomacy as a social career. They are no match for seasoned experts who know the difference between forms and the substance they often hide rather than express.

Editorial of the Day

[Illinois State Journal (Springfield).]

Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago has offered an amendment to the Reconstruction Finance corporation act which will permit that body to loan money for public works not self-liquidating and which do not call for immediate taxation. He has in mind a proposal that Chicago borrow $43,000,000, to be spent in sanitary district improvements, building of bridges to connect outer drives and the erection of a hospital.

When the Reconstruction Finance corporation was created fear was expressed that it would serve as a temptation to profligacy in state and municipal government. Loans already negotiated, especially in California, indicate that his fear was not unfounded. Illinois has shown a disposition to sidestep immediate financial problems by borrowing, and this disposition is emphasized by the introduction of the Sabath bill. We can expect a general rush to the national loan office when the Chicagoan's liberalization bill is enacted.

An unfortunate fatalistic attitude attaches to arguments in favor of running to Washington for emergency credit. It assumes that if the money is not to be had there no additional local public work will be undertaken for the benefit of the unemployed. It assumes, too, that if the states and municipalities don't get the money to spend, it will be raised and spent for federal public works.

In the end, say proponents of this borrowing, the public will have to pay the bills. Why not, they ask, use local credit and insure investment of the money in local public work. Concerning the effect of thus mortgaging the states and municipalities to the central government's loan shop they are indifferent. Their motto is: "Make your touch today; tomorrow will take care of the bill collector."

WE UNMASK AN IMPOSTOR.

Ha, grab that villain! He's just fooling us,
Can't you see? He's the same lowdown ornery cuss
We thought we had chased that bird out in disgrace
That was a mistake, folks, we're all wet,
For in the morning papers the headlines say
The French stand pat and are not going to pay.
Now, that is old stuff, but oh, goodness me!
What else in the papers is this that we see?
"The Japs Invade China," which brings out a roar,
For we certainly have read that heading before.
But wherever we look we get a rebuff,
Every item we scan is naught but old stuff.
In congress the lame ducks still are in session,
And what keeps us feeling a great deal forlorner
And then here is something that makes us just reel,
"Happy Drys Declare Now There Will Be No Repeal."
We've heard that before, but oh, look over here,
"Wets Certain That Soon We'll Have Return of Beer."
And there "Many Stocks Go Down to New Lows."
Don't you see what has happened? Well, listen, men,
The truth is we simply have been sold again!
Just a few days ago we greeted with glee
What we thought was a new year, Nineteen Thirty-three.
But there's been no change, not the least little stir,
We find that we're sitting right there where we were.
We'll have to acknowledge the truth with a sob,
Pull off his green whiskers and you'll see that it's true,
Before us there stands—Nineteen Thirty-two!

Life wearies of her drab, abysmal thought,
Outbreathes a sigh to warm the winter night,

WE HAVE RECEIVED our income tax blanks, but we just can't get up the courage to read 'em and find out the bad news. We passed by a handsome home yesterday where luxury seemed to flourish and smiling children's faces beamed from the windows. Indeed, thought we, somewhat enviously, herein dwell love and happiness, but suddenly we heard from the second or third story of the residence the sound as of some one shrieking horrid maledictions and a low thumping noise such as might be made by one butting his head against the wall. "It's the master," said the cook to the policeman as we passed; "he's just got his new income tax papers what he's got to fill out, poor soul. Ah, 'tis a pity; he's such a fine man and all." No, we will not study our income tax schedule yet. Why hunt for trouble when there's so much lying around loose, anyhow?

AVOIDING HIVES.

THE suggestion has been made that nettle rash, urticaria, giant hives, and possibly to some extent migraine and asthma can be prevented. The suggestion applies to all those allergy diseases the cause of which lies in the digestive tract and the organs of elimination. It is that a rather small dose of mineral oil be taken with each meal or, if one knows or even strongly suspects the foods that cause the trouble, that it be taken with meals whenever any of the foods under suspicion are eaten. It can be omitted when the meal consists wholly of foods known to be incapable of causing the allergy symptoms.

The amount taken is small, ranging from one teaspoonful to a tablespoonful. It is best to take it in two portions, one-half just before the meal and the other at its conclusion. Probably it would be better still to take it with the meal as, for instance, a mayonnaise or salad dressing. Another method would be to chill it almost to the freezing point of water and serve it with orange juice, lemon juice, or emulsified with milk, as in an ice cream or a milk shake.

The suggestion comes from a Paris hospital, where Drs. C. Richet Jr. and R. Conder report that they have used it with success after having tried it on lower animals. The objective is not to get the laxative action of mineral oil or to treat constipation. It is to delay its assimilation. Their theory is that the food allergy or sensitization diseases that originate in the digestive and assimilative apparatus are caused by the absorption of foods that are not ready for use.

Food is first digested or converted into products that are on the way to being fit for use. The next step is the absorption of these early-step products. Then the other organs of assimilation, and particularly the liver, take these half-way products and make them into materials that the tissue can use. In urticaria and its kinsmen these half-way products rush by the liver and land in the blood stream en route to the tissue cells. They are not in a shape to serve as food and, in fact, they poison certain of these cells, hence the nettle rash.

Drs. Richet and Conder wanted to put a brake or drag on digestion and absorption. It is known that when fats are added to a meal they slow up digestion and probably absorption somewhat. As a rule, this does no particular harm. In the case of the food allergy diseases they thought it would do good.

In experiments on guinea pigs they proved that when mineral oil was put in the stomach with food it spread over the wall, was incorporated with the food, and delayed digestion and absorption. If we could find something that would help the liver do its job that should be a better remedy than mineral oil for the food allergy diseases.

AN OLD READER.

R. R. G. writes: I think I have been reading you for many years and have learned some things of value. I had constipation. I cured myself with flaxseed. I take two teaspoons in my morning cereal. I do not consider it much of a laxative, but as a lubricant it is great and I never have any sign of constipation. I once ate fast and furiously and in large quantities. You advised me to take more time and less food. I followed that suggestion and no longer have indigestion. I can eat anything and my stomach never troubles me. My wife was subject to blisters on her hands. We learned that primrose might cause them. We got rid of our primroses and the blisters never came back. I once suffered from winter itch. I now wear thin cotton underwear beneath heavier woolen garments and I have no winter itch.

2. Is it true that white sugar robs the blood of its corpuscles?

3. Will raw sugar combined with cereals or fruits cause fermentation in the stomach?

4. Does whole wheat act as a poison to some persons?

5. I heard a nurse say that vegetables and fruits should not be eaten at the same meal. Is there any truth in this?

REPLY.

1. Use whichever you wish.
2. No.
3. Nothing causes fermentation in the stomach; that is, of consequence. The acidity of the stomach juices prevents that and the food is there but a brief time. Everything ferments lower down. This includes sugar and cereals.
4. I suspect so. All wholesome foods are unwholesome to some persons.
5. No. I suspect you have been listening to some food faddist—perhaps to a bunch of them.

FEVER GERMS.

C. H. writes: How long do scarlet fever germs live? Is it possible for a person to contract the disease by handling clothing or bedding used by a patient with this disease, these articles having been stored for years?

REPLY.

They live but a few hours outside the human body. There would be no danger in using this bedding. The danger is from persons who harbor scarlet fever germs. Some of these are cases, some are convalescents and carriers.

IT IS NOT TRUE.

Mrs. A. L. writes: Is it true that a woman with only one ovary will bear only boys or only girls, according to which organ is left?

REPLY.

No.

"NEXT FRIEND."

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is meant by the term "next friend" in the following: "Mary Smith [a minor], by Jennie Smith, her mother and next friend. . . ." 2. Why is the above term applied to the mother when the father is living? R. C. J.

Section 262 of the article on infants in Vol 31, Corpus Juris, reads as follows: "A next friend is one who, without being regularly appointed guardian, acts for the benefit of an infant; one admitted to the court to prosecute for an infant. Such persons are considered as agents or officers of the court, their office being to represent the interest of the infant in the litigation. While technically speaking a next friend represents an infant plaintiff and a guardian ad litem represents an infant defendant, there is little if any difference between their functions or powers. A next friend is in the nature of a guardian ad litem or an attorney by whom the suit is brought or defended in behalf of another."

Can I force the executors to give me a statement for the year regarding income, expenses, etc.? 5. Can I demand the original bills pertaining to repairs, articles purchased, etc.? E. G.

1. Their rights depend on the wording of the will.
2. See 1.
3. See 1.

5. You can examine them in the court files when the final account is filed.

WATERWAYS.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is any stream [river] that flows through one's property considered a privately owned stream? Parties B and C, walking along the stream fishing, are stopped by A, the landowner whose fence extends to the water edge, who accuses them of trespassing on his property. 2. B and C dispute this, saying rivers or streams are not private property. 3. C claims that 30 feet on each side of the river belongs to the government. Who is right? F. J. H.

1. Depends on the nature of the stream as to whether it is navigable or not, and on what you mean by "privately owned."
2. Clearly the owner of adjoining property would be entitled to prevent trespassers from walking across his land, regardless of whether the stream is navigable or not.
3. There is no such rule, but in some cases where a public right of way has been exercised under claim of right for twenty years there may be an easement which the landowner cannot interfere with.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 5, 1917.

PHILADELPHIA—The suicide in an Atlantic City hotel of Bernard W. Lewis, wealthy young Pittsburgher, as he was about to be arrested in connection with the murder of Maisie Colbert [Grace Roberts], the artists' model, led the police to declare that Lewis is the slayer of the "girl of the form divine," as she was known here. Although late reports from Atlantic City said that Lewis had left no written statement, local authorities were hopeful that something would yet be found among his effects to clear up the mystery and to clinch further their conviction that he is the guilty man. Lewis was a Yale man, of the class of 1901, and his family is among the rich element in Pittsburgh.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson contemplates sending another peace note to the belligerents. Whether it merely will be informal in character, for the purpose of advising each side of the attitude of the other toward peace, or will be a supplementary statement of the American government's interests in ending the war has not been determined. Until the President receives and gives careful consideration to the reply of the entente allies to his peace appeal Mr. Wilson will not decide upon his further steps.

BERLIN.—Above Odobeshti, northwest of Focsani, our troops were victorious in the Milcov river sector. A strong force of Russian cavalry attempted to advance west of the mouth of the Buzeu river, but was repulsed. German and Bulgarian regiments stormed and captured in hand to hand fighting the tenaciously defended towns of Matchin and Jijila. About 1,000 prisoners and ten machine guns were brought in. Dobrudja has thus been cleared of the enemy except for a narrow spit of land leading toward Galatz, which still is held by Russian rear guards.

PARIS.—Between the Oise and the Aisne French troops dispersed an enemy reconnaissance north of Fontenoy and took prisoners. A somewhat violent artillery action took place in the sector west of the road between Souain and Somme-Py and in the regions of Douaumont and Cote du Poivre.

LONDON.—Enemy trenches northwest of Arras were successfully raided. His positions also were entered by us early this morning in two places in the neighborhood of Wytschaete.

PETROGRAD.—A party of Austrians, about 200 strong, attempted to occupy a trench which projects forward southeast of Brzezany. The raiders were driven back to their entrenchments by our fire. Enemy attempts to cross the River Bystritza in the region south of Galicha during the night were unsuccessful.

LONDON.—The British transport Ivernia has been sunk, it was officially announced. One hundred and twenty military officers and men are missing and thirty-three of the crew are unaccounted for. Four other ships were sunk by submarines, Lloyd's announces.

EL PASO, Tex.—Reports received at army headquarters say the Carranza government has sent to Washington or has in preparation a demand for the immediate withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's army from Mexico. The demand is in the nature of an ultimatum. The advices say Carranza officials are convinced a break with the United States is inevitable.

LONDON.—In Macedonia, on the Struma front, British troops successfully raided the village of Kesupri. Enemy positions in the neighborhood of Semultos and Lake Vitai have been bombarded by the royal navy.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—Mrs. Carrie Bennett Pollard, "the Berlin beauty," graduate of Vassar and noted beauty of civil war days, is dead at a hospital here of pneumonia. She was 70 years old. Though at one time reputed to have almost $1,000,000 in real estate and bank accounts, she died in poverty. For more than thirty years she was a well known figure because of her efforts to live up to her vow to drag the family name into disgrace. This vow was inspired by the objections of her father, Lucius Bennett, to her marriage to a confederate cavalry officer.

TAX EXEMPTION.

Fort Madison, Ia., Dec. 27.—I have read with much interest the article, "Tax Exemption for Fallow Land." There is no question but what there is much merit to this proposition and that the working out of it would help very materially, and a certain percentage of land kept out of cultivation at this time will have its effect in helping to stabilize prices. If the working out of this plan could be of enough help, it would be very simple to operate.

It is very difficult to say just how it would work out. For instance, in certain sections of Iowa and Illinois nearly 100 per cent of the farms are farming lands and it would unquestionably reduce acreage. Then there are other sections of the state, especially the southern one-third of Iowa, in which not over 30 per cent to 50 per cent of the land is cultivated. In some counties there are many farms that not over 25 per cent or 30 per cent are in cultivation. They are sheep farms, and, of course, it would naturally help them more in proportion than it would the farms that are 100 per cent grain farms, for they, under no circumstances, would grain their farms. Still, if it would reduce the acreage of the grain farms, it would help all of the producing classes by reducing their taxes. It is a very splendid thought.

Then we come to a point that the city owner of property would want his vacant lot [on which there was no building and no income] to be held without taxes. That, of course, would have the adverse effect from what we would want to produce, because, naturally, we want as many buildings built as possible and we don't want vacant lots held for a profit without taxation and retarding building when the time comes that we need more buildings.

However, there is no plan but what if carried to all industries would not work out the same and what we are primarily trying to do now is to help that fellow first, the bettering of whose condition will help the whole of the United States the quickest, and it would seem as though the producer is that person.

It would seem that the plan of reducing taxes or exempting them on fallow land is a step in the right direction and will, without doubt, be beneficial.

FROM A MILKMAN.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—I am a milkman that serves about 250 or more customers, mostly in a poor district. More than one-fourth of my customers get relief from the city and during the days when we had so much snow one would think they would try and clean some of the snow from their stairs or sidewalks so the milkman wouldn't have to take a chance on falling and perhaps injure himself fatally. On one occasion, where I served a county relief customer after wading a path through his walk and stairs to get there, I knocked on his door about noon and he had just got up. What did he care whether there was snow out there or not? He's willing to take all he can get from the city but too lazy to give a little help in return.

SNOOPER MURDERS.

EVANSTON'S MONEY.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 31.—In his recent article about the new currency which the Evanston Independent Retail Merchants' association will soon put into circulation your Mr. Phillip Kinsley missed entirely the most important feature. His report intimated that the whole affair is just an attempt by the Evanston city government to sell tax warrants. This is putting the cart before the hors.. It is an attempt by the Evanston Independent Retail Merchants' association to corner for its members the bulk of Evanston's retail trade by the purchase of city tax warrants.

City employés, who will be forced by the city government to buy several thousand dollars' worth of this currency every month, will be compelled to spend it, regardless of their shopping preferences, with Eirma members. These members plan to pass the money along in payment of help, rent, personal purchases, etc. Whoever gets it will be forced to spend it again with members of the association, and so on in a continuous circle. The real scheme is to crowd many thousands of dollars of the phony money into circulation locally, driving out most of the real money. Then the organized independent merchants will have all the business—they hope.

The weakness of the scheme is that the independent merchants, who have been hard hit in the last year by chain store and Chicago branch store competition, have been fooled into believing that they can meet this situation with strong arm methods rather than with wide-awake merchandising.

When the smoke clears away the deluded independent merchants are going to find that the only way to meet stiff competition is by effective merchandising rather than by quack currency stunts cooked up as vote getters by suburban politicians.

PHENOL AS A FLAVORING EXTRACT.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Chicago has at her front door an unlimited supply of drinking water of perfect potability when not polluted. The sciences of sanitation and of filtration are well developed sciences. While Chicago is proudly preparing to invite the world to an exhibition of her Century of Progress her three million citizens are offered a drinking water that is vile in odor and foul in taste. If this should be repeated next summer her thousands of visitors will go home with something to talk about.

If, as is reported, this is due to contamination with the refuse of an industrial plant, illegally added to our drinking supply, the patient, long suffering people of Chicago are fully entitled to ask of their officials who is going to jail and how soon.

JAMES W. WALKER, M. D.

FROM AN UNPAID ELECTION WORKER.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—In your paper today I read of another distribution of checks to employés who have received no money since last week. The Voice of the People contains drivel concerning the color of snow on the Capitol building, the nationality of Conan Doyle, horses at 5 cents, etc., but a three sentence letter that might bring aid to thousands of people is unpublished. On behalf of myself and other broke and unpaid election workers, I sincerely hope that the blindfolded office boy who picks out letters for publication grabs this. However, it's a "slam" at your column, so it had better be ignored. M. B.

Ludwig Writes His Interviews with Mussolini

Sees Dictator Every Day for Two Months.

EMIL LUDWIG, whose many biographical studies, though they have not received unanimous critical acclaim, have sold over 2,000,000 copies in 25 different languages, in a series of interviews, presents the outlines of one of the most fascinating figures of modern life, Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy, in "Talks with Mussolini."

EMIL LUDWIG.

In a room, or hall, 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and 40 feet high, at a desk in the far corner of the room, distant and unreal in such spaciousness, Mussolini and Emil Ludwig held their conversations, one hour a day over a period of two months. At the end of the interviews Mussolini looked over the manuscript of his compressed conversation and gave his approval. In Italy the book sold 20,000 copies in five days, but is now being held up until changes indicated by the dictator can be made.

Emil Ludwig states in his introduction, on the whole a very interesting and vivid presentation of his hero and his working methods as well as the technique and intentions of this book, ". . . it was incumbent on me to remain as far as possible in the background, since my readers want to hear Mussolini's views and not mine." However, whether for the enlightenment of Mussolini or the readers, Emil Ludwig does take up a good part of the book with his own opinions, sometimes even extraneously introduced and overemphasized. Nevertheless, his opinions are interesting enough and different enough from Mussolini's to make their insertion justifiable.

Confronting each other are two men as antipathetic in their philosophies and personalities as it is possible to be. Mussolini, a condotierre of the 16th century type, a man of action, forceful and fearless, learning a lesson from Napoleon's career of what not to do, looking to Julius Caesar as the greatest man who ever lived, who holds in his heart the ambition to make Italy once more a great power in the concert of nations, faces across a huge work table the author of this book, Emil Ludwig, primarily a reflective man, with 18th century ideals of freedom and reason, a man who, whether successful or not, erroneously or not, searches for the poet in all men of action, and believes that the salvation of mankind lies in peace.

The result of this encounter is a series of extraordinarily interesting conversations that, if they do not reveal the enigma of Mussolini's personality (he is always on his guard, forever reserved), give a clear exposition of his intentions and plans and ideals. Emil Ludwig, though he admires many of Mussolini's traits of character, is very wary and is never taken in by his "hero." In many cases there are conversational deadlocks which are broken either by a shift in subject matter or by a few curt monosyllables from Mussolini. The result is a disinterested portrayal of a man's surface personality, occasionally made profound by sudden startling intuitions of the author, or implications that rest between the lines.

We learn that Mussolini trusts no man, that his life is an austere and lonely one, that he sees for the future a unification of Europe once dreamed of by his great French predecessor, by Woodrow Wilson and Aristide Briand, that the dangers of dictatorship must and can be borne only by courage and a fearlessness envisioned by Nietzsche's ideal man, that he considers capitalism a great menace, that he recognizes and admits the similarity between communism and Fascism. He considers birth control a crime against nature and economics; he sees a perpetuation of his régime as possible only in a dynasty; he believes war to be a splendid test of a man's character; he considers Fascism as indigenous to Italy (and very shrewdly gets around the thorny question of its spread in other European countries).

Of the more personal side of his character, he thinks architecture the greatest of all arts and Beethoven the greatest musician. Animals, especially cats, give him the pleasure and consolation denied in human attachments. He is exceedingly temperate in drinking and eating, though prohibition is as inexplicable to him as it is to all Latin temperaments. Women he believes to be vastly inferior to men and only sort of tools in the life process.

All in all, Mussolini reveals himself as a man of iron whose greatness is still to be determined, a man who combines strangely the ideal of altruism and Nietzschean philosophy. What poetry Emil Ludwig can find—and it does seem on the whole a thankless task—lies in Mussolini's reserve (which could be either poetic or simply shrewd, according to the point of view), his enigmatic lack of personal emotion and his real and tragic loneliness. Whatever the reluctance or willingness of the reader's attitude might lead him into at the beginning of the book, he cannot withhold his admiration from a man whose singleness of purpose is comparable only to Stalin's and his appreciation of a calm, judicious, if not consistently penetrating or final, record of personality, taken down painstakingly by Emil Ludwig in "Talks with Mussolini." Micheli Work Opens Season at the Allerton

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Allerton gallery has just opened its first show of the year. The paintings are by a young Chicagoan of whom not much is known, G. A. Michell. A flower study of his recently caught the eye in the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts exhibit at the Stevens hotel because of the whimsical bit of trick painting in which the artist had indulged, making a bud in his flower composition apparently hang out of the frame.

A similar arrangement in his current exhibit shows a girl [the painting is "Portrait of My Wife"] leaning from a window and apparently her arm rests a little outside the frame. Here again Mr. Micheli has painted a frame within the real frame so closely copying it in texture and color as to trick the casual eye.

There are no flower paintings in the show and that is a pity. Micheli handles flowers well. There are, however, a number of Chicago scenes. The smooth, soapy green of the Chicago river is intriguingly illustrated in "Sunday," a quiet view of gray buildings and white clouds falling back from the translucent river. "The Skyline at Sunset" is another sympathetic study of water and clouds.

Bright with vivid color and gay with swift movement is "Water Carnival," a group of children playing in shallow ripples along the beach. "Michigan Avenue at Evening" is a rich blend of dark and light. "Human Beehive" is the Merchandise Mart at night, all of its thousand windows lit like golden beacons.

Now and again Michell goes futuristic and implants a barb of irony into his conceptions. "Super-Race, Dedicated to Utopians" is bitter. A deaf-mute, probably color blind, is eating supper. The idea is not clear back of it, but one gathers that the superman is not to be much of a person. Similarly in "No Waiting—Seats in the Upper Balcony" the interpretation is almost too bitter; one misses sense in the symbolism.

The exhibit will continue three weeks and is a competent first show.

LERIDA, Spain, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The local newspaper "El Pais" published recently a two-column account of a fashionabl wedding. More than one column was used for a list of the guests. Closing the story was the note: "We hope our readers will pardon us if we have omitted any names."

The following day this announcement appeared in the society section of the paper: "We are sorry that in our yesterday's edition carrying the information of the wedding of Mr. So-and-So to Miss So-and-So, we omitted the names of the bride and groom."

Betty Furness Gets Birthday Cake at School

Actress Is 17; Has Party with Teacher.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 4.—In honor of her seventeenth birthday, Betty Furness, leading woman at the RKO studio, yesterday received a gift of an angel food cake, presented by her teacher, Mrs. Ellen Nelson. Betty and Anita Louise are two of the four pupils in the school which RKO, like all other studios, must keep in continual operation on its lot, and Anita helped Betty eat the cake.

Miss Furness has just finished a part with Tom Keene (he used to be George Duryea) in "Scarlet River." She's been under contract for a year, and the RKO school, conducted by Miss Nelson, is where she will get her high school certificate.

A variety of character actors, all of them outstanding as types, are cast with David Manners and Adrienne Ames in Tiffany's "Death Kiss." There are Bela Lugosi, the frightener; Alexander Carr, player of kosher parts; Clarence Muse, Negro actor, and John Wray.

John Howell, an Englishman whose record card at Radio RKO shows that he has been a butler in the establishments of the earl of Dudley, the marquise of Ripon, the earl of Minto, the duke of Connaught, and in the home of one of the Vanderbilts on this side, has been signed to a contract. The studio expects to use him extensively as a film butler. His first appearance will be in "The Great Desire."

Nobody at MGM seems to know when Colleen Moore will be put to work. They say they are still hunting the proper story.

"Chick" Chandler, who has arrived from the Broadway stage to play the part of a dissolute rich youth in "Sweepings"—a story of Chicago from 1870 to 1900—didn't react kindly to the fact he was welcomed here, introduced to newcomers, and written about as "Howard Chandler Christy's nephew." "Tell my friends," young Chandler requested, "that the studio casting director never knew I was anybody's nephew." Helen Mack, girl from Moline whom Fox launched as a film newcomer last year, and Esther Muir have been cast for "Sweepings" also.

The truth about the new film, "Bedtime Story," which Chevalier is to make for Paramount, is that the French star became dismayed because he was losing his popularity in his home country. The French did not like their favorite actor cast time after time as the big shot of the boudoirs, and now they are giving Maurice something with a lot of human appeal, a child, and a chance to turn down some swell looking gals for his next film.

Seen on Hollywood boulevards: Frankie Bailey, the girl who first made tights on the stage famous; she's now a silver haired lady, living in the utmost quiet in a little room and kitchen up a side street.

Heading for New York, where they arrive tomorrow, to catch the Bremen for Germany, are Tay Garnett, Universal's ace director, and his assistant, Bob Fellows. They are going abroad to patch together the Greenland glacier scenes shot for "S O S Iceberg!" and shoot dramatic sequences that will knit the location stuff together.

Due to the constant fog and the terrific handicaps to be overcome by the expedition to Greenland, much of the film which the Universal camera troupe shot did not equal expectations, and Garnett draws the tough job of assembling a satisfactory film out of material that has some faults.

The first work will be done at U. F. A. studios in Berlin, where Tom Reed, Universal writer, is waiting to greet the rescue director. Garnett expects to recruit his cast for the dramatic sequences in England. His wife, Patsy Ruth Miller, who is no longer acting, will join him later abroad.

Explains Darwin's Ratio of Old Maids to Clover Seed Crop

Explaining the closely knit relationships of animal, insect, and plant life before a meeting of the Chicago Chemists' club last night, Prof. Warder C. Allee, head of the zoology department at the University of Chicago, quoted Charles Darwin as having proved that the more old maids there are in a farming community the more clover seed will be produced.

Darwin's reason was, said Prof. Allee, that the more old maids, the more cats; the more cats, the fewer mice; the fewer mice, the more bumblebees; clover is pollinated by bumblebees, hence the better pollination and the more clover seed.

Prof. Allee asserted that wherever life exists communities will be found.

Good Morning!

Could you look a dead man in the face, ask him for a cigaret and not know that he was dead? No. Neither could anybody.

But in this picture that's what a "bozo" does [I use "bozo" advisedly, because there is no other word that could possibly fit the gentleman in question so well] and is not even aware of anything unusual in the appearance of the man he is addressing—albeit this man has died from the effects of carbon monoxide gas, which turns 'em black, you know.

Anyhow—this incident is so remarkable for a number of reasons that I'm mentioning it first. Try it on your piano.

"The Devil Is Driving" is melodrama revolving round activities in the Metropolitan garage, which, under a guise of utmost respectability, houses and sells stolen cars. Allan Dinehart portrays the boss. James Gleason is the foreman, Edmund Lowe is a mechanic—and Gleason's brother-in-law; and the boss and the brother-in-law are THAT WAY about the same girl. . . .

The piece is exciting and well acted and has its moments of novelty. 'Twould have been a heap more convincing—if less novel—had they not had the bozo ask the corpse for a cigaret. But there I go, harping on that again . . . !

See you soon!

Shops Are Unpacking Many Taffeta Frocks.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The great swish has returned—the rustle of silk, that most provocative and feminine rustle—will be heard in an increasing volume during the next few weeks. Taffeta silk frocks have been unpacked, just in time to lure the shopping shekels of the spending clothes hound in search of something new and different.

You should see these charming, whispering things . . . they are made with fluted ruffles, with knife pleated trimmings, with deftly set plaits and tucks, and despite the rather overtrimmed sound of all these glories they are splendid buys for your deplenished winter wardrobe.

Real dress parade affairs for afternoon wear have sparkling white accents, such as a delicate piece of crisp organdy embroidery or fragile foam of lace. The slim black models are as smart as any capricious lady could wish for, besides being able to swish and rustle quite seductively under the dull black wool winter coats.

Midnight blue taffetas should have second honorable mention for popular cheering. Some stunning blue models have intriguing plaits and full fluted flaring cuffs on the short sleeves. And lovely silver gray taffetas should be excellent Sunday supper frocks for the gal who wants something unusual.

If you like this smart new silk, look for the picturesque dinner and dance frocks featured in a certain Chicago shop that shows an entire collection of clever "after five" costumes. These moires and taffetas are positively good enough to eat. You'll see an oyster white taffeta made with a divinely slim silhouette and a high throatling. The skirt fits supersuavely over the hips and flares effectively in deep swirls around the ankle. The most dramatic color contrast possible is used for this frosty pearl lustered gown . . . rich garnet red velvet bows perched on each shoulder, a garnet red that is almost a magenta, and until you have seen this combination you simply haven't been thrilled.

Another taffeta is fashioned of a pale chartreuse green with delicate slender moired patterns whirling over the fabric. The bodice top is cut severely straight and high across the throat . . . very slender points are appliqued on the front section of the bodice and the deep V in the back is tremendously slenderizing.

Velvet contrasts this gown, too, a huge deep purple bow is planted on the back waistline. But you could try any number of other combinations, for instance, a spicy shade of brown, or a deep sapphire, or a startling scarlet. Or why not a new idea, a large butterfly bow of almond green? All your accessories could easily be matched to the shade of the bows you wear.

You can't get away from blue . . . an especially lovely shade of hyacinth blue taffeta fashions one of the newest dance frocks. It is made with slender shoulder straps with lavish cut out sections fore and aft. But the thing that makes you breathless with delight is the clever tunic effect that achieves a knowing classic Greek simplicity. This tunic reaches well to the knees and makes you unbelievably slim because the underskirt swirls madly and widely after it has been released from under the tight fitting tunic. An intricate wind around belt, cut in one piece with the tunic, completes this very feminine evening gown from a superior collection of other equally interesting new "rustlers."

New Paris Hats for Spring Look Like Visored Caps

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — The French milliners are showing their first collections of spring hats. Reboux, Marie Alphonsine, and Mado are featuring shapes that look like visored caps, with bill-like brims that tilt over the eyes. They are chic and intriguing these hats, three of which are illustrated, but methinks they are going to take a lot of wearing. They are, however, the latest style. The milliners make them of cloth, felt, straw, and satin.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

DRY LEADER.

Prof. Fordney stood beside the body lying at the foot of a huge, rough cross. The coarse overalls, with mud-caked and blood stained knees, the dirty, heavy beard matted with blood from a gaping temple wound, and the rough calloused hands made strong contrast to the dapper and immaculate Myron Robinson, who two months earlier had so mysteriously vanished from Washington. An automatic revolver by his side bespoke the tragic ending of the once powerful dry leader.

Fordney's assistance had been sought in clearing up Robinson's strange disappearance and he had finally succeeded in locating him living in a little Kentucky mountain village, a victim of amnesia. Arriving there he learned Robinson had committed suicide just a few minutes before.

"He was a pow'ful smart man, all right," said Horatio Jackson, with whom Robinson had lived, "but he was right queer. He put up that cross out there in the woods and I seed him more 'n' once a kneelin' down ther a prayn'. He never said nothin' about it, though. This mornin he was actin' 'specially funny so when he set out for the woods I followed him. When he got to the cross he walked around it three times, looked up to the sky for a spell talkin' right loud about somethin' I couldn't make no sense of, then he kneeled down, took that gun out of his pocket and shot hisself. I. . ."

"Come, Jackson," interrupted Fordney brusquely. "It Robinson HAD committed suicide you wouldn't be lying about it. Did YOU murder him?"

HOW DID FORDNEY KNOW JACKSON'S ACCOUNT WAS UNTRUE?

Miss Bunting Decides to Be Working Girl

BY JUDITH CASS.

AFTER the holiday whirl of debutante parties, society editors are usually as tired of writing about debutantes as some people are bored with reading about them. It is the custom of society editors to stop recording the sweet young things' daily activities as soon as they are well launched into adult society shortly after the first of every year and to write no more debutante news until the following summer when the list of the following season's crop of buds is made up.

There are, however, occasional bits of news about debutantes that vary from the customary notes about parties being given for them and by them, and a debutante story we heard yesterday falls under that classification.

It concerns Miss Elizabeth Bunting, the pretty daughter of the Henry S. Buntings of Lake Forest. Miss Bunting, who made her debut informally at a series of buffet supper dances last fall at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest and then was presented to Chicago society in December at a dinner dance at the Drake hotel, has decided that she's had enough of the social whirl for the time being and that she wants to go to work.

Will Work as Office Clerk.

Next Monday she will begin as an office clerk in her father's company, the Bunting Publications, in North Chicago, and she plans to make herself as useful as possible while learning all about the advertising publishing business. She is to be paid a small salary and plans to earn it by keeping regular office hours 6 days of the week.

Miss Bunting is choosing to work instead of vacationing in the south, for her family usually spends the winter at their place at Naples, Fla. They had intended to leave for the south the middle of this month, but the debutante's decision to try the life of a business woman has been the cause of a change of plans. Mr. and Mrs. Bunting may go to Florida later on in the season, but they are not setting any date for their departure as yet.

Miss Bunting's younger brother, Van Asmus, spent the holiday week at Alice Home hospital recovering from an appendectomy performed the day after Christmas. He returned home from the hospital yesterday and his convalescence will delay his return to his studies at Christ school in Arden, N. C., until the latter part of next week.

Omit Twelfth Night Ball.

In other years society spent much of the week following New Year's dashing to costumers to be properly outfitted for the Twelfth Night ball, which was always held on the first Friday after New Year's.

This ball, traditionally the gayest and most picturesque party of the season, is not to be held this winter. The committee in charge, headed by John R. Winterbotham, has decided that the expense of giving a Twelfth Night ball as it should be given to live up to the reputation of the balls of former years would be too great in these times.

The Twelve Knights could, of course, give an inexpensive party such as they did last year, with the guests wearing any costume they choose, but that would be only an ordinary costume ball, and the Knights feel that unless they can give a party with a beautiful setting and authentic costuming they'd rather not give any at all.

Everybody seems to agree that their decision is a sensible one, and all those persons who remember the glittering Twelfth Night balls of yore are willing to forego the party this year in the hope that it will be possible next season to give a bigger and better affair.

James Minotto Becomes Senator.

Chicago relatives of the James Minottos were informed a few days ago that Mr. Minotto had been elected to the Arizona state senate. The news comes at this late date because, although Mr. Minotto ran on the state ticket in November, he was not certain of his victory until election officials announced the result of a recount. The new senator will take his seat, representing Maricopa county, in the Arizona senate next Monday.

The Minottos and their two children, Demetrius and Ida May, gave up their Chicago residence several years ago and moved to Arizona. Senator Minotto now has a large cattle ranch at Kirkland and a dairy near Phoenix.

The title of senator replaces the title to which Mr. Minotto was born—Count Giacomo Michaele Minotto. He is the son of the late Count Diametrio and the Countess Agnes Minotto. He renounced his title when he became an American citizen shortly after the world war. Mrs. Minotto is the daughter of Louis F. Swift of Lake Forest.

They will come to Chicago early next summer, when Mr. Minotto begins his duties as director of the rodeo at A Century of Progress. He is an excellent horseman and appeared in bucking broncho acts and other stunts with western cowboys in a rodeo several years ago in Soldiers' field.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Alexander of Lake Forest will depart the latter part of this month for Palm Beach. They have taken a house there which our correspondent describes as a beautiful model of Spanish architecture with a patio and lovely tropical jungle-like grounds. It is located in the smart new southern section of Palm Beach, in the ocean block with a

MORT GREEN AND WIFE

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Hiram White sails his four masted ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters, sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a south sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title, known as Ladybird. In his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer, an unemployed French chauffeur, named Raoul Roberts Millbank, and Peter Cavan. Roberts's father died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employe. Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep. Henery Shepard, backer of the venture, fills the boat with a cargo of his own choosing and plans to stop at certain ports to trade cargoes. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate. Henery makes profitable trades at Cape Town, Sydney, Australia, and Japan. Then the ship sails to the island where the sunken treasure craft is located. Capt. Hiram, Adam and Peter take turns diving for the oysters. They have them all aboard when they are beset by a ruffianly crew of a strange yacht, headed by Capt. Derring, who turns out to be Ladybird's husband and aware of the sunken treasure. He demands the oysters and diving rig. Peter, knowing the oysters contain no pearls and that the girls must be protected, advises giving them up, which Roberts interprets as yellowness. Capt. Hiram agrees with Peter. Derring boards the four master and orders his yacht to tow it out to sea, where the shell is transferred. Capt. Hiram senses trouble.

INSTALLMENT XI.

A SUDDEN ATTACK.

Capt. Hiram was therefore caught flat aback by what immediately happened. The overt act came not from those aboard the pearler but from Derring. It is not likely that he still believed the pearl shell to hold anything of value, nor is it probable that he placed any great value on the wife whom he had plundered of her fortune and then deserted. More probably he had become a sort of king cobra, a serpent man.

Capt. Hiram was watching narrowly the crew of the pearler and he felt certain that their rifles were in the bights of the loosely furled sails. He was thinking that it would take them about three seconds to snatch them out and at such close range they could scarcely miss anybody.

He was thinking also that letting go of Derring and the sailor was like the hunter's loosing the bear that he was holding by the paws on either side of a tree trunk. The danger lay in letting him go.

With his eyes on the pearler he was aware that Benny had gone to the rail with a big bucket of some sort of refuse. Curiously, even at moments so tense a trained executive cannot pass by details that pertain to good management. Looking down from above Capt. Hiram could see what looked like fresh cuts of meat in the bucket.

"What's that you're heaving over, Benny?" he asked.

The captain caught a whiff just then that made further questioning useless. "Heave it quick," he said.

Benny looked over the rail and appeared to hesitate as if fighting a temptation to dump the contents of his bucket on to the native in the boat below. Discretion prevailed and he went aft farther before spilling it. As he shambled back across the deck in his Japanese grass sandals with their toe thongs, Capt. Hiram saw that the hatchet with which he had been splitting stove wood was thrust through his belt.

The time had come to get rid of Derring. His native had landed the last of the water casks in the boat, cleared the strop and hooked the block of the hoisting tackle into it. The pearler was hanging on in the same position and showing the same tendency to edge in as if drawn by some law of physical attraction that was exaggerated. Yet Capt. Hiram knew that a vessel often did this and he was not disturbed by it particularly.

But the whole situation made him tense. It would be decided as soon as Derring set foot upon his pearler. The question was whether the Abigail would then be let depart in peace or if Derring's crowd should declare themselves outright pirates.

Despite his tension Capt. Hiram's voice held its usual note of quiet authority as he said:

Before he had finished speaking Derring sprang at Henery and struck him a blow in the face that sent him sprawling on the deck. The act was so vicious and apparently futile as far as it could profit Derring himself that it would have seemed an outburst of mania if there had been time to think about it.

But it was nothing of the sort. Derring had weighed his chances, and he must also have counted on the swift cooperation of his crew aboard the yacht, close alongside. No doubt he had instructed them to open fire instantly if he should find opportunity to launch an attack. He had seen this chance in the old repeating shotgun that Henery had set against the bullarks close by while clearing the boat's painter.

As Henery went crashing to the deck, Derring spun round and grabbed the shotgun. This was the moment in which he must have counted on his crew to back him up by firing on every man in sight. But not one of them reached for a weapon. Perhaps Derring had lost prestige as captain, or they may have considered an act of murderous piracy to be a risk not worth the running now that the bargain struck for towing out the schooner had been paid.

Whatever the reason they stood fast for the moment, so that Derring was forced to follow up his lead single handed . . . or at least to start his desperate play alone. Once started, his crew might have backed it. The very suddenness of his attack may also have dazed for the moment their more sluggish wits.

At any rate, Derring did not falter for the fraction of a second. Killer he undoubtedly was, but he was also a desperate and absolutely fearless fighter. Gripping the rusty old repeating shotgun he sprang back and to the side a little so that Parker and Raoul came directly between him and Capt. Hiram and Adam, slightly above.

It was at this moment that old Benny took a hand in the game. He had been watching Derring closely from the foot of the ladder. As Derring turned to raise the shotgun, Benny snatched the hatchet from the lanyard he used for a belt, whirled it back over his shoulder and threw it with all the strength of his sinewy old arm.

This latter day tomahawk might have finshed the business then and there, by splitting Derring's skull, but it missed and the hammer end of the hatchet struck the lock of the shotgun with impact enough to knock it almost out of Derring's hands. It must have numbed them a little, as he fumbled to regain his grip upon the weapon.

As he did so, Peter who was several paces away, started to walk toward him. Derring threw the gun to his shoulder and covered Peter's chest. In the tense silence there came a sharp click. Peter took another step toward Derring who quickly ejected the shell that had missed fire. Again he pulled the trigger. As he did so, Peter sprang in on him and grabbed the barrel of the gun.

There was a brief struggle for the possession of the gun, each man trying to twist it out of the other's hands.

How this tussle might have ended nobody can say. Henery had been knocked down but not out, for he was a tough old Yankee sailor with the fibrous tenacity of his race. But distrusting the support of his legs, perhaps, he scrambled on hands and knees to where the two men were scuffling and grabbed Derring round the knees. At the same moment Benny's big hands fastened on Derring's throat.

"Dear Miss Blake: If an ex-sweetheart of yours suddenly comes back and shows a great deal of attention and invites you out, does that mean that the old love has come back?

"MARY."

Love Doesn't Offend.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am much in love with a girl who has given me no reason to believe that she is interested in me. Shall I inform her of my love? RAPHAEL."

No woman was ever offended at being told she means everything in a man's life.

Girl Discovers Some Fault in Every Fellow

They're All Nice, but—to Fussy Lady.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I went dancing a lot with this fellow. He was rather conceited and liked to talk about himself."

Speaking of another chap, the girl confides: "He was all right in some ways. But I didn't think he was as attentive as he could be."

A third had something else wrong with him. Now, there isn't any fourth, and that's Ginny's problem. Where to find him? Time's closing in on Ginny. Spinsterhood looms, according to her expressed fears.

Spinsterhood not only looms, Ginny—but it's definitely on the make for you unless you get over your picayune habit of stressing such faults as you name. If it were drunkenness, gambling, or the women vice there'd be something to complain about. But because a man talks about himself—Ye gods! What one of them doesn't?

For that matter, what is woman's favorite subject, if not herself?

About another young man's not being as attentive as he might be. Whose fault is that? Don't we earn attentiveness? Aren't we more responsible than the other person when we don't get it?

Don't be "picky," Ginny, if you want to get on with boys! Girls who attract and hold men are girls who take the good with the bad, but stress the good points. Unpopular girls are the kind who pry around for the weak spot and elaborate on it no end. Their faint praise is damned with buts, as "Yes, he's all that—BUT he's conceited." Or, he's thoughtless, or his neckties are badly tied, or something of the sort.

Petty stuff, Ginny! Aren't your brothers swell boys, even though they do some strutting? And your dad—a good sort, though he may be capable of forgetting the little attentions?

Need Clothes for Twins.

"A patient of mine who is being treated at one of the clinics for goiter gave birth to twins yesterday and the family is in such destitute circumstances they have not been able to provide anything for the new babies. Do you think any of your readers would have baby clothing and other accessories for this woman?—A. F."

Ill health and need have been this family's fare for some time and now that their number is increased by two their troubles undoubtedly will be more numerous, too. Can you help by giving something with which to clothe the infants?

Hold Another Gay Reception on Prairie Ave.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

There was all the excitement of Victorian gayety in Prairie avenue last night. The Edwin L. Lobdells—that couple whom La Rochefoucauld would certainly have marked as an exception when he wrote that "few people know how to grow old"—were celebrating their golden wedding and their family and friends came to wish them years of continued health and happiness.

The family—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lobdell, the Earl H. Reeds and the Harold Pynchons, with their sons and daughters; Mrs. Alfred Loeb of New York (Mrs. Lobdell's sister), and Mrs William Horstmann of Philadelphia—were expected to gather for dinner at the big house at 2716 Prairie avenue, but the friends who streamed in before the demitasse were a complete surprise.

Mrs. Granger Farwell came, and so did Mrs. Robert B. Gregory and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fargo, all of whom attended the Lobdell-Philpot wedding just 50 years ago. Then there were the Frank Loesches, the Bernard E. Sunnys, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoyne, who have been intimate friends for at least three or four decades.

An Informal and Gay Party.

Mrs. Pynchon was responsible for the surprise. She knew that her mother harbored a secret regret that a reception hadn't been planned, so she called up these old friends and asked them to drop in unannounced. The result couldn't have been happier, for there was an informal spontaneity and festivity in the party that might easily have been lost through weeks of planning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lobdell talked about their wedding, which, they contend, is remembered only by the terrific blizzard of Jan. 4, 1883, about Forest avenue when it was bridal row, about their first automobile, about successes and disappointments (though apparrently they have been mostly successes), and about travels that have taken them to far away corners of the globe. For in a span of years during which the free silver campaign and the world war have made news, and during which people have thrilled at the telephone, the wireless, the radio, and the airplane, there is much to talk about.

Yet never once last evening was there a feeling that the Lobdells are growing old. How could there be with the active interest that Mrs. Lobdell continues in the Chicago Woman's club, the Fortnightly, and the Abraham Lincoln center, to which she has made such distinct contributions, or with Mr. Lobdell attending his office daily and contributing magazine articles on the economic crisis that are being lauded by the business interests of the country?

Pleasures of Life Continue.

"The pleasures of life do not differ at 75 from those of earlier years except in intensity," Mr. Lobdell philosophized last night. "We have the same aspirations, the same hopes, the same ideals. The pictures are the same, but the light is different, and we become more tolerant and less assertive. As a friend of mine once remarked, I am unable to join the chorus of those who always sing the song of youth. To me the present is the most interesting part of life. The best ten years I have known were the last ten, the best year was last year, the best day today, for to its own joy is added the joys that have gone before."

Many years before the well remembered Bishop Cheney pronounced Annie Philpot Mrs. Lobdell in the fashionable Christ Reformed Episcopal church at 24th street and Michigan avenue, both Mr. and Mrs. Lobdell were well acquainted with the Prairie avenue neighborhood. As a little girl of 4 years Mrs. Lobdell came from Philadelphia with her parents, the Brian Philpots, to live at 25th street and Prairie avenue. And there she grew up, playing on the beach that swept close to the Philpots' back door. Mr. Lobdell, who dates his affiliation with Chicago's financial life from 1874 when he accepted his first position at the First National bank, and who is descended from Simon Lobdell, who came to Milford, Conn., in 1645, lived not far away.

After an eastern honeymoon that included a private reception by President Chester A. Arthur at the White House, the Lobdells took up housekeeping in a six room red brick house in bridal row, just off of Prairie avenue.

Acquire First Buggy in 1884.

"Forest avenue earned this title because of all the young marrieds that settled there," Mrs. Lobdell explained. "There were the George A. McClellans, the Harry Raymonds, the Granger Farwells, the Albert Lesters, the James Hobart Moores, and the Smith Fauntleroys among others."

"And what a joy housekeeping was then," Mr. Lobdell broke in. "We had one maid to do all the cooking, the laundry, tend the furnace, and take care of all incidentals for $3 a week."

In 1884 while they were living in bridal row, the Lobdells acquired their first horse and buggy. This was a big event in their young lives. But still more important was the year they bought their first auto and numbered themselves among the first Chicagoans to drive motor carriages.

"It was an Olds with one cylinder, Mr. Lobdell explained. "It would usually start, but sometimes it wouldn't stop. I'll never forget how the owners of horse drawn vehicles would get out and hold their steeds when I drove up to the Hyde Park station."

Mr. and Mrs. Lobdell told together of their round the world trip in 1908, one of the worries of which was a young man who wanted to take their daughter, Adeline, to Japan to live.

The reminiscences continued until a late hour last night—experiences humorous, many, and varied. Then reluctant farewells, and the guests departed with those lines of Longfellow in mind, "Time has laid his hand upon their hearts, gently, not smiting them . . . as a harper lays his open palm upon his harp, only to deaden its vibrations."

Mrs. Dickinson to Go to Phoenix.

Mrs. Mary B. Dickinson of the Ambassador East is leaving tomorrow for Phoenix. Her daughter, Miss Rose Dickinson, who is visiting in Mexico City, will join Mrs. Dickinson in Phoenix the middle of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Smith of Winnetka, who spend the winter months every year cruising in Florida waters on their yacht, Kenkora II., returned to their Miami beach villa recently from a trip to Nassau. Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Clement and Howard L. Clement Jr. were guests of the Smiths over the holidays.

Benjamin Leslie Behr Jr., who entered Oxford last fall but was forced to return home because of illness, hopes to be well enough to return to England within a month or so. His parents and his sister, Miss Edith Behr, who usually go to Aiken after the holidays each year, have not as yet made any plans for their annual winter vacation.

Cornelius Crane has arrived from Ipswich, Conn., to spend several weeks with his mother and sister, Mrs. Richard T. Crane and Miss Florence Crane, at their residence on Lake Shore drive. Young Mrs. Crane is expected to join her husband this week-end.

Mrs. Hyman to Return Tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert W. Hyman is expected to return tomorrow from a holiday visit in the east with her daughter, Miss Jean Hyman, who attends the French School for Girls in New York City. Mrs. Hyman met her daughter in New York about a week before Christmas and on Christmas eve they went to Lake Placid for a week of winter sports. Mr. Hyman spent two or three days with them.

Count Emanuele Barromeo, who has been having such a whirl of entertainment since he arrived in Chicago in early December with Count and Countess Visconti [Edith Fairbanks], is planning to depart for the west coast early next week. He intends to make a thorough inspection of the movie capital, for Kay Francis and Constance Bennett are friends of his and have promised to entertain for him when he arrives in Hollywood. He will go to Honolulu and may take a trip around the world before returning to his home in Milan.

The Viscontis will not return to Italy until March, but their plans are indefinite as to where they will spend the next two months. They are visiting the countess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks of 1500 Lake Shore drive.

Prof. Frost Will Lecture.

Prof. Edwin B. Frost will give an illustrated lecture entitled "Living in the Universe" at 11 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club Luncheon will follow.

The first of the spring series of round table discussions of the Fortnightly club will be held today at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. Prof. Paul Douglas of the University of Chicago will talk on "Some Possible Ways Out of the Depression."

Mrs. Charles W. Dempster has invited the Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing service to have luncheon with her on Thursday, Jan. 19, following the annual meeting of the service at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Mary Breckinridge of Kentucky, director of the service, who is to arrive in Chicago on the 15th, will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

At present the branches of the nursing service in the east and middle west are engaged in promoting a West Indian cruise, proceeds of which will benefit the work of the service in Kentucky.

A diorama illustrating the work of the service nurses and couriers is to be brought from New York this week and placed in a window on Michigan avenue. It was done by Dwight Franklin.

The woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital is sponsoring a noonday meeting to be held next Monday at the hospital to mark the opening of the institution's fiftieth year. Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell and Mrs. Robert Metz, daughters of the late Dr. Joseph P. Ross, who founded the hospital in 1883, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert E. Ross, will be among those present at the affair, to which representatives of second and third generations of the families of charter members have been invited.

Indian Origin Discussed in Museum News

Dr. Martin Explains View of Anthropologists.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The theory that the American Indian sprang, as did the Mongolians, from an original proto-Mongloid ancestry, a conclusion generally accepted by anthropologists, is explained in the January issue of the Field Museum News, the monthly bulletin for members of the museum.

Dr. Paul S. Martin, assistant curator of North American archaeology, writing on the origin and antiquity of the Indians, says in part:

"While there is no written history, an examination of available facts and theories makes possible a probably correct conclusion. Anthropologists have designated three grand divisions of humanity: the Caucasoid, the Negroid and the Mongoloid. The majority of anthropologists agree that the American Indians are a branch of the Mongoloid division. This, however, does not mean that they are of Chinese origin, but rather that they and the Mongolians both sprang from an original proto-Mongoloid ancestry."

Dr. Martin supported this theory with an explanation of how it was reached. In distinguishing one race from another, he said, the anthropologist relies upon accurate recorded observations and measurements of physical characteristics, such as the length and breadth of the head and face, size of the nose, distance between the eyes, and stature. In addition, he added, careful studies are made of the color of the hair, skin, and eyes, the shape of the hard palate, certain teeth, and the hair in miscroscopic section. No single trait may be used, he said, such as a conclusion that an individual is Mongoloid if he has prominent cheekbones, because that would be unsound.

"The correlation of a mass of such detailed data, however, has led to the conclusion that the Indians should be classified as Mongoloid, and it is generally agreed that they came to the new world in a series of small dribbling migrations via Bering strait," Dr. Martin said.

"There are fewer facts to guide us as to the length of time man has inhabited the new world. It is often claimed that man lived in North America during the Ice age, about 25,000 to 50,000 years ago. But as yet not a single fragment of a skeleton of a Neanderthal type has been found. The most ancient skeletal remains have been correctly classified as Indian, and differ in no important way from those of the modern Indian.

"If then, man did not live in America during the last Ice age, when did he arrive? The only acceptable answer is arrived at by considering the pre-history of the old world. We know that approximately 8,000 to 10,000 years ago, barley, rice, millet, and wheat were cultivated, and cattle, pigs, and sheep were domesticated there. Since it is pretty well established that the Indians came from Asia, it seems reasonable to suppose they would have introduced some or all of these plants and animals into the new world.

"But until the arrival of the Europeans in the 15th and 16th centuries, not a single one of these plants and animals had been used in the new world. Therefore, we assume that the migration to the new world was prior to the development of agriculture and husbandry, and after the recession of the last glacier. We then conclude that the date of the entry of the American race to the new world was probably between 10,000 and 25,000 years ago."

For Slim Hips Try Exercising for Six Weeks

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

As I've said before, we have become the "sittin'est" lot of folk on record. It isn't always our fault that we spend most of our day sittin' and sittin'. Our jobs keep us tied to chairs. And we get the chair habit, unless we happen to be very young and dancing feet are still rarin' to go. Out of working hours it's the bridge chair, or the movie seat, or the auto seat, the taxi or the street car.

Anyway, we can blame this sitting habit for the widespread hip or the spreading that is the common lot of the constant sitter. The worst of it is that the more we sit, the more we get the habit, and the more the hips spread. And before we know it, we are in full possession of that hated "middle-aged" spread, or, as it is called in other circles, the "desk spread."

Now, one good hip exercise done every morning for a couple of minutes, or ten minutes given to a couple of good hip exercises—and there wouldn't be any sprea... Take this exercise I'm giving you today. Do it every morning for three minutes, say, and what it will do for your hipline in a month will please you no end. Done for six or eight weeks and you'll be sliding into that outgrown frock in the wardrobe with delighted ease. It may just happen that said frock will have to be taken in at the hips.

Lie on the floor with the chin resting on the back of the hands, elbows on the floor. Stretch for all you're worth on that left leg; bend the knee and bring the heel up in an attempt to touch the back of the head. You won't get it nearly to the head at first. But keep on.

At first, do this with the head still on the floor. But as you get on, raise the head from the floor the same time as you bring the heel up. Do this with the other leg. Alternate and do with vim.

If it helps you to put a pillow under the hips, you may. But stretch the leg down first, then heel up; leg down; heel up. Repeat ten or fifteen times.

Eight Women Organize Society of Accountants

Eight Chicago women formed last night what is said to be the first organization of women certified public accountants in this country. Following a dinner at the Women's University club, 185 North Wabash avenue, they organized as the American Women's Society of Certified Public Accountants. All the members are practicing certified public accountants or connected with accounting firms. Miss Anna G. Francis was elected president.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover attended the concert given this morning by Mrs. Lawrence Townsend when Ninon Vallin, French soprano of the Paris opera, and Richard Brooks, American tenor of the Metropolitan, gave the program.

Mrs. David A. Reed, wife of the senator from Pennsylvania, Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr. of Chicago, wife of the assistant secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. R. M. Kaufmann headed the committee in charge of a dance tonight at the National Woman's Country club in honor of the Princeton Triangle club, which gave a performance here earlier in the evening.

The French ambassador and Mme. Claudel were the guests of honor at luncheon today at the Mayflower given by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Townsend following the morning concert.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get plain, ordinary liquid Arvon from any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Win the Child's Love Before You Try Reforming

Stepmother Cautioned on Strict Discipline.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Curiously enough, in the same mail I often receive letters which represent the two swings of the pendulum. Yesterday's letter was about the young stepmother who wants to wait on and overindulge her new little daughter. She has two motives: one is to make the child happy— to be different from the stepmother in the fairy tales; the other, an unconscious "drive," usually is to express her mother love which has never had an outlet.

Today's letter, which represents a whole group, forms a contrast to yesterday's. It reads briefly like this:

"I am marrying a man with one little girl. I've visited the home where she is now living with her grandparents, who adore her. She is a dear child, but absolutely spoiled and never thinks of obeying. Her father refuses her nothing—if he tries to she cries and he melts. The child needs discipline. I'm going to teach her to obey and I'm not going to give in to her. If there's anything I abhor it's a spoiled child. I'm going to start in the day she comes to live with me—for her own sake as well as mine. Can you help me? I know I'm in for a hard time."

I know it, too. But so is the small daughter. Looking ahead, I seem to see a clash of wills. I seem to see an effort to prove whose will is master. I seem to see things made an issue of. I see lots and lots of tears. I see a bewildered child. And if the discipline is established, I seem to see it done with too great a loss, at too great cost.

The stepmother who steps off into her new life with this determination uppermost is slated for failure, perhaps not surface failure, though I think that likely, too, but failure in fundamentals. She has not the right cue.

Her cue is to act in such a way that she gradually makes her new little daughter sure of her affection. Not by indulgence, petting and demonstrativeness, which, coming from a stranger, may not be welcome. And not by iron rules, either. But by understanding her and by being interested in all that concerns her.

What she must do first is to win her And given a real desire to understand the child, and armed with tact and friendliness, she can do so. For definite and practical suggestions we have several leaflets that offer immediate help, such as the booklet called "How to Gain Obedience," and the one on "Patience." Either of these two or reading suggestions will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Toilet Sanitation
MADE SIMPLE

BEWARE of toilets that are streaked and stained. Germs breed there. The bowl is unsightly. It takes no end of ordinary scrubbing to insure sanitation. But a little Sani-Flush does this work for you.

Just sprinkle a bit of Sani-Flush in the bowl (follow directions on the can)—flush—and the job is done! Stains, odors and germs are swept away. The hidden trap no brush can reach is sanitary.

BY MARY MEADE.

Surprises have always intrigued me—which is probably the reason I have a weakness for layer cakes. There's something satisfying to the innate explorer and searcher for buried treasure in us, in the discovery of unexpected veins of lusciousness between calm blankets of cake.

As a rule, families wax most enthusiastic over sweet fillings—icings, frostings of the cooked or uncooked varieties, oozy spreads of jelly or jam, and conglomerate fruit mixtures made crunchy with nuts and other mysterious textures. All of which makes the tart sweet filling of certain apple cakes and orange layer creations all the more surprisingly pleasant.

Layer cakes, of course, are largely a matter of inspiration. That is, almost any cake, with the exception perhaps of angel foods, will bake satisfactorily in layer form even though the creator originally pictured it as cup cakes or a loaf. There are a few heavier batters which are native only to layer cakes, but as a rule the change can work both ways.

Layer cake difficulties run just about parallel with loaf cake troubles. A layer which rises up on one side and is wafer thin on the other may be sitting on a slanting shelf, the batter may have been stiff and been put in unevenly, or most likely, the heat in the oven was overly enthusiastic on one side and neglected to attend to the other. Have your oven regulated or move your layers about several times during baking. Oven temperature will want to be approximately the same as for loaf cakes—350 to 370 degrees F. [moderate oven], and the baking time is usually 20 to 25 minutes. Frostings and fillings should be added when the layers are just cold.

And now what's to be filled—and with what? A simple white cake or a plain cake makes a good takeoff. Strawberry or raspberry jam, orange marmalade, quince butter or any of a score of preserves may be spread between layers and the whole left unadorned or covered with jam icing or with white boiled or uncooked frosting.

A delectable marshmallow cake results when two layers are spread generously with white icing and halved marshmallows imbedded in it. Cover the cake sides and top with the remaining icing.

Or white frosting may take on all sorts of other habits while the outside icing remains unadorned. A cup of coarsely chopped seedless raisins may be added, or one-half cup of finely chopped nut meats. Candied orange or citron peel chopped fine will add zest to the filling and more of it may later be sprinkled atop the all-over covering.

Chocolate sprinkles mixed with white frosting and likewise used as an outside decoration make something else to talk about. Shredded cocoanut and chopped maraschino cherries added to frosting for the filling, with three cherries stemmed and leaved with angelica for decoration on the top, supply still another inspiration for the layer cake adventurer.

LORD BALTIMORE CAKE.

Since Lady Baltimore cake is made from a silver cake recipe and uses no egg yolks, Lord Baltimore cake naturally gets all the left over yolks. Use a plain gold cake recipe and put the layers together with boiled frosting to which has been added ½ cup chopped nut meats [preferably almonds], 1-3 cup chopped citron, ½ cup rolled macaroon crumbs, ½ teaspoon lemon flavoring and ¼ cup chopped glacé fruits of mixed varieties [candied cherries and orange peel may be used]. Ice the top and sides with plain almond flavored boiled icing.

PINEAPPLE LAYER CAKE.

2 eggs, separated.
1 cup pineapple sirup.
2 cups flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
1-3 teaspoon salt.

Cream the sugar and butter together until fluffy. Add the beaten yolks and beat two minutes. Then add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the pineapple sirup which has been boiled down to three fourths cup and cooled before adding. Turn the batter into two layers and bake in a moderately hot oven [370 degrees F.] for twenty to twenty-five minutes. Turn out on a rack and when cool, put together with the following filling, saving out enough for a frosting:

PINEAPPLE FILLING AND FROSTING.

3 egg whites.
2¾ cups powdered sugar.
Dash of salt.

Beat the egg whites to a foam, then beat in the sugar, salt and the drained pineapple. If more sugar is needed, add gradually at the end until the mixture will spread. Do not cook, but spread generously between the layers and over the whole outside. Keep chilled until set.

Stock Will Address 800 Club Leaders on Music Temple Plans

Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and honorary president of the Chicago Friends of Music, will address a meeting of 800 club presidents and chairmen today in Fullerton hall of the Art institute in behalf of the plan to build a $100,000 temple of music on the World's Fair grounds.

The Chicago Friends of Music recently opened a campaign for dollar subscriptions among the clubs of Chicago and suburbs. Yesterday a north side office was opened at Conveniences, Inc., the charity project of Mrs. Frank Hibbard. Those in charge of subscriptions at the opening included Jane Boyce, Marjorie Goodman, Lydia Swift, and Eleanor Litsinger.

NEW KIND OF SOAP MAKES WASHDAY EASIER

Gets clothes whiter, too

WOMEN everywhere are amazed to see how much easier the new kind of soap makes washday. There is no need for back-breaking washboards any more. Boiling, too, is now out-of-date.

According to women who have tried every type of suds, this new kind is by far the most satisfactory. For it saves hours of scrubbing and boiling—makes washday wonderfully simple compared to what it used to be.

The whole secret seems to be in the suds. Rinso—the new kind of soap—gives lively suds that loosen dirt and make it float out. Clothes come white as snow—just by soaking. They last longer this gentle way.

This new kind of soap is very economical. A little gives a lot of rich, lasting suds. By actual test, Rinso gives twice as much suds, cup for cup, as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Fine for dishes, too; makes grease go in a flash, yet is easy on the hands. Its lively suds make all cleaning easier.

Try Rinso Free

If you have never tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. R2, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

We believe that in Collier's a new leader has appeared among magazines—a leader, designated as such by a modern-minded American public.

THE CROWELL PUBLISHING COMPANY

FORCE

To many of America's largest advertisers, the spectacular growth of Collier's has a very real significance.

Through sheer editorial merit it has won a position that makes it the logical key medium for winning the American public to a sound idea or a good product.

In its fight for those things which contribute to the best interest of the people, Collier's has never wavered.

It has made enemies. It has been denounced on the floor of Congress. It has been subjected to violent attacks of individuals. It has been threatened and sued.

And it has earned and won the respect of the aggressive, open-minded, youthful-thinking American citizens whose greatest interest, like that of Collier's, is in the common good.

Collier's is read today with an intensity of interest that has no parallel among publications of large circulation.

What appears in Collier's is the theme of American thought.

Its editorials and articles are reprinted, quoted, argued, discussed and preached.

WANTED: HOME FOR DRUGGAN'S ORPHAN HORSES

BY FRENCH LANE.

A strange combination of circumstances has made turf waifs out of more than two score royally bred horses, who are nibbling oats and hay not many miles distant from Chicago's great race courses.

KENTUCKY CARDINAL.

Some of these horses are of racing age, others have just become so, and still others are weanlings, suckling colts and fillies, running at their mothers' sides.

They are the horses on Sanola farm, just northwest of Chicago, and their owner, Terry Druggan, is not in a position to make future plans for them. The former beer baron, who once visualized himself as a great sportsman, is unable to unravel the situation. He is in prison at Leavenworth, but before his entrance there he and his horses had already been barred from every big racing center in the country.

Oblivious to the sad plight which had overtaken their owner, the horses which he had assembled on his farm for breeding purposes have kept right on bringing so many young race horses into the world every year.

As a result there are crops of 3 year olds, 2 year olds, and yearlings on the farm who have never yet been named, who have not been trained, and who are no doubt beginning to wonder what is the reason for their apparently aimless existence.

And what is there to do about it? Kentucky Cardinal, the boss of the thoroughbred harem, would probably say "Turn out the lights and go to sleep."

There isn't a Judge Landis nor a Will Hays in horse racing to whom one might refer such a perplexing problem. The highest tribunal as far as the turf is concerned is the Jockey club of New York. The members of this exclusive organization, headed by William Woodward, the banker, have never indicated by past actions that they would care to sort over Mr. Druggan's linen.

So there seems to be no other solution than to carry on. John Sullivan continues to manage the farm and care for the outlawed horses—old and young alike, while Dr. J. M. Kaiser, the veterinarian, makes regular calls there to look after the health of the animals. Within a few more weeks there will be twelve new horses on the place, as that number of mares are now in foal.

Kentucky Cardinal's career has been almost as notorious as that of his owner. He was bred by Desha Breckinridge, Lexington publisher, and showed great promise as a 2 year old in 1924. In 1925 he was a leading western candidate for the Kentucky Derby.

Sold for $50,000.

Almost on the eve of the Derby, Frank Croissant of Chicago, who had become suddenly wealthy on real estate promotions, startled the racing world by purchasing the colt from Mr. Breckinridge for upwards of $50,000. This was almost a record price for a 3 year old at the time.

Druggan became interested with Croissant in Florida real estate. Then came the bursting of the real estate bubble. The investments Druggan made with Croissant went smash. All the ex-beer baron finished with was Mr. Croissant's horse, Kentucky Cardinal.

When Druggan decided to become a farmer and horse breeder as a diversion from his turbulent beer and gang activities, he bought Sanola farm and placed Kentucky Cardinal at the head of the stud.

Other Horsemen Won't Budge.

As the first matron for the farm he bought the sensational racing mare Sanola. There is now an unnamed and untried 3 year old son and 2 year old daughter of Kentucky Cardinal-Sanola on the place. It is a combination of blood lines that would be welcome to almost any racing stable. But their career, like the careers of the other horses on Druggan's farm, may be destined to futility.

Race track persons in a position to buy these horses out of their exile have so far appeared banded together in some sort of a silent gentlemen's agreement to have no dealings with Druggan, nor with any one who represents him. Druggan could give them away, but even then race track officials would peer out over their spectacles and gaze with great suspicion and alarm on the ownership papers.

University of Toronto Beats Princeton in Hockey, 3 to 1

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—After being tied near the end of the regulation third period the University of Toronto hockey team spurted in a ten minute overtime period to subdue Princeton at Madison Square garden tonight. Two goals in the extra period gave the Canadians a 3 to 1 triumph.

THE GUMPS—WELCOME

NUMEROUS RACE TRACKS.

"WHY is it necessary to have a different track for each short race meeting? Why should not the Arlington Park track, for example, have racing every day during the entire season before money is put in a new plant? Of course, there must be an answer but there probably are other people like myself who cannot figure it out."

These questions are propounded by Reader A. R. B. They were prompted by reading plans of the various Chicago tracks for 1933 and the contemplated expenditure for revival of old Harlem.

In Chicago turf territory are Arlington Park, Washington Park, Lincoln Fields, Hawthorne, Sportsman's Park, a d Aurora. Three tracks, at the outside, would be enough, located in the northwest, west and south sections of the city. With only three tracks, racing could be conducted at a profit, under normal conditions, with curtailment of the season to 90, or at most 120 racing days. The present season is too long.

Attempting to answer Reader A. R. B.'s queries, there are reasons, not economical, for more than one track in a city the size of Chicago. Patrons attend more often the course nearest their place of residence. That perhaps is not as important—for a confirmed boss player will travel almost anywhere—as the theory that race betters "go stale" or become "track sore" at one location.

Perhaps this theory is based on psychology. With the percentages of maintenance and mutuel "take" against them, most betters must lose money. Some blame it on the track or horses performing there, so develop a feeling such track is unlucky, forgetting losses at other tracks. Then another track opens and they think they will do better there. New environment spurs patronage.

There is another factor. While all tracks must work together in a business way there is jealousy, or call it pride if you wish, in seeking to offer the most attractive racing cards and in providing conveniences for patrons. It just isn't in the human makeup of track owners to lease their tracks to other operators, although such leasing might prove more profitable all around.

The Wake can see economic waste in maintenance of even three tracks in one city, but we don't begrudge it. We, too, like a change of scene and the competitive rivalry of the several associations. But where racing prospers, too many always try to crowd into the picture. Many turf wars and consequent weakening of the united front against reform attacks have resulted therefrom.

This condition is not peculiar to racing. It exists in pugilism and other sports. Two baseball parks in one city migh. be cited as an almost parallel case. Yet two clubs in the same city frequently have used the same baseball park for a time. It never proved satisfactory for a long continued period.

GETZ TO CONFER WITH DEMPSEY IN EAST TODAY

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—George Getz, chairman of the sports committee of A Century of Progress, will arrive tomorrow to confer with Jack Dempsey on the possibility of bringing the Max Schmeling-Max Baer bout to Chicago next summer. Getz, who helped Tex Rickard in the promotion of the second Gene Tunney-Dempsey fight in 1927, is motoring to New York city.

Schmeling and Baer have signed for the bout, and Dempsey now is seeking a site for the contest. Among the cities mentioned are Cleveland, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, Auga Caliente, and Philadelphia.

MICHIGAN STATE MENTIONS STAGG AS HEAD COACH

Peden, Casteel Also Get Support for Job.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Ralph H. Young, Michigan State college athletic director, was being deluged today with applications from football coaches who want to succeed James H. Crowley, whose resignation to accept an offer from Fordham university was announced last night.

While Young would give no hint as to the probable selection, he said it was apparent that there would be a world of available talent from which to choose.

There was growing sentiment, expressed mainly off the campus, in favor of giving Amos Alonzo Stagg of Chicago a berth at East Lansing. It was pointed out that the veteran coach would fit into the athletic picture at State well and would be a forceful leader both on and off the playing field. Director Young played under Stagg about 15 years ago and has always expressed the highest regard for his ability and wholesome influence on the sport.

Favor Casteel's Promotion.

Campus rumor had it that Don Peden, Ohio university coach, who was mentioned as a possible successor to Stagg at Chicago, is favored for the East Lansing position. He has had marked success at the Athens, O., school.

Player sentiment seems to favor advancement of Miles W. [Mike] Casteel, Spartan backfield coach and chief scout under Crowley, and an assistant in the coaching staff for the last seven years. It was pointed out, also, that it would be well to continue the Notre Dame style of play in which the players have been drilled by Crowley with notable success.

STAGG IMPROVES

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Dr. Max Rohde, who is attending Amos Alonzo Stagg, Chicago university football coach for more than 40 years, for bronchial pneumonia, said today that Stagg would be permitted to sit up as he pleased tomorrow. Stagg is at the Medical Arts sanitarium and was permitted visitors today.

"He is improving steadily," said Dr. Rohde, 'and most certainly will be out of the hospital within a week." His temperature, which gave some concern to Dr. Rohde earlier in the week, has gone down to about 100.

Miss Pauline Stagg, the coach's sister, visited him today.

Stagg, who suffered a cold en route to New York from Chicago to attend the annual coaches' meeting, will recover quickly because of his amazing vitality, in the opinion of Dr. Rohde.

Stagg daily sends reports on his condition to Mrs. Stagg at their home near the University of Chicago campus. Mrs. Stagg, it was learned, attempted to come to his bedside, but Stagg urged her to stay in Chicago.

WARNER IGNORED GRIDIRON SCRUBS, ALUMNUS SAYS

Stanford University, Cal., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Glenn S. [Pop] Warner, veteran Stanford football coach, who recently resigned to go to Temple university, was accused tonight by Frank Guerena, alumnus, of 'laxity" in making the acquaintance of members of his freshmen and reserve football squads.

Guerena, chairman of the staff committee of Stanford's board of athletic control, made the charge at a meeting of the committee when the subject of a successor came up for discussion.

"Mr. Warner," Guerena said, "never went to a freshman game and the only time he saw the reserves was when they scrimmaged the varsity."

He added that he would recommend a strong effort to bring all of the players together under capable leadership. Conditions under Warner, he said, showed a "noticeable lack" of friendly relations between the head coach and players not on the varsity squad.

No definite recommendation was made for a successor to Warner.

CALIFORNIA, HERE THEY ARE!

The spirit of youth will be exemplified tomorrow night at Chicago Stadium when the 32 boxers representing the archdioceses of Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Chicago fight for the intercity championship and the National Catholic boxing trophy.

In addition to the championship bouts, there will be eight preliminary fights to determine the winners of the junior boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth organization under whose auspices the intercity bouts are to be held. The bouts will get under way at 8 o'clock with the boys participating in the junior tournament heading the card.

118 POUNDS—Joe Zacek, St. Rose of Lima, vs. Mike McCann, St. Bernard.

Examine Contestants Tomorrow.

Packey McFarland will referee the bouts. The judges will be Edward Hintz, Livingston Osborne, Rube Metz, John Bray, Edward Klein, and F. L. Jackson. Ted Tracy and Al Krause will be the timers. M. Price Jones is the announcer.

Members of the C. Y. O. medical board, headed by Dr. James V. Russell, will examine each contestant tomorrow afternoon to determine the physical fitness of each boy. The fighters will weigh in at 2 o'clock. The boxers yesterday went through the final stages of training and were reported in fine condition.

"The Chicago boys will be in top-notch shape when they step into the ring," said McFarland, boxing director of the C. Y. O. "The fans ought to see plenty of action in the eight preliminary bouts and the sixteen intercity fights that will follow."

Predict Sellout for Bouts.

Willie Ritchie, a former lightweight world's champion and director of the western boxers, reported that the California fighters were on battle edge.

There is every indication, according to William J. Campbell, business manager of the Catholic Youth Organization, that the Stadium will be a sellout for the bouts. Campbell announced a heavy advance sale.

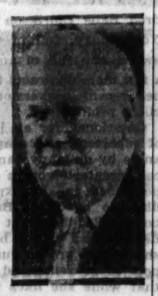
Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

KENTUCKIANS, who take as much pride in their famous Derby as they once took in their good liquor, must have heard with considerable joy the announcement from Col. Matt Winn that there will be no reduction in the value of the Kentucky Derby.

This means that the Kentucky Derby will continue to be a $50,000 added 3 year old stake.

Last year five 3 year old races of this value or more were decided in America. They were the Arlington Classic, Belmont Stakes, American Derby, Preakness Stakes, and the Kentucky Derby.



COL. M. J. WINN.

There are reports that the value of the Preakness will be slashed, possibly to $25,000. The value of the Belmont will be cut, New York Jockey club officials have indicated. The Classic carried $70,000 in added money last year and the American Derby had a $50,000 added prize. No hint has been given as to whether they will remain at these figures in 1933.

But Col. Winn has assured the anxious Kentuckians they need not worry about their big horse race being other than a genuine turf classic. His early announcement that the prize will continue to be worth $50,000 also encouraged the owners and trainers to move on ahead with their 3 year old charges, just as they have in other years, in an effort to have them ready for the race which attracts worldwide interest.

The Derby is to be run on May 6 this year, which is earlier than usual. The field possibly will be larger than ever. The honor of winning a Derby in other years has been no small item to persons fortunate enough to possess a horse worthy of starting in the race. In 1933 one suspects the $50,000 prize may even overshadow the honor of owning a Derby winner.

Big Ten basketball, which once was in a class by itself, has had considerable difficulty holding its own this season. The conference schedule does not open until Saturday night, but there is not one undefeated quintet in the league.

Chicago won its opening game from Lake Forest by a margin of a point and then lost to Beloit, the Alumni, Kentucky, and Washington. Northwestern whipped Bradley, Marquette, and Pittsburgh, but could get only an even break in two games with Notre Dame. Michigan, which usually has one of the strongest teams in the Big Ten, has lost to Western State Teachers twice, Michigan State, and Syracuse.

Illinois defeated Bradley, Missouri, North Dakota State, and Detroit, but was beaten by Wabash. Wisconsin dropped both of its games with Marquette and also lost to Carleton. The Badgers won from Maryland and Michigan State. Iowa, harassed by the eligibility status of Blackmer and Break, whipped Monmouth, Carleton, Bradley, and Drake, but lost to North Dakota State in its final preconference contest.

Purdue, last year's champion, looked impressive in victories over Notre Dame, St. Louis, and Miami, but took it on the chin from Pittsburgh. Ohio State lost its opening game to Ohio Wesleyan, but developed fast to win from Toledo, Vanderbilt, Notre Dame, and Kentucky. Indiana, in the heart of the country where babies use basketballs for teething rings, defeated De Pauw, Cincinnati, and Wabash but was not good enough for Marquette and Miami. Minnesota trimmed Nebraska twice and also beat Grinnell, but lost to Pitt.

Among the leading nonconference teams of the section, Marquette won from Wisconsin twice, Indiana and Whitewater Teachers, but was whipped by Northwestern. Notre Dame defeated Illinois Wesleyan and Albion, split with Northwestern and lost to Purdue and Ohio State.

PRO FOOTBALL CALLED PERIL TO COLLEGE GAME

President's Survey Sees Switch by Fans.

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—College football is not on the decline, President Hoover's research committee on social trends believes, but it faces the possibility that "public interest may eventually shift from college to professional football, because of the superior skill of the latter."

"If this should happen," writes Dr J. F. Steiner, professor of sociology at the University of Washington, who contributed the chapter on sports and recreation to the national committee report, "college football may follow college baseball and decline as a public spectacle, becoming a game of no more than local interest.

"That grave ills have resulted from the stress and struggle to win football championships there can be no doubt," Dr Steiner's report concludes. "A few of the leading colleges and universities already have attempted to reorganize their athletics more in accord with general student welfare and educational ideals."

It's the Depression.

The survey, so far as its statistics are concerned, covers only the period up to and including 1930.

It points out that, "since neither the curve of attendance nor the curve of receipts showed any tendency to flatten out previous to 1930, there is reason to assume that hard times rather than declining interest is responsible for the decreased size of football crowds."

Dr. Steiner writes that 49 colleges and universities replying to a survey "reported that attendance more than doubled between 1921 and 1930 the increase being 119 per cent.

"Football receipts, as reported by 65 institutions, grew from $2,696,345 to $8,363,674, a gain of 210 per cent. Both attendance and receipts increased with considerable regularity during the first nine years of this period, with a sharp falling off in 1930, the decline over the preceding year amounting to 6 per cent in the case of admissions and 9 per cent in receipts.

Few Half Million Gates.

Since then Associated Press surveys have indicated a decline for 1931-'32 of approximately 25 per cent in college football attendance, with a greater percentage of decrease in gate receipts.

The report notes further: "The average gross receipts per school in 1930 ranged from $5,565 for colleges of less than 500 students to $245,417 for universities of the largest size. Of the 129 institutions reporting receipts for 1930, eight reported gross receipts in excess of $500,000 each and 33 reported receipts of more than $100,000.

INDIAN BUREAU MOVES TO CURB HASKELL SPORTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Less attention is to be paid to athletics at Haskell Indian Institute.

This was made known today by the Indian bureau as an outgrowth of an inquiry begun by Senator Cutting [Rep., N. M.] into the failure to renew the contract of Frank McDonald, the school's athletic director.

Explaining that a "reduction of the abnormal emphasis upon athletics" at the Lawrence, Kas., school is being put into effect "in line with similar progress being made at universities and colleges everywhere," the Indian bureau added:

"Those in charge of the educational administration of Indian affairs are strongly in favor of school and college athletics.

"They have an enthusiastic conviction that Haskell institute, with its large number of specialized vocational students from a wide variety of Indian tribes, can have excellent athletic team fully capable of competition with many schools and colleges.

"They are determined, however, to make the emphasis the physical and recreational education of the boys and girls at Haskell rather than commercialized inter-institutional athletics."

Officials said today McDonald's contract was not renewed because of economy and also because of the new athletic policy.

SLUGGER TALKS THIS WEEK WITH YANK OFFICIALS

Coach Jimmy Burke Released.

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The annual debate between Babe Ruth and Col. Jake Ruppert and Ed Barrow, New York officials, over the amount of Ruth's salary for the coming season will be held before the week is out. Arrangements for the meeting were made today.

BABE RUTH.

Meanwhile Ruth, Ruppert, and Barrow continue silent on reports that Ruth will be asked to accept $50,000 for the 1933 season—a cut of $25,000 from his 1932 salary. Barrow insisted today that as yet there has been no salary talk whatever between Ruth and the Yankee management.

Local baseball circles expect Ruth to hold out against Ruppert's proposition and that the Yankee owner will have to raise his bid before the slugger signs. Ruth's big argument probably will be that he played 132 games in 1932 and can do better this year. Ruth is understood to have said he is reconciled to a cut of some kind, but not one of $25,000.

Release Coach Burke.

The Yankees today announced the unconditional release of Coach Jimmy Burke and also made public a roster of 33 players who will go to the spring training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., on March 1.

The release of Burke, long a lieutenant of Manager Joe McCarthy, came as a surprise inasmuch as the Yankees, in the recent baseball meetings, opposed successfully a move to reduce rosters by including coaches in the player limit of 23.

Krichell Gets Job.

No reason for Burke's release was announced. His place was taken by Paul Krichell, listed also as a Yankee scout. Arthur Fletcher, former manager of the Phillies, and Ralph [Cy] Perkins, long a catcher with the Athletics, were retained as coaches.

The roster revealed that "Red" Rolfe, former Dartmouth shortstop star who played sensational ball with Newark on the international league Yankee farm, would not go south with the team. The names of Ed Wells, veteran southpaw, and George Selkirk, young outfielder, also were excluded from the list, the assumption being that all three will spend the summer in Newark.

In addition to the coaches and Manager McCarthy, the roster listed 14 pitchers, 9 infielders, 7 outfielders, and three catchers.

SPEAKER TO DISCUSS DEAL

Cleveland, O., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Tris Speaker today said that "as far as I know" there was nothing definite about reports he might become manager of the Kansas City Blues.

Speaker was commenting on a statement by E. Lee Keyser, Des Moines Western league club owner, that they would be associated in a pending deal to purchase the Blues.

"I don't know anything more about it," Speaker said. He left tonight for Kansas City to confer with Keyser.

If the leader of Cleveland's only pennant winners and world's champions goes to Kansas City he will return to baseball after being out of the game since 1930, when he was succeeded by Al Mamaux as manager of Newark in the International league.

Until leaving Newark he had been in organized baseball twenty-five years, breaking into the major leagues with the Boston Red Sox in 1908. In 1916 he went to Cleveland and remained with Cleveland until 1926, the last eight years as manager. He then went to Washington and Philadelphia in the American league before becoming manager at Newark in 1929.

PHILS DROP FRIBERG

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Barney Friberg, infielder for the Philadelphia National league baseball club, was given his unconditional release today. He joined the Phillies eight years ago, being obtained from the Chicago Cubs for the waiver price.

Friberg, who is 32 years old, played four seasons with the Cubs. His 12 years in the major league entitles him to an unconditional release and he now is a free agent. While with the Phillies, Friberg played all four infield positions.

GLEASON RITES SATURDAY

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Funeral services for William [Kid] Gleason, one of the leading figures in the baseball world, will be held at 2:20 p. m. Saturday, it was announced today. Gleason died Monday after a lingering heart illness. He was 67 years old.

BOSTON INVADES STADIUM TONIGHT TO BATTLE HAWKS

Iverson Shifts Players of Reserve Lines.

The Boston Bruins will play their third game of the season against the Blackhawks tonight at the Chicago Stadium. The Bruins shattered the Hawks' home winning streak Dec. 15 by triumphing, 1 to 0.

The Boston lineup will have Marty Barry and Dit Clapper on the wings, Nels Stewart at center, Eddie Shore and Lionel Hitchman on defense, and Tiny Thompson at goal. Hitchman was injured during the two teams' last meeting in Chicago, but has recovered sufficiently to resume play.

A great measure of the Bruins' success this season is credited to the return of Red Beattie, who has shown no ill effects from the broken leg which kept him idle all last winter. Art Ross, Bruin manager, said Beattie's absence was mainly responsible for Boston's disastrous season last year. Beattie is center on a second line with Joe Lamb at right wing and Obs Heximer at left.

Bruins Are Heavyweights.

The Bruins are the heavyweights of the National league. Because of their weight and the presence of the league's three most aggressive players, Eddie Shore, Joe Lamb, and Nels Stewart, the Bruins play a bruising game. Ross, an exponent of rough hockey, orders his men to employ their weight for all it is worth. As a result the Boston team spends a lot of time in the penalty box, and because of overbelligerence, not only the manager but members of the team have been fined and cautioned by Frank Calder, president of the league.

Wiebe May Play.

M'LAUGHLIN RESIGNS

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Chicago Blackhawks, and Col. John S. Hammond resigned as governors of the National Hockey league at the January session today. They will be replaced by William J. Tobin, Blackhawks' business manager, and William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden.

Col. Hammond recently resigned as president of the New York Rangers. It also was voted to make two minor rules' changes and to place only one official in control of games. The referee will call all fouls and impose penalties and another official, judge of play, will call only the offsides.

The owners conferred on the playoff dates, but they will not be definitely set until next March. All league cities, except Chicago and Ottawa, were represented.

ROWLAND TURNS ALBANY CLUB BACK TO CUBS

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Clarence H. Rowland, president and manager of the Albany International league club last year, has turned back the franchise to the Chicago Cubs and will not exercise his option to purchase a controlling interest in the local team, he informed the Knickerbocker Press tonight from Chicago.

Rowland transferred the Reading, Pa., franchise to Albany in August, 1932, and had indicated he would return this year because of the fine support given the team in the closing weeks of the season. He holds an option for the use of Hawkins stadium here which expires Jan. 15.

Whether the Chicago Cubs will operate the club here or any other place is a matter of conjecture, but it is understood the Cubs' management wants to dispose of the franchise and confine its minor league activities to the operation of the Los Angeles farm in the Pacific Coast league.

BARGAIN, SAYS VEECK.

William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago National league baseball club, last night said that the Albany-Reading International league franchise, upon which Clarence Rowland has failed to exercise an option to purchase, may be "bought at a bargain."

ABIE COLEMAN TO MEET MARVIN ON FRONTON CARD

Abie Coleman, Jewish heavyweight, has been matched to meet Tommy Marvin, Oklahoma Indian, in one of the supporting bouts on the Hans Kampfer-Joe Stecher wrestling card Monday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Marvin is one of several Indians from Oklahoma who have turned to wrestling recently.

Joe Savoldi and Jim McMillen, two former football players, who have not met before, are matched in another preliminary. McMillen was a tackle at the University of Illinois in Red Grange's day, and Savoldi was a full back at Notre Dame. Later they played together on the Chicago Bears, professional team.

St. Viator Beats St. Thomas for First Victory, 29 to 28

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—St. Viator defeated St. Thomas college of St. Paul, 29 to 28, tonight. It was the first victory of the season for St. Viator and ended St. Thomas' 20 game winning streak. Murgatroyd starred for St. Viator. Nomiko of St. Thomas was high point scorer with five baskets. St Thomas led at the half, 17 to 15.

MOON MULLINS—A BLACK OUTLOOK

Paul Starts Title Drill Tomorrow

Thus, the champion will be here a full week in advance and with Miller already here, the railbirds will have plenty of opportunities to size up the boxers who will meet for the 126 pound championship.

Milling to Arrive Also.

A telegram yesterday from Los Angeles stated that Varias Milling, Filipino featherweight, would also arrive tomorrow. Milling holds the 126 pound championship of the orient, as well as the California state title.

His opponent will be Johnny Pena of Detroit, who ousted Fidel La Barba from the N. B. A. tournament last year. Pena was Matchmaker Nate Lewis' original choice, but balked over terms. Nate then named Joey Palazzola, but the Illinois state athletic commission stepped in and declared Joey was not a suitable foe. In the meanwhile the Stadium learned that Pena had changed his mind and the offer to him was renewed. His acceptance was received yesterday.

Martin Levandowski, Grand Rapids puncher, will battle Harry Ebbetts of New York in another bout. An eight round number brings together Paul Dazzo of Chicago and Johnny Mitchell, who had Paul on the floor in a bout here last summer.

Dazzo, Miller Work Out.

Dazzo and Miller now are training at Trafton's gym. Paul upon his arrival tomorrow will establish himself at Kid Howard's. The latter spot also will be the scene of Levandowski's advance preparations, as well as Johnny Mitchell's. Milling will work at Trafton's as will Harry Ebbetts, who will arrive on Monday.

Paul, who holds the National Boxing association's belt, has been ordered to bring it with him and it will be deposited with the commission to be returned to him if he wins, or handed to Miller if Freddie's glove is raised.

There will be no difficulty on the weight score for either. Paul came in at exactly 126 pounds when he beat Fidel La Barba last week. Miller, who beat Jackie Sharkey on the same bill, scale? 126½. Neither worried about poundage on that occasion, so that the title limit of 126 pounds is a natural figure for both.

Ten bouts will comprise the interscholastic amateur boxing meet between St. Philip High school boxers and St. Patrick of South Chicago at St. Philip's gymnasium tomorrow night. They follow:

ST. PHILIP.		ST. PATRICK.
Art Palladino	vs.	Barney Slize
Charles Carey	vs.	Young Firpo
Ray Tierney	vs.	John Pistella
Bill Herlihy	vs.	Barney Buff
Ed Garvey	vs.	Young Casey
Bill Broderick	vs.	Al Capalby
Joe Latkus	vs.	George Koupenny
Bob Harps	vs.	Babe Adams
Ed Keane	vs.	Vince McGovern
Art Winnebeck	vs.	Mike Krizmas

The second professional show at Kid Howard's gymnasium has been postponed from Jan. 10 to Jan. 17. Duffy Dvonch and Phil Pernice will make their pro debuts on the card. . . . Johnny Reba, south side lightweight, and Andy Naat have signed to meet at Michigan City, Ind., next Monday. Joey Bozak, Blue Island, Ill., featherweight, and Leon Hendrickson clash in the 10 round windup. . . Billy Jones, Philadelphia light heavyweight, will be unable to box for two more weeks, due to a cut eye received in the recent bout with Maxie Rosenbloom.

King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, left last night for Philadelphia where he boxes Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion, next Tuesday. He was accompanied by Tony Cancela, a stablemate; Mrs. Lena Levy, his sister-manager, and Sammy Krakow and Harold Steinman, his co-trainers. Cancela battles on the Levinsky-Loughran card.

This match will be the third between Loughran and King, Tommy winning the first and Levinsky the second. After the bout Levinsky and his troupe will go to New York to join Primo Carnera and Walter (Good Time Charley) Friedman, Carnera's manager. They are to confer on a tour of Europe for Carnera and Levinsky, starting next month.

CHESS MEETING SATURDAY.

A meeting to complete arrangements for a chess tournament will be held at the Chicago Chess and Bridge club, 35 South Dearborn street, Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The meet will be held under the auspices of the Chicago City Chess league.

Guppies Make Big Hit with Fish Keepers

BY BOB BECKER.

The fish hobby has been spreading rapidly among home owners, with the result that thousands of small aquariums have been started with guppies and other interesting species of small tropical fish. Some of the more common species not only are handsome but they also are live bearers.

Inasmuch as the average citizen always thinks of fish as laying eggs, a viviparous or live bearing fish causes no end of interest when the tiny young are born alive.

Guppies Make a Hit.

Today the guppies probably are among the most popular tropical live bearing tropical fish which are being kept in small home aquariums. They are ideal for a beginner to start with, handsome, and active in appearance and quite hardy. We have nine of these little fellows [born on Christmas day] which, although tiny and extremely fragile in appearance, stood a moving from a small tank into a new home and apparently thrived on this upset in their lives.

To a fisherman who knows something about the various game fish of the United States the fact that the guppies and other species of tropical fish now so popular with owners of small aquariums, give birth to their young alive isn't such a startling fact. Although the black bass, the wall-eye, the muskie and other common fresh water game fish are egg laying species we have several small game fish in salt water which are viviparous. On a trip to California a few years ago we had the fun of catching some of these fishes which are known locally as "surf fish."

From Alaska South.

There are a number of these live bearers on the western coast. Some of them range as far north as Alaska and are common 'way down the coast to lower California.

One species of these live bearers which fishermen may recognize at the mention of its name is the sparada of California. It's a small surf fish, found on muddy or sandy shallows. We caught a few of these on sand beaches some distance below Los Angeles. The young of this fish are hatched within the body just as the handsome and popular guppies bring forth their young alive.

In the case of the guppies the newly born fish are only about one-eighth of an inch long. Their size makes them good food for the adult male fish, which is cannibalistic, another characteristic which is not peculiar to tropical pet fish. We have any number of examples of cannibalism among our common game fish.

Kieckhefer Wins Two Blocks from Scoville

Augie Kieckhefer, world's three cushion billiard champion, won the first two blocks of his 400 point exhibition match with Frank Scoville, Buffalo, N. Y., at Kieckhefer's Recreation room yesterday. Kieckhefer won the afternoon match, 50 to 45, in 59 innings, and the evening block, 50 to 41, in 46 innings.

Planning to Wed? Babe Didrikson Tells World "No!"

Questioned for an hour by a horde of reporters, and snapped from every angle by as many cameramen, America's greatest woman athlete was unperturbed as she explained that she liked to be called Babe because the boys called her that when they saw her prowess with a baseball bat; that she turned pro because she didn't expect to be reinstated as an amateur: that while she likes to box, golf and play baseball, basketball is her first love and she'll probably sign with some pro team; and that there is a chance she'll go to Europe for an exhibition tour later in the year.

Only one thing flustered Babe. A woman reporter asked her: "Are you planning to marry?"

Which is the angular Babe's way of saying that she has not even a sweetie.

Sir Malcolm to Seek Auto Mark on Beach

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4. — Sir Malcolm Campbell, world's automobile speed record holder, will make an attempt to better his mark of 253.96 miles an hour on the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., next month. Sir Malcolm, who was knighted by King George in 1931, will sail for the United States on Jan. 25.

The Bluebird, Sir Malcolm's giant machine, now is in the shops at Horley, Surrey, and will be shipped Jan. 18. The machine has been rebuilt and it is reported the horsepower has been increased to 2,500.

Sets Several Records.

Sir Malcolm has been making speed attempts at Daytona Beach since 1928. He set a mark of 206.95 in that year, but the record was broken by Sir Henry Seagrave, who later was killed in an attempt to establish a world's motorboat record.

Sir Malcolm regained the record in 1929 when he raced 245,733 miles an hour at South Africa. Last year he established a new record of 253.96 miles an hour at Daytona Beach and also made new marks for five kilometers, five miles and ten kilometers.

Expects to Go 300 M. P. H.

Sir Malcolm hopes to set a mark of 300 miles an hour next month. The body of the Bluebird has been streamlined further to cut down the air resistance.

Independently wealthy, Sir Malcolm, in addition to auto racing, is an amateur yachtsman and a breeder of thoroughbred dogs.

Hyde Park and Lindblom Win League Games

Lindblom, Hyde Park, and Wendell Phillips were victors in central section heavyweight basketball games in the Chicago Public High school league yesterday. Lindblom defeated Tilden Tech, 34 to 30; Hyde Park beat Englewood, 27 to 18, and Phillips whipped Bowen, 39 to 29.

A rally in the last half gave Lindblom its victory. Lindblom led at the end of the first half, 26 to 15, but the score, with several minutes to go, was 32 to 30. Seaborg, Lindblom forward, sank a long shot just before the final whistle to clinch the triumph.

Seaborg Is Star.

Seaborg led the Lindblom scorers with four field goals and as many free throws. Byrne and Annerino starred for Tilden, the latter collecting four baskets and a free throw. Annerino collected nine points.

Holliday led Hyde Park to its victory over Englewood. He got 12 points. Kramer and Wetzel also starred for Hyde Park.

Mitchell Leads Phillips.

Leading Phillips to its triumph over Bowen was Mitchell, who turned in six field goals and two free throws. He was aided by Gilles and Gant. Lineups:

BOYS AND GIRLS, MAIL ENTRY NOW IN SILVER SKATES

Deadline Jan. 16; Lagoon Already Frozen Over.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The sixteenth annual Silver Skates derbies, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 21 and 22 at Garfield park. Last year, for the first time since the inception of the series of races, the derbies were postponed. This year, however, there is every reason to believe that the meet will be held on the days selected.

For one thing, Garfield park lagoon, where the derbies have been held with one exception when they were transferred to Chicago's south side, now is frozen over. Although no skating is permitted, a few days sub-freezing weather will strengthen the ice which was formed last month.

Entries Close on Jan. 16.

Entries for the seven derbies will close at midnight, Jan. 16. An entry blank is printed daily in these columns. Clubs and other skating organizations, which wish to compete for the Walter Eckersall Memorial trophy, emblematic of the team championship, may send in their entries in a group if the ages of all contestants are vouched for by an official of the club. A careful check of ages will be made by the Illinois Western Skating association, which has sanctioned the meet, and if any contestant is over age for the division in which he races, he will be deprived of any award that he may have won and he will be banned from further competition indefinitely.

Men's Senior—18 years of age and over.
Boys' Intermediate—16 and 17 years of age.
Boys' Junior—14 and 15 years of age.
Boys' Juvenile—12 and 13 years of age.
Boys' Midget—Under 12 years of age.
Girls' Junior—Under 16 years of age.

Three pairs of skates are the awards for the first three places in each of the seven derbies. Silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the fourth and fifth place winners in each class. In addition, each contestant who reports for his qualifying heat will receive a gold button.

Clip Your Entry Blank.

Entry for the derbies now is the most important consideration. Clip the blank and mail it to Wilfred Smith, sports department, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. The names and racing numbers of all contestants will appear on the morning of the preliminaries in which they must compete.

ZENKA WINS AT JEFFERSON PARK UNDER HARD RIDE

Whipper Cracker Places; Favorite Runs Out.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Frank A. Riley's Zenka came from behind under hard riding to win by three-quarters of a length over Bennett Creech's Whipper Cracker in the featured Fairway drive purse at Jefferson Park today. R. H. New's Wrackell was third.

The race was at a mile and 70 yards, under claiming conditions, and attracted eight starters. C. V. Whitney's Skirl, the favorite, broke first and showed the way for six furlongs. Whipper Cracker and the Shandon Farm's La Salle stayed well up during the early stages, but they were content to allow Skirl a long lead.

Zenka had been far back in the first half mile, but as the field turned out of the backstretch she began to move up rapidly, closing much ground on the leaders. As La Salle tired and started to fall back, she came up courageously to challenge for the lead.

Zenka Drives to Victory.

At the stretch turn Whipper Cracker moved ahead and into the lead, replacing Skirl, which had tired. Zenka's game drive was too much for the Creech racer and in the stretch the daughter of Axenstein and Balvale closed with sufficient speed to insure her victory. Skirl finished fourth, beaten a head for the show by the fast closing Wrackell.

Zenka's time was 1:45 3-5. She paid $13.60 for $2 to win, $6.40 place, and $4 show. Whipper Cracker was the second best supported, returning $2.60 to place and $2.20 to show.

The longest price of the day was paid in the fourth event, when Mrs. S. A. Ketchall's daughter of Pot Au Feu and Hot Spot, Spot Pot, led home a capacity field of 3 year olds to reward her backers with $27.20. Apprentice Jockey M. Calvert piloted the winner to complete a double, having scored previously astride Wild Child in the second race.

Major Gomez Is Third.

The race was chiefly between the two lightweights of the field, Spot Pot and Mrs. H. Howard's Straphanger. Each carried 99 pounds. E. E. Major's Major Gomez finished third, Frank K. fourth, and Auerbon, which had been prominent in the early stages, fifth.

Both Spot Pot and Straphanger were held just off the early pace of Major Gomez. The race was also at a mile and 70 yards and after six furlongs the two lightweights moved up to fight it out throughout the stretch. Spot Pot finished with such a rush that she took the lead a short distance from the wire and quickly increased her advantage to two lengths.

Straphanger had been made a heavy favorite, although Auerbon also found support in the wagering. Spot Pot paid $10 to place and $6.40 to show, while Straphanger returned $2.20 to place and $3 to show.

Old Mother Hubbard	Jack and the Beanstalk

HAVE you started this interesting new game? If not, do so today. It is a test of your memory and skill.

Simply "Put Together" the pictures of storybook days and name them. A new picture is printed each day in the Chicago Daily Tribune. When you have the complete series send them in.

430 big cash prizes totaling $5,000.00 will be paid by the Chicago Tribune to the persons who send in the best answers. It costs you nothing. There is no hard work to do. No strings—no catches. No subscriptions to solicit! Just a little pleasant amusement and an opportunity to win a substantial cash award. You can start with the first four pictures printed here.

THE RULES:

1. Eligibility: Every man, woman, boy, and girl is eligible except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. It costs nothing.

2. What to Do: "Put-Together" and name the pictures of storybook days printed in the Chicago Daily Tribune. A new picture will be printed each day for 42 consecutive days except Sundays. Each entry must consist of answers to the 42 pictures. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set. It is not necessary to buy the Chicago Tribune to compete. The pictures may be copied or traced. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at Public Libraries or at its offices free of charge. The pictures may be pasted on paper, cardboard, in scrap books or any other form.

3. Radio Dramatizations: Each night W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune Radio Station, will broadcast a dramatization of the "Put-Together" Picture to be printed in the Tribune the following day. Tune in. These dramatizations will help you.

4. Where to Send Entries: When you have the complete set of 42 pictures, mail them by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid, to "Put-Togethers," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 42 has been printed. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department.

5. The Judges: A committee of judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept their decision as final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

6. The Prizes: 430 Cash Prizes totaling $5,000.00 will be paid by the Chicago Tribune to the persons who send in the most nearly correct and neatest entries. (See prize list below.) Elaborate entries are not necessary and will receive no greater consideration than simple ones.

SPRAGUE URGES WATER FILTERING TO REMEDY TASTE

Industrial Phenol Pollution Held Accident.

Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, declared yesterday that a permanent solution of Chicago's water pollution problem lies in filtration. This solution, he stated, is dependent largely, however, on the acceptance by the water consumers of a meterization program.

Col. Sprague's opinion was given after he had received a report in which city engineers blamed the industrialixal cities of Lake county, Indiana, for the phenol that has tainted south side drinking water for the last ten days. It was in Indiana waters, according to the report, that the greatest phenol content was discovered. From there the wind had moved the phenol to the vicinity of south side Chicago intake pipes.

Proposes Temporary Remedy.

The treatment consists of adding an ammonia compound to the water before it is treated with chlorine. The phenol and the chlorine together give the water its disagreeable taste, but the action of the ammonia compound dissipates the chloro-phenol taint. Because of the time required for the chemical reaction the treatment must be given at the cribs rather than at the pumping stations, the engineers said.

While this treatment would eliminate the taste that has caused thousands of complaints, it would not rid the water of the offensive taste-producing elements that are found in the oil refinery wastes that come from plants in the Calumet region of Indiana, and that have polluted the lake several times during the last 15 months. The oil companies are cooperating with the city in seeking a remedy.

Filter Designs Completed.

"The real solution of Chicago's water pollution problem lies in filtration," said Col. Sprague. "Designs already have been made, and studies of financial plans for carrying out a filtration program for the south side should be completed this month.

"The only real obstacle in the way of filtration, from an economic standpoint, is the city's excessive per capita water consumption, which could be corrected by metering. On any other basis the costs would be very high and necessitate a substantial increase in water rates.

"With a meter program in effect the slight increase in rates to cover the cost of filtration would be insignificant in proportion to the benefits to be received. But the solution lies largely with the residents in their acceptance or rejection of a metering program."

Believe Pollution Accident.

The engineers believe the dumping of the phenol waste in the lake was "accidental." They said the plants that produce phenol waste have spent large sums on equipment to treat the phenol.

The engineers advanced a theory that a large "slug" of phenol was concentrated due to the recent cold weather, and that the phenol now will dilute in a few days so that the taste won't be noticed. The phenol taste is more noticeable, they said, in cold water, adding that under normal conditions there would have been only a mild taste.

TWO BANKERS SENTENCED TO PRISON TERMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Prison sentences today were imposed on two bankers found false to their trust and on a high postal official convicted of rifling the mails.

Joseph Henry Tayler, 74, banker of Green Bay for 50 years, was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in Leavenworth on charges of misapplying the funds of the McCartney National bank and falsifying the records.

Omer M Kiley, 43, who rose from an errand boy to become cashier of the National Bank of De Pere and mayor of the city, was sentenced to 10 years in Leavenworth on pleading guilty to manipulation of the bank's funds.

Herman C. Pietsch, a government employé for 31 years and long assistant postmaster here, was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth for extracting currency, mostly dollar bills, from the mail. He also was fined $2,500.

Denies Pietsch Motion.

Judge F. E. Geiger, who pronounced the sentences, refused a motion for a new trial for Pietsch. The court declared the government had dealt generously with this employé and that the conviction and sentence was a proper one.

Kiley came before the court without a plea for mercy. At his request his counsel made the statement that there were no extenuating circumstances in his case. He had no wish to return to De Pere before beginning his punishment, he said, and wanted to proceed at once.

Kiley's misappropriations left him owing the bank about $300,000. They were blamed on the market crash and the taking of funds to replace previous losses. He was sentenced on two charges of misappropriation of funds, two of making false entries and one of making a false report to the controller of currency.

Denies Tayler Profited.

Attorney James H. McGillan moved for a new trial of Tayler on the grounds evidence had been barred in the trial to show other officers of the bank had performed the same acts as Tayler. The plea was denied.

"Taylor never profited from his transactions," McGillan said. "He loved the bank as one would love his family. After 50 years the government can find only four acts of his to complain about in connection with the bank."

"I was innocent of any guilty intent, but if I am guilty I want to take what is coming to me," Tayler said.

Rev. John Norman Dies; War Veteran of Civil War

Mount Vernon, Ill., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The Rev. John Norman of Bluford, said to be the oldest native of Jefferson county, died this morning in his 97th year. He served in company C, 60th infantry, in the civil war. He was a victim of influenza. His wife died Sunday.

NITTI'S $25,000 BOND CANCELED; NEW ONE GIVEN

Judge Donald S. McKinlay yesterday canceled the $25,000 bond of the Public Indemnity Company of New Jersey, under which Frank Nitti, leader of the remnant of the Capone gang, gained his freedom on a charge of assault to kill. The action was taken on the state charge that William Markheim, an agent for the company, had asserted falsely in an affidavit that the company was free from judgments on forfeited bonds. Prosecutor Charles Dougherty said that an unpaid judgment for $25,000 is outstanding against the company on a forfeited bond.

A rule for Markheim to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court was entered by Judge McKinlay and set for hearing on Jan. 6. The assault charge was placed against Nitti after he was shot by Detective Harry Lang, who was wounded, in a raid on the Nitti headquarters in a downtown office building.

Judge McKinlay agreed with the defense that the bond of $25,000 was too high and he lowered it to $10,000. Mrs. Grace D'Alessio, Nitti's aunt, scheduled a piece of property at 1206 Macalister place valued at $30,000 on a new bond. Nitti, who is recovering from his wounds, was not in court.

CITY DEATH RATE FOR '32 HITS NEW ALL-TIME LOW

The death rate in Chicago dropped to an all time low record of 9.57 deaths per 100,000 population in 1932, it was disclosed yesterday in the annual report of the board of health. Deaths were 8 per cent fewer than the best previous record.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president, said reorganization of the board of health last spring aided in bringing about the lower death rate. The report showed that the death rate from diphtheria dropped from 6.2 deaths per 100,000 population in 1931 to 1.8 deaths per 100,000 in 1932. Infant mortality decreased from 56.4 per 1,000 births in 1931, to 50.7 per 1,000 births in 1932. Deaths by smallpox also reached the lowest level in the history of the city, Dr. Bundesen said.

A report of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, made public yesterday, revealed that the tuberculosis death rate reached the lowest figure for any year since 1889, with 1,846 deaths, a decrease of 266 deaths under the number for 1931. The death rate for Negroes decreased only 3.5 per cent, as compared to a decrease of 16 per cent for white persons.

LAST OF FAMOUS STEAMBOATIN' LEES IS DEAD

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Cap'n G. Peters Lee—the last of the Steamboatin' Lees—died at his river home today near the gaunt old Mississippi, which the Lee packets have traveled since 1862.

He was 57, and had been a steamboat master since he was 25.

Some of the greatest boats on the river have flown the Lee ensign. Most of them were designed by Cap'n Peters Lee. The James Lee was the first packet of the line. Then the Robert E. Lee (not the racer), the Bob Lee, Georgia Lee, Reese Lee, Sadie Lee, Stacker Lee, Peters Lee, and the last, the James Lee.

Cap'n Peters—that's what river folks called him—was the last connection between the Mississippi and the Lees. And now, for the first time since his grandfather established the Lee lines in 1862 and ran supplies to the confederates, there are no Lees on the river.

Joseph C. Widmer, Tobacco Company Official, Dies

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Joseph C. Widmer, manager of the purchasing department of Liggett & Myers Tobacco company and a director of the same concern, died last night at his home here. He was 74 years old. A native of Pennsylvania, he began with the National Tobacco company at Louisville and later was with the American Cigar company and Amsterdam Supply company as purchasing agent.

SEIZE YOUTH AS BANDIT.

Charles Fusco, 21 years old, said to be a nephew of Joe Fusco, public enemy and Capone syndicate leader, was arrested last night in his room at 6306 Drexel boulevard as an alleged robber.

AL SMITH ATTENDS FUNERAL OF WOMAN POLITICAL ADVISER

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Probably the largest funeral ever given a woman in the city of New York was the tribute to Mrs. Belle Lindner Moskowitz today at the Temple Emanuel, on upper 5th avenue. No fewer than 3,000 mourners crowded into the edifice to listen to the brief and simple funeral services and the mourners represented almost every stratum of city life from the highest and most honorable to the lowest and most humble.

Undoubtedly the sincerest mourner outside the immediate family was former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, whose closest friend and ablest counselor the dead woman was.

The funeral services were conducted by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

WAYLAYS AND SHOOTS FRIEND, ENDS OWN LIFE

Sikora was taken to the county hospital in a critical condition after he had staggered into the home of a neighbor in the same block. He told police he had left his home to get an evening paper and met Zakeski in the alley.

Zakeski, he said, accused him of being insane, and announced his intention of killing him "for the good of society." Zakeski fired one shot, which missed. Sikora struggled with him for the revolver, but when Zakeski got the upper hand he turned and fled. As he ran Zakeski fired twice, hitting him in the back and in the neck.

GEORGE W. HICKS DIES AT 85 IN HIS OAK PARK HOME

George W. Hicks, 85 years old, pioneer Chicago business man, died early this morning at his home at 205 South East avenue, Oak Park. Pneumonia was the cause. Although retired from active duties, he held the office of secretary-treasurer of the Green Oil Soap company.

Mr. Hicks was born at Utica, N. Y., and came to Illinois in his youth. After establishing a mercantile business at Marseilles he moved to Chicago, engaging in the same business. He later joined the soap company. He belonged to several clubs and was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Oak Park.

Last October Mr. Hicks and his wife, Lora Jane, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary. She survives. Also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Wilbur M. Kelso. Services probably will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Hold Rites Tomorrow for J. G. McGarahan, Rail Vet

Funeral services for John C. McGarahan, 164 West North avenue, an employé of the North Western railroad for 30 years, recently as agent at its Deering station, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Schiller street and North Park avenue. Burial will be in Milwaukee in charge of the Spanish War Veterans. Mr. McGarahan died Tuesday in the John B. Murphy hospital following several months' illness. His widow, Mrs. Anna May McGarahan, survives.

Widow of Eggleston, Hoosier Author, Dies

Madison, Ind., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Eggleston, 86, widow of Edward Eggleston, died today at her home here of pneumonia. Her husband was author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." Mrs. Eggleston was born in Madison, the daughter of Dr. Samuel M. and Eliza Goode, and was a granddaughter of John Paul, founder of Jefferson county.

While FLU is around Be Doubly Careful of COUGHS

At this time you MUST take all possible precautions! Even if you get only a slight cough, don't fiddle around with it! Don't wait until it has clamped itself into your bronchial tubes. But DRIVE the cough out of your system—CLEAN it out so that it won't come back.

Make-shift remedies may give you temporary relief by "deadening" throat nerves. But the cough only "plays dead." Doctors say that a prescription which really KILLS the cough, calls for three actions.

Smith Brothers Cough Syrup gives you this "Triple Action." Gives it quickly. Gives it safely. It (1) Clears the Air Passages... That stops-up-your-chest feeling leaves you. The rawness in the bronchial tubes is relieved. (2) Loosens Phlegm... You get rid of the germ-laden, choking, dangerous phlegm. (3) Is Mildly Laxative... Helps you to cleanse your bowels.

You can trust this cough syrup—trust it implicitly. It is not made by Mr. X.Y.Z.—some unknown patent medicine manufacturer. It is made by Smith Brothers—since 1847 America's cough relief experts.

Smith Brothers Triple Action Cough Syrup is the approved remedy for children's coughs—because it contains NO NARCOTICS. It can't upset the stomach. It can't nauseate. In fact, children love the taste.

Coughs often come in the middle of the night. Be prepared. Get a bottle today. And don't accept anything "just as good." Insist on Smith Brothers Triple Action Cough Syrup.

F. W. DAVIS, 74, OF NICK CARTER THRILLERS, DIES

Prolific Author Victim of Heart Attack.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 4.—(AP)—More than 500 detective and love stories which came from his pen stand to the credit of Frederick W. Davis, nationally known author, and one of the writers of Nick Carter "thrillers," who died at his home here today. He was 74.

Davis succumbed to a heart attack. He retired from active work in 1922, 15 years after he came to this city, where he turned out much of his popular detective fiction.

Davis said in 1924 that there were several writers of Nick Carter stories. He said that Frederick Van Rensselner Dey, who died in New York in 1922, was the original Nick Carter, and that Eugene T. Sawyer, who died in 1924 at San José, Cal., and Thomas Harbaugh, who died in Piqua, O., the same year, also contributed such stories. Davis said that he wrote from 60 to 80 Nick Carter stories.

Kept Two Aids Busy.

In the heyday of his career, Davis wrote rapidly, at times employing two stenographers. His friends said it was his habit to carry around a notebook, which he used in the course of conversation to jot down some chance expression from a companion's talk, or possibly the skeleton of a plot which appealed to him. These memoranda he used when it came time to write. His custom was to dictate from his notes to a stenographer, and he often kept two busy at the same time.

Besides turning out stories of his own creation, Davis was known to have completed tales that other writers started and never finished.

Used Name of Campbell.

He wrote mostly under the name of Scott Campbell. Of Campbell's short stories perhaps none were better known than those of "Below the Dead Line" series, which were followed by the "Adventures of Felix Boyd." Others of his works were "A Bid for Life," "The Woman in Red," "The Doctor's Secret," "The Honor of a Black Sheep," "A Plot for Millions," "Sealed Lips," and "The Red Stain."

He was a large contributor to Street & Smith's Popular Library.

Born at his grandmother's home in Barnstable, Nov. 3, 1858, Davis, whose parents were Chelsea residents, grew up in that city and was graduated from Chelsea High school.

SWOPE REFUSES TO SURRENDER INSULL STOCKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, refused today to surrender for the benefit of general creditors collateral on a loan which his firm made in Insull Utility Investments, Inc., shortly before that company and the rest of Samuel Insull's utility chain collapsed. He also refused to return interest received on the loan.

Lewis A. Jacobson, attorney for debenture holders, demanded the return of the collateral and of the interest. He did so near the end of a half day session which Mr. Swope spent on the witness stand before Federal Referee John E. Joyce.

Mr. Jacobson had tried to show, before he made the demand, that General Electric loaned $2,000,000 to Insull companies when they were insolvent, and that the collateral was therefore wrongly pledged.

Traylor Approved.

The demand was specifically for collateral for $500,000, the portion of the $2,000,000 which went to Insull Utility Investments, as the hearing was on the bankruptcy of that company only.

Mr. Swope resisted all suggestions that he knew that the Insull chain was tottering when the loan was made. He revealed that Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank of Chicago, which was an Insull creditor, approved the loan when his advice as a General Electric director was asked, and set the interest rate and term.

After lengthy questioning as to just how much of an investigation Mr. Swope had made before the loan was granted, Mr. Jacobson asked, "As a matter of fact, didn't the General Electric company loan the money so as it could obtain control of Insull Investments, Inc.?"

"Certainly not; we had neither desire nor thought of that," Mr. Swope said.

Mr. Jacobson then questioned the witness regarding a conversation about the loan by telephone with Mr. Traylor on Dec. 14, 1931.

Traylor Suggested Rate.

Mr. Swope said that Mr. Traylor sanctioned it and suggested an interest rate of 5 per cent and a loan time of six months.

The Chicago lawyer tried to show that the loan was part of a plan to tide over the Insull companies long enough so that the banks which had loaned it considerable sums would be secure in their right to the collateral.

"Didn't you ask Mr. Traylor, since $18,000,000 was owed to the First National bank by Insull Utilities Investments, Inc., and several million by Corporations Securities and Middle West Utilities, what his bank was going to do?"

"No."

Q.—Didn't you ask Mr. Traylor why Samuel Insull borrowed from a private company instead of from the usual lending bank? A.—The banks wanted to be as liquid as possible.

Q.—But with $52,000,000 owed by the Insull Utilities Investments and $27,000,000 by Corporation Securities, how did you regard that the banks would not ask for money since they wanted to remain liquid? As a matter of fact, that is why the standstill agreement was made, isn't is? A.—That happened months later.

Q.—Didn't you know that it was discussed on Dec. 14, the same day you telephoned Mr. Traylor? A.—No.

Q.—And didn't you know that Mr. Insull went to Mr. Traylor and asked that his loans not be called and that the next day Samuel Insull Jr. came to New York and went to eight banks on the same point?"

The witness said he did not.

Inflation Talk Spurs Prices; U.S. Money Drops in Exchange

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Echoes of the currency inflation gossip that has been seething in Washington and in pedagogical circles for several weeks were heard in customers' rooms yesterday as traders sought to account for what were apparently contradictory developments in various markets.

Stocks, bonds, and commodities advanced all along the line. Leading stocks were up from $1 to $5 a share. Bonds, led by governments, advanced. Wheat gained 1½ cents a bushel. Cotton was up $1 a bale. Hogs moved higher for the third successive session. Silver and sugar were up.

At the same time the United States dollar was dropping slightly against foreign gold currencies, particularly the French. This adverse move recalled similar occurrences early last year, when foreigns, alarmed by inflation talk, began to withdraw their balances from the United States.

Faith in U. S. Regained, Gold Returns.

In the latter half of 1932, after France and other nations had concluded that there was to be no lapse from the gold standard or debasement of the currency, the dollar regained its standing and gold returned to the United States. In the latter part of December, particularly after France had defaulted on the war debt payment to the United States, the dollar gained against the franc in foreign exchange.

Professionals could find nothing in the day's news yesterday to warrant the sharpest market advance in weeks. From Washington came word that the federal government in the first six months of the fiscal year had spent more than twice the amount of its revenues. Other items in the news that might have a bearing on the markets were further talk about the domestic allotment plan for farm products and proposals for government economy. There persisted, of course, the often expressed hope of a moderate business revival in the spring.

Believe Markets Oversold.

In banking circles the opinion seemed to be yesterday that selling of the dollar abroad probably was due to foreign nervousness over gossip about inflation proposals at Washington, but that the upturn in the commodity and security markets was the logical reaction to the heavy year-end selling. Many observers expressed the opinion that the markets had been oversold.

Strength of United States government bonds was pointed to by bankers as evidence that Americans did not share the foreign uneasiness about inflation.

GOLD BASIS SUPPORTED

Meanwhile the college professors are disclosing that a lot of them don't agree with Messrs. Warren and Pearson of Cornell university in their contention that reducing the gold content of the dollar would help business.

Twenty leading economists have sent a letter to President Elect Roosevelt from Baltimore in which they say:

"The gold standard of present weight and fineness should be unflinchingly maintained. We should also encourage and facilitate the prompt restoration of the gold standard abroad.

"Credit rests on the movement of goods as well as on the gold supply. Agitation for currency experiments would impair confidence and retard recovery."

RAID ON DOLLAR TO HALT FRENCH EXPORTS OF GOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—[Special.]—A European raid upon the dollar, reminiscent of the days of last spring, struck the foreign exchange market today as news of Senator Borah's plan to introduce legislation to devalue the American monetary unit reached Paris and other foreign mar ets.

French francs, which for weeks have been at a heavy discount, rallied strongly, shutting off for the time being all prospects of further gold imports from Paris; other European gold standard exchanges were up from 1½ to 6 points and sterling displayed a buoyancy that was only checked by the repressive measures of the official control.

Halts Gold Imports.

Dispatches from Paris reported that 10 to 12 million dollars of additional gold shipments, based on the recent weakness of the franc, were scheduled to leave France th. week, but that further transfers were precluded by the abrupt fall of the dollar.

Gold imports amounting to $17,190,200 reached the Federal Reserve bank today, $11,510 of the amount being a part of the gold acquired in London by the Federal Reserve bank in connection with the payment on Dec. 15 of the British war debt installment. There was a gain of $733,200 through the net decrease of that amount in gold.

Rises Nearly 2 Points.

The rally in the franc carried that exchange to 3.91⅞ cents, the highest price since Nov. 21 last and 19-1. points above the previous close. ... all this gain was retained, however, the Paris rate closing at 3.91⅛ cents, up 13-16 oin on the day.

Dutch guilders soared 6 points to 40.25 cents, Swiss francs gained 3½ points to 19.28 cents, and belgas were up 1½ points to 13.86½ cents. The Scandinavian exchanges were up 9 to 10 points and the Canadian dollar improved to a d scunt of 11¼ pe. cent against a dis nt of 11⅝ per cent on Tuesday.

EDISON COMPANY PAYS REGULAR $1.25 DIVIDEND

The regular dividends have been declared by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois according to announcements made yesterday.

Commonwealth Edison directors have voted to distribute the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on Feb. 1 to stockholders of record Jan. 14. This action continues the $5 annual rate which was adopted last July when the new management took office.

It had been expected that the directors might restore part of the old $8 annual rate at this time. Such an increase is indefinitely postponed, it is believed.

The Public Service company voted the 75 cent quarterly dividend, also payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Jan. 14. This is at the annual rate of $3 which was put into effect by the new management. Public Service also voted the usual dividend of $1.50 a share on the 6 per cent preferred stock and $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent preferred.

SUGAR PRICE IS CUT TO FOUR CENTS A POUND

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—A reduction in the price of refined sugar to 4 cents a pound from 4.15 cents was announced today by the larger refiners.

The cut, it was said in trade quarters, was in response to the recent lowering of prices in the spot and futures raw sugar markets, though the action taken by the refiners today was in the face of higher levels in the raw market. The day's gain in the latter was attributed to the improved trend of other commodity markets.

STOCKS CLIMB 1 TO 4 POINTS IN WALL STREET

Advance Attributed to Inflation Talk.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Revival of dollar inflation talk in congress today provided the signal for the strongest stock market Wall street has seen in weeks. Prices of leading issues were "inflated" anywhere from 1 to more than 4 points. The rally gathered momentum as the session neared its close and the final figures were with few exceptions the best of the day. Volume rose to around 1,000,000 shares, nearly double that of yesterday.

While sentiment in the street has always been outspokenly against tampering with the currency it has been generally recognized that any reduction in the value of the dollar, such as United States Senator Borah now proposes—and such as the Goldsborough bill, which passed the house last year, proposed—would have the effect of giving a temporary boost to stock values, however harmful the result might be in other directions.

Money Waiting Speculation.

For that reason it was known that considerable money is awaiting investment in stocks on the first definite indication that prices were to be raised artificially. Some of those marking time against the eventuality evidently concluded that the Borah proposal was sufficient warrant for a little speculation on the possibility today.

The farm bounty plan, with its corollary of inflation, also may have helped to stimulate speculation on the long side, particularly in the so-called agricultural and mail order issues. The strength in bank stocks and the rise in wheat and cotton produce were still other factors of bull account.

Increase in Orders.

Brokers reported a sizable increase in buying orders from abroad, where an impressive run on the dollar was staged synonymous with word of the Borah proposal.

Some of the outstanding performances of the day included American Can, which was marked up 3¼ points; Allied Chemical and Dye, up 4⅝; American Telephone, up 4⅓; American Tobacco, up 3⅝; Case Threshing Machine, 4⅝; Union Pacific, 3½; United States Steel, 2¾; International Business Machine, 3⅛; Outlet company, 6½; Peoples Gas, 3¼, and Auburn Auto, 4½ points.

The tobacco shares, which were so heavily sold on advance tips of the cigaret price cuts announced early this week, turned on their tormentors and made one of the most impressive group showings of the list as the shorts scrambled to cover. American Tobacco B stock followed the common up for a gain of nearly 3 points, and Liggett & Myers jumped ahead an even 3. Reynolds moved up 1½ on good buying.

The Iron Age report showing a gain of one per cent in steel operations was credited with some measure of enthusiasm shown for the steel shares. Bethlehem and other issues of the group followed United States common to substantially higher levels.

Motor shares had one of their best days in weeks, General Motors adding a point to its rating and Chrysler doing almost as well.

'CLOSED SEASON' ON GOLD EXPORTS ASKED BY BANK

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The monthly review of the Midland bank suggested today that a "closed season" on gold movements be declared to assist trade revival throughout the world.

"The world is steadily moving toward the point where ship owners, especially on trans-Atlantic routes, will be almost as much occupied in carrying gold backward and forward to no useful purpose as in moving goods from producer to consumer," the review said.

"The important fact underlying these movements is that gold even where it is still the standard has ceased to serve any useful monetary purpose. No longer does it operate to correct the disparities between price levels and interest rates in different countries."

CHICAGO BANK POSITION GAINS IN 4TH QUARTER

Liquidity Greater; Loans Lower.

Chicago banks have made notable headway during the last three months, according to figures released yesterday in response to calls by the state auditor of public accounts and the controller of the currency.

For the second successive quarter since the low point last June banks reported an increase in total deposits, a higher degree of liquidity and reduced loans.

In other words, the banks have steadily improved their cash position and their ability to meet demands of depositors, but instead of withdrawing funds depositors, having regained their confidence in Chicago's financial institutions, have been putting more money in than they have taken out.

Deposits Up $173,722,000.

Total deposits of all state and national banks combined as of Dec. 31 amounted to $1,782,513,000, compared with $1,608,780,000 on Sept. 30, an increase of $173,722,000.

Savings deposits rose from $279,376,000 at the close of September to $299,047,000 on Dec. 31, an increase of $19,671,000 despite the fact that many persons were of necessity drawing on their savings to meet living expenses and in the fact of the usual withdrawals for Christmas spending.

Cash resources of Chicago banks on Dec. 31 totaled $742,441,000, compared with $596,226,000 on Sept. 30, $476,386,000 on June 30, and $421,930,000 at the close of March. These figures show how the banks have steadily reduced their loans and investments to cash in order to increase their liquidity.

Loans Show Decline.

As cash resources have mounted, loans and discounts have dwindled. Loans and discounts on Dec. 31 totaled $731,050,000, compared with $784,625,000 at the close of September, $995,241,000 on June 30, and $1,066,002,00 0on March 30.

The figures for Dec. 31 show how sharply the relative totals for state and national banks have been affected by changes in Chicago banks during the last three months. In October the city's largest bank, the Continental Illinois, gave up its state charter and became a national bank. In the same month the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, a state institution, was succeeded by the City National Bank and Trust company.

National Bank Loans.

On Dec. 31 of $731,050,000 total loans and discounts for all banks, $542,848,000 represented the loans and discounts of national banks. At the time of the September call total loans and discounts for all banks were $858,930,000, of which $201,057,000 represented the loans and discounts of national banks.

Two banks have changed their names. Straus National Bank and Trust company has become American National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, and the Liberty Trust and Savings bank has become Liberty bank of Chicago.

TRADE OUTLOOK BEST IN 3 YEARS, ASSERTS CHAPIN

Business Groups Expect Gradual Gains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—The opportunity for substantial improvement in business conditions is better now than at any time since the beginning of the depression in the fall of 1929, Secretary of Commerce Chapin said today on the basis of replies to a questionnaire from nearly fifty national trade associations.

"There was naturally some uncertainty revealed," Mr. Chapin said in reviewing the replies. "Nevertheless, one-third of the 44 replies received stated that business in their industry would be better in 1933, and this total represented more than half of those expressing a definite opinion as to the outlook. These expressions did not anticipate pronounced or sudden improvement, but rather a slow upward trend which would result in the second half of the year making a favorable comparison with the last six months."

Fifteen Foresee Improvement.

Eliminating the ten replies which contained no statement as to the 1933 outlook, fifteen gave the opinion that business in their particular lines would be better in 1933, six were doubtful as to future prospects, four looked for no pronounced change and one anticipated a further reduction in activity. The remainder were hopeful not definite as to the probable trend.

"Business men in 1931 and 1932 began with the feeling that they would have a better year than that preceding and were so far out of line in their estimates that they did not conduct their businesses as well as they might," Secretary Chapin remarked.

Facing Realities Now.

Asked concerning his attitude as to the wisdom and experience of negotiation by the United States of reciprocal trade treaties with other nations, Mr. Chapin replied that the world economic conference would provide an opportunity for leaders from all nations to get together and determine the future trade policies of each. The outcome of the conference, he said, undoubtedly would have an important bearing of the course this country will take in its trade policies for the future.

Kelly-Springfield Plans Big Advertising Campaign

The Kelly-Springfield Tire company plans this year for the most comprehensive sales campaign it has ever undertaken, according to William H. Lalley, president. The main feature, Mr. Lalley said, will be an aggressive newspaper advertising program.

WILSON PACKING COMPANY CUTS FIXED CHARGES

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Debt and capital readjustments necessitated by lower price levels are being effected by many corporations without the benefit of government aid. The annual report of Wilson & Co., shows that this leading packing company has taken advantage of prevailing prices to reduce its funded debt and preferred stock. The recent report of Armour & Co., had reduced its funded debt by about $22,000,000 during 1932.

Excess capital released from normal employment because of low prices was used to hasten the retirement of the company's funded debt and to scale down the capital structure.

Fixed Charges Reduced.

Outstanding first mortgage bonds were reduced from $18,968,000 to $17,667,000 while preferred stock was scaled down from $26,524,800 to $23,444,800. These operations result in cutting the fixed charges of the company.

Operating results of the company last year were considerably better than in 1931 because of the economies effected. Gross earnings were $2,662,059 against $1,203,125 in 1931. After interest but before depreciation profit was $1,425,245 as compared with a $288,504 deficit in the preceding year. Final net profit, after all charges, was $51,336 against a deficit of $1,017,155. The fiscal year ended Oct. 29, 1932. Profit includes a credit of $324,528 representing discount on bonds purchased for sinking fund. Depreciation charges were approxiamtely the same in both years.

Total Surplus $17,679,697.

The credit of $3,467,584 arising from the retirement of the preferred stock is made direct to surplus. Total surplus at the close of the year stood at $17,679,697.

Thomas E. Wilson, president, voices his opposition to the domestic allotment of farm relief. Saying that improvement of the farmer's lot is a most urgent problem he declared that in the opinion of his industry adoption of the allotment plan will react to the detriment of the producer and in the end will further depress live stock prices.

Wieboldt's Stores Adopt Share-the-Work Program

In order to give jobs to as many people as possible, three or four days a week, Wieboldt's department stores of Chicago and Evanston have ordered the "Share the Work" movement be put into effect as far as possible in all five stores. Preference is given persons with dependents and those with no one to depend on. E. F. Wieboldt, president, is of the opinion that the movement if participated in generally would do much to relieve thousands of unemployed in Chicago.

National City Bank Deposits and Resources Show Gains

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—The report of the National City bank as of Dec. 31, showed gains in both resources and deposits compared with Sept. 30, and a considerable rise in holdings of United States government securities. Total resources were $1,615,260,569, compared with $1,610,067,557 three months ago and $1,857,975,421 a year ago; deposits were $1,299,377,710, against $1,275,275,097 and $1,418,702,860. Surplus and undivided profits were $81,454,097, against $82,554,883 and $101,347,466 on Dec. 31, 1931, the reduction for the year reflecting charge-offs.

KELLOGG FIRM AGAIN TO PUSH NEWSPAPER ADS

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 4.—Having proved that volume in business could be obtained throughout 1932, the Kellogg company, Battle Creek, Mich., has completed plans to make 1933 another satisfactory year, according to W. K. Kellogg, founder and president of the cereal manufacturing firm.

"Early in 1932," said Mr. Kellogg, "we determined upon an aggressive merchandising and advertising effort on a nation-wide scale to keep our plants in full operation. To this end we undertook the largest advertising campaign in the company's history. As a result our plants have operated 24 hours a day throughout most of the year, with employment at the highest peak ever recorded.

"We are now entering 1933 with all our plans made to carry on with our merchandising and advertising activities upon the same scope and basis. We have proved that, in our line of business, the aggressive use of newspaper advertising is a most effective means of producing results—even in times like these. So for 1933, our plans are to continue with newspapers as the backbone of our promotional efforts."

4,637 Ships Use Panama Canalin'32;Pay$19,685,000

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The year 1932 was the worst, so far as commercial traffic is concerned, that the Panama canal has encountered since 1922. A total of 4,637 transits were reported for the year in a statement published today. The ships paid $19,685,000. This income was $2,845,000 less than in 1931 and $6,460,000 less than in 1930. In 1922 there were 2,997 transits, the tolls aggregating $12,573,000.

MERGER OF TWO REALTY BOARDS NOW COMPLETED

Woman Question Seems Settled.

BY AL CHASE.

Merger of the half century old Chicago real estate board, the largest in the world, with the 25 year old Cook county real estate board finally was effected last night when members of the former organization unanimously ratified the recent action of their directors in approving the combination. Members of the Cook county real estate board already had O. K.'d the action of their directors at a meeting on Tuesday evening.

ROBERT E. L. BROOKS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The new merger will not bring as many new members into the Chicago real estate board as had been expected, however. It was announced yesterday at the office of the Cook county real estate board that there were more than four hundred men and two women paid up members. Former President J. Soule Warterfield announced last night that there were 220 men and one woman on the Cook county roster. And of these 64 already are members of the Chicago board.

Settles Woman Question.

Mr. Warterfield deftly settled a question which has been worrying both boards when he announced last night that the Cook county members would not come in as a body but every member, both men and women, must make individual application for membership.

"And the membership committee," he said, with a grin, when a member asked from the floor what would be done with the woman question, "will handle each case in a way which will reflect the wishes of a majority of the members of the Chicago real estate board."

The only representative of the Cook County Real Estate board on the official roster of officers of the Chicago Real Estate board will be Robert E. L. Brooks, former president of the real estators. A new unit of the Chicago Real Estate board, to be known as the Torrens division, will be created and Mr. Brooks will be chairman of the board of governors of this group. This automatically makes him a vice president of the realtors. The officers of the Cook County Real Estate board automatically fade out of the picture as the merger is effected.

Home Loan Bank Changes.

Henry G. Zander, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, has been made chairman of the board of directors of the Evanston Home Loan bank, succeeding S. F. Phillips of Danville, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Zander formerly was vice chairman. Arthur G. Erdmann, president of the Bell Building and Loan association, Chicago, has been made president of the bank, succeeding A. C. Backus of Milwaukee.

Mr. Phillips and Fred W. Hermans of Kenosha, Wis., retired as directors on Jan. 1. Frank O. Schneider of Kankakee and George H. Beckley of Appleton, Wis., were appointed to succeed them. A. R. Gardner, manager, stated that $200,000 in new loans had been authorized, making a total of $700,000.

The Christian Science Publishing society of Boston, publisher of the Christian Science Monitor, has leased the entire 29th floor of the 333 North Michigan Avenue building for a term of years. As soon as alterations are completed the lessee will use the space for its editorial, advertising, and circulation representatives in Chicago. The lease was closed by E. A. Johnson of William O. Trainer's office, renting manager of 333.

Owns Building and Loan Stock.

TO THE EDITOR: I own a five room modern bungalow that cost $6,000 in 1928. The first mortgage of $2,000 is held by a local building and loan association and is due in February, 1933. Taxes and interest are paid to date, but I do not know how I will make payments in February. I own some stock in another building and loan association and last December I wrote this association requesting to withdraw sixteen shares. They require thirty days' written notice on withdrawals.

These shares cost $75 each and mature at $100 in about 4½ years. I have been paying for three years; all payments are up to date. The association has not paid any dividends on my stock. Upon making inquiry as to when they expect to pay, all I got for an answer is that they pay withdrawals in the order in which they are received, and to date have not received my requests, but a check will be mailed me at that time. Please advise me the best method of securing funds with which to pay my obligations. I have not received any payments from the building and loan association for two years.—G. S. A.

ANSWER—The following information received from a building and loan association downstate may help solve your problem:

"As you doubtless know, the requests for the withdrawal of money from a building and loan association in Illinois must be paid in the order which said requests are filed, regardless of the personal needs of the individual owning the stock on which the request is made. This rule is enforced by the state auditor's office and we do not dare deviate from their instructions.

"However, to offset the injustice sometimes caused by the strict enforcement of the Illinois law, we are allowed to loan money on a stock certificate at such times as we may have money to loan at 7 per cent interest, said loan being limited to 75 per cent of the book value of the stock. We believe Mr. ———— can borrow enough on his stock to tide him through the winter. However, requests have been so numerous that we are forced to limit our loans to $75 on any individual each thirty days."

We suggest you file an application for a loan immediately.

BALTIMORE GAS COMPANY MAKES $5,000,000 OFFER

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The first sizeable new financing to be announced for the new year made its appearance today when the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light, and Power company of Baltimore entered the market for $5,000,000.

The offering consisted of first refunding mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, 4 per cent series, due in 1981, which were priced at 97½ to yield about 4.12 per cent. The issue was underwritten by Aldred & Co., Lee Higginson corpporation, Chase Harris Forbes corporation, Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., the Frst of Boston corporation, Jackson & Curtis, Spencer, Trask & Co., Minsch, Monell & Co., Inc., and Blyth & Co., Inc.

Proceeds will be used by the company to retire $4,242,000 series E 5½ per cent first refunding mortgage bonds, due Sept. 1, 1952, and for other purposes.

CANADA BUYS MORE OF ITS OWN BONDS IN 1932

The bulk of the public bonds issued in Canada last year were absorbed within the country. A much smaller percentage is now being purchased in the United States, according to a compilation by Wood, Grundy & Co.

Bonds issued by the dominion government, provincial, and municipal bodies last year totaled $461,442,456. Of this 79 per cent was bought in Canada, 18 per cent in the United States, and 3 per cent in England. In 1930, 53 per cent, or $241,744,000, of Canada's total offerings of $453,810,718 were absorbed in the United States as compared with 45 per cent in Canada and 1.5 per cent in England.

U.S. DROPS BACK OF GREAT BRITAIN IN USE OF STEEL

BY SCRUTATOR.

Americans have long taken just pride in their use of steel. In fact, it has been a common boast that this country has done more to foster the "age of steel" than any other. So it will come as a distinct shock to many of our citizens to learn that last year we dropped from our traditional place as the greatest users of steel.

It also is likely to come as another surprise to learn that the British supplanted us in this regard despite all the tales and propaganda recently put out concerning the depths of depression in the British isles. But the British haven't been too hard pressed to use more steel per capita than have our own people. Moreover, it recently has been the complaint of our own steel industry that the British steel industry is dumping large excess steel production in the United States.

U. S. Steel Use Off Sharply.

The effect of depression in the United States is denoted strikingly in the fact that domestic consumption of steel in 1932 dropped to 242 pounds per capita, counting total population at 124 million 822 thousand, compared with a per capita consumption of 453 pounds in 1931. Last year's consumption is figured by the magazine Steel after making an adjustment for imports and exports.

This sharp decline in our use of steel enables Great Britain to supplant us, whereas that country has ranked second to the United States in recent years. Britis's consumption of steel last year mounted to an average of 249 pounds per capita. As in 1931, France retained third rank with a per capita consumption of 175 pounds and Germany held fourth rank by using 149 pounds of steel per capita.

Production Declines.

Other statistics emphasize the fact that the American steel industry has suffered more severely than its prototypes in other countries. World production of steel is estimated at 49,160,000 gross tons for 1932, compared with 68,108,000 gross tons in 1931. The all time high record was 117,980,000 gross tons in 1929. Of last year's total production, the United States contributed 13,500,000 tons, compared with 25,630,000 tons in 1931.

Thus, the decline in world production of steel from 1931 to 1932 was 28 per cent, while the shrinkage in output in the United States was 47 per cent. Again comparing our production with that of the rest of the world, it is found that six years ago the United States contributed more than half of the world's total production but last year its share amounted to only 27½ per cent and in 1931 it was less than 38 per cent.

Britain Increases Total.

"Excepting Germany, the decrease in steel production in 1932 was much less pronounced in Europe than in the United States," it is said in Steel. "Great Britain actually increased its total from 5,179,000 tons in 1931 to 5,240,000 tons in 1932. France declined from 7,65 ,000 tons in 1931 to 5,475,000 tons last year. The Belgium total in 1932 was 2,745,000 tons, compared with 3,073,000 tons in 1931. Germany poured only 5,655,000 tons, contrasted with 8,159,000 tons in 1931. Russia expan'.d from 5,264,000 tons in 1931 to 5,500,000 tons in 1932, but this was just slightly under the soviet figures for 1930."

World production of pig iron made relatively about the same showing as did steel. Total output is estimated at 38,200,000 gross tons, compared with 54,762,000 tons in 1931. Output by countries was: United States, 8,800,000 tons; Russia, 5,500,000; France, 5,435,000; Germany, 3,800,000; Great Britain, 3,600,000; Belgium, 2,720,000; Luxemburg, 1,910,000; and the Saar district, 1,320,000 tons.

BELGIUM AT END OF CREDIT; FACES FINANCIAL CRISIS

How badly shaken these have been is the subject of an article in the Revue Generale under the signature of Fernand Baudhuin, professor at Louvain university and Belgium's foremost economist.

The professor reveals that for the last six months the state has made ends meet by borrowing from Belgian and foreign bankers at high rates of interest. The limit for the issuing of treasury and short term bonds has been reached long since, and during this last half year, according to Prof. Baudhuin, the state has seldom had more funds ready than were necessary for the next fortnight's payments. Last November the foreign bankers made it clear that no further short term credits could be granted.

PRODUCTION OF REFINERIES SLIGHTLY LOWER

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Refinery statistics, delayed by the New Year holiday, were made public by the American Petroleum institute today as part of its weekly summary, which ordinarily is released in full Wednesday morning.

WHEAT ADVANCES 1¼ TO 1½ CTS. ON INFLATION TALK

Corn, Oats Also Higher on Bullish News.

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

	Wednes.	Tues.
Chicago, May	46c	44⅝c
Winnipeg, May	40⅞c	39¼c
Do No. 2 Manitoba	36⅞c	35c
Liverpool, March	45⅞c	45¼c
Do May	49¼c	48⅝c
Do No. 2 Manitoba	52⅝c	51⅝c
Rotterdam, January	43½c	42⅝c
Buenos Aires, May	39½c	37⅝c

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Talk of currency inflation, which was apparently based on press reports that Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho] would introduce a bill with that idea in view, caused a broad buying movement to develop in grain markets yesterday which swept prices up sharply.

There was a striking lack of pressure on wheat and corn. In addition to the inflation idea, Wheat was influenced by pronounced strength in both the Liverpool and the Winnipeg markets, and the stronger commercial situation came in for more attention from the trade than for some time past. There was also increased apprehension noted regarding the outcome of the new winter wheat crop.

Net Gains 1¼ to 1½ Cents.

At no time Wednesday were local wheat prices as low as the finish of the previous day. Commission houses and the professional element were on the buying side from the start and later sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves. May advanced to 46¼c or 1½c above the previous close and to the best figure since Dec. 22. The finish was within a fraction of the top. Net gains were 1¼@1½c with May, 46@46½c; July, 45⅞@46c, and September, 46⅜c.

Lack of pressure from Canada and Argentina, combined with a better cash demand, led to more active buying of futures in Liverpool with the English market gaining ⅞@⅝c for the day. The May was also 2½c over Chicago at the time Liverpool closed, compared with ⅝c discount on Dec. 19. Winnipeg gained 1⅞c in Canadian funds with the May at one time selling at a fractional premium over Chicago. On Dec. 16 the Canadian market was at 5¼c discount. The fact that foreign markets have gained sharply on Chicago in the last week is having considerable effect on sentiment. Buenos Aires kept pace with Winnipeg, figured on a gold basis, and closed 1½@1⅝c higher.

Corn Up Sharply.

Corn was affected by the same influence as wheat and with a marked revival in speculative interest prices advanced ⅝@⅞c and closed at the top. May was 26⅞@27c; July, 28⅛@28¾c and September, 29¼c at the last. Despite the upturn of 2c from the inside figure of the season on the May country offerings to arrive were not large, purchases of 46,000 bu being reported by local handlers. The basis in the spot market, however, was ½@⅝c lower as compared with futures.

Oats showed more activity and closed ⅝c higher in sympathy with other grains. May finished at 17¼c. Rye gained 1½@1⅝c, with the exclusion of this grain from the provisions of the domestic allotment plan having some effect. It is believed that if the farm relief bill is passed consumption of rye will be increased. May closed at 34⅝c, and July at 34c. Barley was dull but gained ⅝c with May at 29⅜c.

LARD AND MEAT STOCKS INCREASED IN THE WEST

Meat stocks at western packing points are 186,364,947 lbs., an increase in December of 27,653,105 lbs., the smallest gain for the period in recent years and with the exception of November are the smallest in a number of years. Lard stocks are 14,599,214 lbs. against 24,885,527 lbs. last year, and 27,659,427 lbs. two years ago. Stocks increased only 3,159,984 lbs. last month, while a year ago they were enlarged 7,667,909 lbs. and two years ago there was an increase of 15,357,650 lbs.

Higher prices for hogs, grains, stocks and cotton created a better feeling and enlivened buying of lard, which closed 12½@20c net higher, the latter on January, trading, however, was largest in May and July deliveries. Lard in Liverpool was 6d lower to 3d higher, the spot market being the weakest. Exports of lard were 379,100 lbs. and bacon 11,650 lbs. The report on stocks in the west had but little influence on the trade in general. Cash trade in lard was fair with regular $4.50, loose and leaf $3.87½, with a fair trade. Bellies for future delivery was up 2½@17½c, while the cash market was $3.62½. Prices follow:

BUTTER PRICES HIGHER

Butter futures advanced sharply on heavy buying on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, closing ⅝@⅞c higher. Eggs slumped ½@¾c. Butter started lower but at mid-session buying suddenly developed and the market climbed steadily to the close. New buying was pronounced, particularly in the February. Production reports indicated the make 8 per cent under last year and the movement of storage stocks was 46,000 lbs better than a year ago. Eggs failed to receive much attention dropping back at the opening and remained quiet for the rest of the session. Storage eggs are moving slowly and receipts have been relatively heavy. The spring and fall contracts continued to receive fair attention. Sales: Butter, 230 cars; eggs, 17 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car. Prices follow:

COTTON UP $1.25 PER BALE; CLOSE AROUND BEST OF DAY

A more spirited market was on in cotton than the trade has experienced in some time. Prices were on the upgrade most of the day and the close was around the top, with a larger general trade and a fairly bullish sentiment. Selling by professionals and foreigners was readily absorbed. The close was strong, with futures in Chicago 15@29 points net higher, and other markets were up 18@25 points, the latter being equal to $1.25 per bale. Spots in New York were up 20 points to 6.30c; New Orleans advanced 25 points to 6.20c; Galveston, 6.15c, and Houston, 6.05c. Liverpool closed 7@8 points net higher.

Exports Tuesday were 53,705 bales making the season's movement 4,264,985 bales, against 4,144,882 bales last year. Prices follow:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—Following the pace set by United States government issues, the bond market improved generally today.

The government list shook off the restraint which held it down yesterday and advanced to the best level since September, 1931, when England went off the gold standard. Sharpest gains were scored by treasury discount bonds, namely the 3s and 3½s, new highs for the current upswing were made by both issues, the 3½s topping par. Buoyancy, however, embraced the entire government security market, including the Liberties and short-term certificate and note issues.

Demand for Investment.

In the absence of stimulating developments from Washington, today's strength could be attributed by dealers to no other factor than the growing realization of the immense supply of capital which must find investment in a limited supply of prime investment issues.

Publication today of year-end bank statements, showing huge supplies of cash on hand, emphasized the institutional position of extreme liquidity. This liquidity is being increased by imports of gold and by the flow of currency from circulation back into the banks.

Technically, the treasury security market was characterized by dealers as "thin," owing to the limited offerings. Buying was reported to be coming from institutions all over the country.

Domestic Market Up.

The domestic bond market, after pursuing an even course during most of the session, was roused in late trading to a spirited recovery of from 1 to 3 points in speculative rail and utility issues. High-grades everywhere were in demand.

Foreign bonds generally were higher, with Argentines rallying sharply upon extension for nine months of an $18,000,000 maturity, and reich bonds climbing into new high ground for the upswing. The German 5½s and 7s climbed above 61 and 81 respectively.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE EYES DINNERS GIVEN BROKERS' CUSTOMERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—A comprehensive investigation of the entertainment accounts of member firms has been undertaken by the New York Stock exchange, it was reported today in reliable quarters.

While the exchange would not confirm nor deny the reports, it was reiterated that it is never the policy of that organization to make public any information regarding such investigations, pending the final disposition of the matters under investigation.

The practice which the exchange is said to have under consideration covers the alleged custom of certain members to offer what in effect amounts to gratuities to customers in the form of special entertainment, such as dinners, tickets for theaters, athletic contests, and similar affairs.

Such lavish entertainment is held by some members, it was said, to border on rebating of commissions and as such would be a direct violation of the rules of the stock exchange.

The exchange recently took occasion to call the attention of members to rules which forbid the offering of gratuities to employés of other member firms, order clerks, as well as employés of newspapers, banks, etc., except in special instances.

The reported investigation of such relations between members and their customers is, however, believed to mark a new phase in the determined efforts of the exchange to purge itself of questionable practices.

PIG IRON OUTPUT IN DECEMBER DROPS SHARPLY

Pig iron output during December again fell into doldrums, with the daily average dropping to a point just above that reached in August, the depression low, according to Iron Age. The December output totaled 546,080 tons, or 17,615 tons a day, compared with 631,280, or 21,115 tons daily in November. August's depression low was the daily average of 17,115 tons.

On Jan. 1 there were 42 furnaces in operation producing iron at the rate of 15,810 tons a day, compared with 51 active stacks on Dec. 1 producing at the rate of 20,860 tons a day.

"Aside from increased tin plate specifications and heavier releases from the automobile industry, the new year opened with few indications of an impending seasonal rise in iron and steel bookings," Iron Age states. "Little replenishment buying has yet put in an appearance."

The paper says structural steel awards for the week closed totaled 67,000 tons, but of this 60,000 tons went for one job—the New Orleans Belt line bridge. It adds that in general structural steel prospects are less favorable now than they were a year ago. The motor car and container industries remain the chief support of this industry.

Wabash Receiver Made Lehigh Valley Director

Walter S. Franklin, co-receiver of the Wabash, yesterday was elected a director of the Lehigh Valley railroad. Authorization for his appointment was recently given by the interstate commerce commission.

Freight loadings of the Wabash last week totaled 8,360 cars, against 10,492 in the previous week and 9,782 a year ago.

Dixie Limited Leaves for South with 4 Extra Cars

As a result of unexpected business the Dixie Limited—operating between Chicago and Florida—left the Dearborn street station yesterday on its first run of the season with four extra Pullman cars. All the regular space was sold and it was necessary to add the extra cars to accommodate the passengers.

Stock Prices Advance Here as Ticker Tape Speeds Up

Chicago stock prices advanced yesterday and the ticker tape moved at a faster clip. Volume expanded to 33,000 shares and the motor accessory shares and a number of miscellaneous stocks moved higher. Borg, Swift International, Quaker Oats, and Sears-Roebuck were conspicuous in the advance.

Form Group to Represent N. E. Public Service Bonds

A committee has been formed to represent holders of Northeastern Public Service company general lien and collateral trust 5 per cent gold bonds. Interest due on the bonds Jan. 1 was not paid and receivers have been appointed for the company.

PRICES OF HOGS ADVANCE THIRD STRAIGHT DAY

Hogs rounded out the third consecutive day of advancing prices at the high point of the session yesterday and sold 30@35c above the close of last week, with buying orders still ahead of the available supplies at the finish. Actuated by smaller receipts, improved wholesale pork markets and broader eastern demand, the trade went forward at a fast pace, gaining 10@20c, with many sales near the close up 25c when several eastern representatives found they were going to be short. The top advanced 15c to $3.35, while the general average at $3.10 showed 15c gain, both being the highest since early last week.

At the close of last week, which was also the final day of 1932, top selected light hogs sold at $3.00 and the general average that day figured $2.80. Receipts have been running exceptionally low. During the first three days of this week the eleven leading markets handled 221,000, which was 13,000 less than a week ago, 167,000 less than a year ago, and 207,000 less than two years ago.

Cattle Somewhat Stronger.

Yesterday's cattle market displayed less weakness in the medium and heavy beef steers and fairly good action in top light steers and yearling stock. The declines were halted, with supplies comparatively light for midweek. Better quality of offerings brought a larger share of the run above the $6.00 line, with numerous sales of 800@1,200 lb averages at $6.25@6.75. Several strings of cattle averaging less than 1,200 lbs cashed at $6.85 and several loads of 1,084@1,211 lb averages to Armour, Swift, and New York butchers topped the market at $7.00.

By way of illustrating the instability of the cattle market the last few months, some of the biggest losses in recent years in feeding operations were cited in the sales of weighty beef steers yesterday, as against some of the biggest margins of profit in history in the same class at the high point of the season last September. At that time weighty cattle selling at $9.000@10.00 and above were showing margins of $2.00@3.00 and sometimes up to $4.00@4.50 over the initial costs of feeding steers.

On the strength of the high summer market many high priced feeding steers were put on grain. Some that cost $7.50 in Kansas in September sold yesterday at $4.50.

East Buys Lambs.

Eastern buyers were aggressive in the lamb market yesterday, which came to a strong close after a dull and top heavy opening. All interests were paying up to $6.10 at the close for fed westerns, local houses coming out actively in the better grades late. During the first half of this week shippers at Chicago bought 41 per cent of the receipts, including the few lots that went to country buyers for feeding. A week ago 32 per cent sold to shippers and two weeks ago shippers got 28 per cent of the run. Aged sheep were steady and yearlings firm, two loads of 108@114 lb yearlings selling at $5.00.

AUTOMOBILE OUTPUT LAST WEEK AGAIN IS OVER PRECEDING YEAR

New York, Jan. 4.—Automobile production again showed a gain over last year for the week ending Saturday when 27,521 units were turned out by American producers, according to reliable private figures.

This compares with 29,478 in the preceding week, 18,592 for the week last year, 20,416 in 1931, and 23,942 in 1930. Thus, as the year turned the industry was busier than in any preceding three years.

Increased operating ratios by Ford and Plymouth are expected this week. The industry, naturally, is in a waiting mood just now in anticipation of the national automobile shows which start in New York this Saturday.

Production figures for the week compared with the preceding seven days, follow: Auburn, 300-closed; Cadillac, 350-300; Chevrolet, 10,000-10,000; Chrysler, 200-75; De Sota, 1,000-1,375, Diamond Truck, 40-55; Dodge, 1,400-1,600; Federal Truck, closed-55; Ford, 1,800-3,000; Franklin, 75-80; General Motors Truck, 50-65; Gramah-Paige, 300-closed; Hudson-Essex, 1,200-1,100; Humobile, 46-59; Marmon, 10-9; Nash, 825-870; Oldsmobile, 625-900; Packard, 100-150; Pierce-Arrow, 100-125; Plymouth, 2,400-4,000; Pontiac, 2,100-1,800. Reo, closed-70; Rockne, 500-800; Studebaker, 700-600, and Willys-Overland, 1,200-closed. The Continental plant was closed both weeks.

STEEL COMMON STOCK MARKET LEADER IN 1932

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 4.—United States Steel common stock ranked as the market leader during 1932 in volume of trading, with General Motors in second place and American Telephone and Telegraph in third, according to figures compiled by the New York News bureau.

In number of times total capitalization was turned over in trading during the year, however, J. I. Case took first place with a turnover of 47.77 times, with Auburn in second place with a turnover of 28.57 times.

During the year 14,503,000 shares of United States Steel changed hands, 12,984,000 shares of General Motors, 11,948,000 of American Telephone, and 10,257,000 of United Aircraft. There were 9,316,000 shares of Case traded in against a total capitalization of 195,000 shares, and 6,286,000 shares of Auburn against a capitalization of 220,000 shares.

Total stock sales for 1932 were 425,234,294, compared with 576,765,412 in 1931 and 810,632,546 in 1930. Of the 1932 total fifty leading stocks accounted for 226,782,000 transactions.

GOTHAM STRAUS BLDG. DEFAULTS ON PRINCIPAL

Plans are under way, it was learned last night, for the extension of the principal payment of $168,500 on the first mortgage 6 per cent bonds secured by the Straus building, at 565 5th avenue, New York City, and the long term leasehold estate, due Jan. 1 and which were not paid. Funds have been deposited for payment of interest due Jan. 1 on these bonds.

The original bond issue against the S. W. Straus & Co.'s New York building was $3,000,000. On this $1,147,500 has been paid, leaving $1,852,500 outstanding. The 565 5th Avenue corporation is the owner of the building.

Nickel Plate Refunding Offer Is Kept Open

New York, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Guaranty Trust company, as depositary under the plan for refunding $20,000,000 of New York, Chicago and St. Louis [Nickel Plate] Railroad company notes, announced today that the right to deposit would be kept open. All but $520,000 of the deposit certificates outstanding on Dec. 12 have been turned in.

BONDHOLDERS' PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE FOR

Northeastern Public Service Company

General Lien and Collateral Trust 5½% Gold Bonds Due July 1, 1961

To the Holders of General Lien and Collateral Trust 5½% Gold Bonds due July 1, 1961 of Northeastern Public Service Company:

Northeastern Public Service Company has failed to provide funds to make payment of the interest coupons due January 1, 1933 on the outstanding $11,680,900 aggregate principal amount of its General Lien and Collateral Trust 5½% Gold Bonds. It has, however, paid the interest due January 1, 1933 on its outstanding First Lien and Collateral Trust 5½% Gold Bonds. In consequence of the inability of the Company to make payment also of the interest on its said General Lien and Collateral Trust Gold Bonds and in order to conserve the assets of the Company, receivers of the Company have been appointed on January 3, 1933 by the Delaware Court of Chancery.

In order to protect the interests of the holders of the General Lien and Collateral Trust Gold Bonds of the Company the undersigned have been constituted a Committee therefor under a Bondholders' Protective Agreement. A letter setting forth the circumstances which led to the aforementioned non-payment of interest on the General Lien and Collateral Trust Gold Bonds and containing information as to the financial situation and earnings of the Company is being sent by this Committee to all known holders of said Bonds.

The Committee urges that prompt deposit with a Depositary for the Committee of such Bonds be made by the holders in order to enable the Committee more effectively to deal with the situation. Transferable certificates of deposit will be issued by the respective Depositaries. Copies of the Bondholders' Protective Agreement and of the aforementioned letter to bondholders and forms for transmittal of Bonds to the Depositaries may be obtained on application to the Depositaries or to the Secretary of this Committee. Bonds sent in for deposit should be accompanied by the unpaid January 1, 1933 coupon and all subsequently maturing coupons.

Dated, January 4, 1933.

BUILDING DEPT. EARNS $350,008 FOR CITY FUNDS

The department of buildings turned into the city's general funds during the year just ended $350,008 in permit and inspection fees, while its total expenditures were $305,860, out of appropriations of $328,057, it was reported by Building Commissioner John E. Ericsson in his annual report to Mayor Cermak made public yesterday.

Twenty-two men are assigned to district inspection of new work and complaints, 27 to annual inspection of buildings, billboards, and signboards, three to prepare cases against violators, and two to inspect theaters, halls, and other public places, the report stated.

Of the $350,008 fees earned, $130,920 was for elevator and mechanical device inspections and $196,623.75 for annual inspection of buildings, billboards, illuminated roof signs, canopies, and revolving doors. The balance, $22,464.85, was received for building permits.

SAYS ROADS RUN TRAINS MILE AND HALF IN LENGTH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Donald Richberg, attorney for railway labor unions, told a house committee today that railroads in an effort at economy are running their freight trains as much as a mile and a half long. He spoke before the interstate commerce committee to urge enactment of a "full crew" law requiring additional men on trains.

Richberg said that more trainmen were needed for safety since it was impossible with many of the present crews to dispatch signals from the front to the rear of the long string of cars.

Representative Lea [D., Cal.] said he thought the railroad workers were choosing "the most inopportune time in 20 years" to press this legislation unless they can present proof that the present situation requires additional regulation.

BANKRUPT PLEA HITS SUBSIDIARY OF MIDDLE WEST

An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed in the United States District court yesterday against Commonwealth Light and Power company, a part of the Middle West Utility system. The petition was filed by the law firm of Jacobson, Merrick, Nierman, & Silbert on behalf of three bondholders with claims aggregating $3,000.

A petition for the appointment of a receiver in equity was filed Tuesday against the same concern on behalf of the receivers of the Middle West Utilities company. A hearing on the latter is scheduled here Friday afternoon before Federal Judge Lindley.

Soviet-Canadian Barter to Dominion Government

OTTAWA, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The plan for exchanging $7,000,000 worth of Canadian cattle for soviet oil and coal was laid today before the dominion government representatives of a Winnipeg syndicate supporting the project. The dominion was asked to extend credits of $4,000,000. Canadian cattle owners would receive about five cents a pound for their cattle.

MEN

On account of the steady progress and growth of our company we are in a position to take on a few additional men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable so that the average man of good habits and clean cut appearance will stand a fair chance of being employed.

This company has been uniquely successful throughout this depression. In line with our steady gains in business, the earnings of our men are higher; not only are more men earning $50 and $75 a week, but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks running between $100 and $250 throughout the entire country. These earnings, of course, are generally made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.

Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men who are qualified to learn this work, and who would be satisfied with earnings of $125 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for increases with experience; the men accepted for these positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.

For personal interview, call at 1525 E. 53d-st., Suite 430, on Thursday morning, 9 to 1:30. Ask for Mr. Crissman.

YOUNG MEN—4.

Age 18 to 22; travel with manager on national sales campaign; must be high school graduate. Applicants preferred from Iowa, Ind., Mo., Okla., Tex., Tenn., Wis., Minn., Mich., Ohio, Neb. Permanent employment; transportation furnished. Apply Mr. Hopkins, 10 to 4, Rm. 80, 1104 S. Wabash.

SALARY TO START

$6 and good comm. which will net you $26.50 to $35 weekly. Steady year around work with oppor. for advancement. Apply after 9 a. m., Rm. 628, 2400 W. Madison-st., Rm. 448, 4013 Milwaukee, Rm. 328, 6250 S. Halsted.

SOLUTION TO DRY LEADER

Had Robinson shot himself while kneeling there would have been no blood on the KNEES of his overalls. He was murdered.
